Safe Abortion Technical Policy Guidance:

Safe Abortion World Health Organization, 2003-05-13 At a UN General Assembly Special Session in 1999 governments recognised unsafe abortion as a major public health concern and pledged their commitment to reduce the need for abortion through expanded and improved family planning services as well as ensure abortion services should be safe and accessible This technical and policy guidance provides a comprehensive overview of the many actions that can be taken in health systems to ensure that women have access to good quality abortion services as allowed by law Safe Abortion World Health Organization, 2014-04-07 In view of the need for evidence based best practices for providing safe abortion care in order to protect the health and human rights of women the World Health Organization WHO has updated its 2003 publication Safe Abortion Technical and Policy Guidance for Health Systems In this process the WHO standards for guideline development have been followed including identification of priority questions and outcomes retrieval assessment and synthesis of evidence formulation of recommendations and planning for dissemination implementation impact evaluation and updating For the clinical recommendations presented in Chapter 2 evidence profiles related to the prioritized questions were prepared based upon recent systematic reviews most of which are included in the Cochrane Database of Systematic Reviews In addition Chapters 1 3 and 4 of the original 2003 publication were reviewed and updated to reflect the latest estimates on unsafe abortion worldwide new literature on the topic of service delivery and new developments in international regional and national human rights law A guideline development group comprising members of an international panel of experts reviewed and revised the draft recommendations based on the evidence profiles through a participatory consensus driven process The target audience for this guidance is policy makers program managers and providers of abortion care In general the use of the recommendations should be individualized to each woman with emphasis on her clinical status and the specific method of abortion to be used while considering each woman s preferences for care Safe Abortion World Health Organization, 2012 In view of the need for evidence based best practices for providing safe abortion care in order to protect the health and human rights of women the World Health Organization WHO has updated its 2003 publication Safe abortion technical and policy guidance for health systems In this process the WHO standards for guideline development have been followed including identification of priority questions and outcomes retrieval assessment and synthesis of evidence formulation of recommendations and planning for dissemination implementation impact evaluation and updating For the clinical recommendations Safe abortion Organización Mundial de la Salud, 2003 Consolidated Guideline on Sexual and Reproductive Health and Rights of Women Living with HIV World Health Organization, 2017-02-20 he starting point for this guideline is the point at which a woman has learnt that she is living with HIV and it therefore covers key issues for providing comprehensive sexual and reproductive health and rights related services and support for women living with HIV As women living with HIV face unique challenges and human rights violations related to their sexuality and reproduction within their families and communities as well as from the health care institutions where they seek care particular emphasis is placed on the creation of an enabling environment to support more effective health interventions and better health outcomes This guideline is meant to help countries to more effectively and efficiently plan develop and monitor programmes and services that promote gender equality and human rights and hence are more acceptable and appropriate for women living with HIV taking into account the national and local epidemiological context It discusses implementation issues that health interventions and service delivery must address to achieve gender equality and support human rights
