Sahara Unveiled William Langewiesche, 2011-04-20 It is as vast as the United States and so arid that most bacteria cannot survive there Its loneliness is so extreme it is said that migratory birds will land beside travelers just for the company William Langewiesche came to the Sahara to see it as its inhabitants do riding its public transport braving its natural and human dangers depending on its sparse sustenance and suspect hospitality From his journey which took him across the desert s hyperarid core from Algiers to Dakar he has crafted a contemporary classic of travel writing In a narrative studded with gemlike discourses on subjects that range from the physics of sand dunes to the history of the Tuareg nomads Langewiesche introduces us to the Sahara s merchants smugglers fixers and expatriates Eloquent and precise Sahara Unveiled blends history and reportage anthropology and anecdote into an unforgettable portrait of the world s most romanticized yet most forbidding desert

A Family Living Under the Sahara Sun Ruth Long, 2011-07-07 Here we have the story of a father and mother who went to Niger West Africa with two small children in 1950 and over the next nine years had four more children Roland was number one Lance followed and then there were Cheryl John Suzanne and Pamela All six children were raised on the southern edge of the Sahara desert with dad and mom Dr Burt and Ruth Long Galmi Niger West Africa was their home One by one they left to go to our SIM missionary kids school in Jos Nigeria but always came home to Galmi for the holidays Dr Long was the founder and first doctor of the Galmi Hospital in Niger You will read about early struggles and later victories The text was taken from letters sent home to family and kept by Ruth's sister Frances who saved them all and returned them to us when we retired The last few chapters deal with our return trips to West Africa in our retirement years There were two trips to ELWA Liberia one trip to Chad three trips to Nigeria and three trips back home to Galmi Niger

Translations on Sub-Saharan Africa United States. Joint Publications Research Service, 1972 Sierra Leone International Monetary Fund. African Dept., 2020-04-17 This Selected Issues paper on Sierra Leone shows that boosting education and its quality for all children yields substantial macroeconomic gains While investments in the sector will take time to yield results the potential gains provide ample motivation for sustained multi pronged policy interventions along the lines highlighted in the following paragraphs Equalizing access to education emerges as a critical goal for prosperity that is shared fairly across the population Attaining free secondary education for all is a critical long run objective With limited fiscal space and vast challenges in the sector evidence based prioritizing sequencing and targeting of policies is critical Careful monitoring of education spending and its impacts will help reassess programs and priorities going forward Enhancing the governance of the sector to ensure that spending is well aligned with needs in the various levels is also important Tackling the education challenge will require coordinated work to overcome hurdles in several sectors Several factors currently within and beyond the education sector constrain efforts that could effectively reap the economic benefits from education The results indicate the macroeconomic benefits of education could be substantial in the order of up to 40 percent of gross domestic product in the long run Mathematics Teaching and Professional Learning in sub-Sahara Africa Kakoma Luneta, 2021-12-09 The book represents a crop of wide ranging research conducted by renown scholars in sub Sahara Africa revolving around mathematics teaching and professional development programs for mathematics teachers The research based proposals and actual how to conduct professional development initiatives that enhance effective mathematics instruction are rooted in teacher input and informed by learners errors and misconceptions The book provides a comprehensive snapshot on mathematics teaching learning and effective professional development programmes for mathematics teachers in sub Sahara Africa It is the only research output that advances and disseminates issues of mathematics education and research in the region with input from South Africa Kenya Rwanda Uganda Malawi Namibia Lesotho Ethiopia and Zimbabwe International Handbook of Comparative Education Robert Cowen, Andreas M. Kazamias, 2009-08-22 A big project like this Handbook means that you incur debts and not only to your authors and your publisher As editors we along with our colleague Elaine Unterhalter who edited the section on postcolonialism would like to thank most warmly those authors who delivered on time and who did not fuss but just got on and did a r rate job We would also like to thank all authors who did deliver which was almost everyone we asked We know that some of our authors worked in very dif cult private circumstances as they were nishing their chapters and we hope the publication of the Volumes will later be for them a happy reminder of dif culties and disasters overcome The only sad theme is that some very close colleagues with whom we were wo ing and for whom we had the greatest respect and liking became very ill and died while the volumes were being prepared We decided to ask for copyright permissions to publish something of theirs These permissions were graciously given by two major journals and with the agreement also of our publishers Springer Rolland Paulston and Terry McLaughlin have examples of their writing in this Handbook

Intransitive Predication Leon Stassen, 2003 This book investigates cross linguistic variation in one of the core domains of all natural languages Leon Stassen views this domain as a cognitive space the topography of which is the same for all languages It is assumed to consist of four subdomains which correspond to a four way distinction between the semantic classes of event predicates property predicates class predicates and locational predicates The book offers a typology of the structural manifestations of this domain in terms of the nature and number of the formal strategies used in its encoding The author disusses a number of abstract principles which can be employed in explaining the cross linguistic variation emodied by the typology In the final chapter he brings together the research results in a universally applicable model which can be read as a flow chart for the encoding of intransitive predications in different language types
