Sago The Equatorial Swamp As A Natural Resource:

SAGO W.R. Stanton,M. Flach,2012-12-06 Smallholders and Stockbreeders P. Boomgaard,David E.F. Henley,2021-11-15 Historians of Southeast Asia have traditionally preferred to write about politics and culture rather than economics and ecology and where they have looked at the history of agriculture they have most often concentrated on cash crops like sugar coffee and rubber which figure prominently in colonial records Smallholders and stockbreeders by contrast provides a rare survey of the history of foodcrop farming and a unique look at the history of animal husbandry in the Southeast Asian region Thirteen contributions by an international selection of expert authors cover topics ranging from the agricultural economy of precolonial Java to the growth of rice production in the Mekong Delta since 1950 and from the breeding of horses on the northern borderlands of mainland Southeast Asia to the production and consumption of beef in the Philippines New light is shed on old questions regarding the directions in which Southeast Asian agriculture has evolved over the centuries and new questions raised regarding the cultural demographic economic and political determinants of farming practices While the geographical and chronological scales of analysis vary most chapters deal with relatively large areas and with developments over periods of 100 years or more Besides production for subsistence commercial aspects of livestock and foodcrop farming are also given due attention and prove to have been important in many parts of the region from very early periods Smallholders and stockbreeders is essential reading for anyone interested in the agricultural history of Southeast Asia whether for its own sake or in connection with other aspects of regional history or for purposes of comparison with other parts of the world Abstracts on Tropical Agriculture ,1982 SAGO W. Robert Stanton,1980 The Sago Palm Society of Sago Palm Studies,2015 In order to produce sufficient quantities of food to feed the world s growing population we need to increase the food producing capacities of crops and to protect the environments in which they grow Discovering untapped plant resources is an important challenge but a haphazard increase in food production may cause environmental damage We need foresight and must take sound appropriate actions The sago palm is a plant that might fulfill all of these requirements The sago palm accumulates more starch than any other plant in the world yet in global terms it continues to languish in relative obscurity The Japanese Society of Sago Palm Studies was formed in the hope of raising its profile by hosting seminars and symposiums in Japan and overseas to help it achieve the recognition it deserves To this end the Society s members have worked together to produce this volume written in an easy to read style Subject Botany Agriculture Conservation Environmental Studies The Archaeology of Food and Warfare Amber M. VanDerwarker,Gregory D. Wilson,2015-08-03 The archaeologies of food and warfare have independently developed over the past several decades This volume aims to provide concrete linkages between these research topics through the examination of case studies worldwide Topics considered within the book include the impacts of warfare on the daily food quest warfare and nutritional health ritual foodways and violence the provisioning of warriors and armies status based changes in diet during times of war logistical constraints on military campaigns and violent competition over subsistence resources The diversity of perspectives included in this volume may be a product of new ways of conceptualizing violence not simply as an isolated component of a society nor as an attribute of a particular societal type but instead as a transformative process that is lived and irrevocably alters social economic and political organization and relationships This book highlights this transformative process by presenting a cross cultural perspective on the connection between war and food through the inclusion of case studies from several continents

Tropical Forests and Their Crops Nigel J. H. Smith, J. T. Williams, Donald L. Plucknett, Jennifer P. Talbot, 2018-05-31

The tropics are the source of many of our familiar fruits vegetables oils and spice as well as such commodities as rubber and wood Moreover other tropical fruits and vegetables are being introduced into our markets to offer variety to our diet Now as tropical forests are increasingly threatened we face a double fold crisis not only the loss of the plants but also rich pools of potentially useful genes Wild populations of crop plants harbor genes that can improve the productivity and disease resistance of cultivated crops many of which are vital to developing economies and to global commerce Eight chapters of this book are devoted to a variety of tropical crops beverages fruit starch oil resins fuelwood fodder spices timber and nuts the history of their domestication their uses today and the known extent of their gene pools both domesticated and wild Drawing on broad research the authors also consider conservation strategies such as parks and reserves corporate holdings gene banks and tissue culture collections and debt for nature swaps They stress the need for a sensitive balance between conservation and the economic well being of local populations If economic growth is part of the conservation effort local populations and governments will be more strongly motivated to save their natural resources Distinctly practical and soundly informative this book provides insight into the overwhelming abundance of tropical forests an unsettling sense of what we may lose if they are destroyed and a deep appreciation for the delicate relationships between tropical forest plants and people around the world

Sago palm: Metroxylon sagu Rottb. - Promoting the conservation and use of underutilized and neglected crops. 13. , Sago Palm Hiroshi Ehara, Yukio Toyoda, Dennis V. Johnson, 2018-01-15

This open access book addresses a wide variety of events and technologies concerning the sago palm ranging from its botanical characteristics culture and use to social conditions in the places where it is grown in order to provide a record of research findings and to benefit society It discusses various subjects including the sago palm and related species differentiation of species of starch producing palm habitat morphological physiological and growth characteristics culture and management productivity of carbon dioxide starch extraction and manufacture characteristics and utilization of starch and cultural anthropological and folkloristic aspects Problems such as food shortages due to increasing populations global warming and climate change and decreasing reserves of oil and other underground resources have become more pressing in recent years In the context of these problems the book examines the role of the sago palm in sustainable food production in the manufacture of other foodstuffs as a raw material for ethanol and in the manufacture of biodegradable plastics In addition to academics this book will be useful to researchers and government officials working for international agencies national governments municipalities and other research organizations technicians researchers managers entrepreneurs and others working in industries such as agriculture plant production food production manufacturing chemical engineering energy production and distribution Agricultural Residues, Bibliography 1975-81 and Quantitative Survey Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 1982-01-01 Bibliografie van de literatuur over het hergebruik van afvalstoffen uit de landbouw de levensmiddelenindustrie en de bosbouw in verschillende delen van de wereld
