Loss Anthology:

Loss David L. Eng, David Kazanjian, 2003 If catastrophe is not representable according to the narrative explanations which would make sense of history then making sense of ourselves and charting the future are not impossible But we are as it were marked for life and that mark is insuperable irrecoverable It becomes the condition by which life is risked by which the question of whether one can move and with whom and in what way is framed and incited by the irreversibility of loss itself Judith Butler from the Afterword Loss is a wonderful volume powerful and important deeply moving and intellectually challenging at the same time ethical and not moralistic It is one of those rare collections that work as a multifaceted whole to map new areas for inquiry and pose new questions I found myself educated and provoked by the experience of participating in an ongoing dialogue Amy Kaplan author of The Anarchy of Empire in the Making of U S Culture Enduring Loss in Early Modern Germany Lynne Tatlock, 2010 Cross disciplinary perspectives on responses to material and spiritual loss in early modern Germany trace how individuals and communities registered coped with and made sense of deprivation through a spectrum of activities often turning loss into gain and acquiring agency Lost and Found Emma L.E. Rees, 2013-06-28 He is my miracle says Sarah Frost Mellor s protagonist of her lover Joe Found by accident in the least likely of places Sarah won the 2012 Cheshire Prize for Literature with her short story Udumbara in Lytham St Anne s and it s in this modest seaside town that Lost and Found begins Reading through the stories in this collection the reader will find many things surreal flotsam on a desolate beach a love letter mislaid for decades turns of phrase in a classroom relationships shaped in unusual settings But to find something means simultaneously to acknowledge the possibility of loss And loss figures largely in the anthology too from beloved relatives to despised spouses and from inconsequential objects to an individual s very sense of self life s losses are portrayed here in a variety of humorous dark and frequently surprising ways The Cheshire Prize for Literature was inaugurated in 2003 as the High Sheriff s Cheshire Prize for Literature It is funded by the Bank of America Europe Card Services and is administered by the University of Chester The 2012 competition was for short stories and this collection contains 24 of the shortlisted entries including those of the eventual winner Details of the Prize are available at <http://www.chester.ac.uk/literatureprize> On Loss Erica Marchant, Joshua George, Melissa Schell, 2019-07-06 Loss like love deepens with living Defining loss travels beyond grief It is more than saying goodbye surviving destruction or facing deprivation Loss means letting go moving on and finding the light again Lost items lost people lost minds In them there s a silent hope With loss comes pain but with pain comes finding the good the happiness in renewing one s life and redeeming the irredeemable On Loss is a genre crossing collection of short stories poetry and flash fiction Each piece though vastly different is On Loss Narratives tragedies and tales from space travel time travel and a crime fighting superhero to war veterans insanity and a drive thru cemetery splash across the pages Whether losing a loved one memories innocence or the mind each one follows a different path of loss and its aftermath Every story unique each touched with inflection and speckled poetry to retell the story of his relationship with the mother of his son the loss of his son and his journey towards healing A trip down memory lane retelling the history of the two lovers where love almost conquered all It delves into the love sex and vulnerability felt by Jade during his relationship and mourning The anthology places emphasis on healing It s a reminder that sometimes the first step to healing is acknowledging that you are in pain Sometimes the pain goes away sometimes it doesn t but no matter what you will get to live Tumaini is for anyone who knows of loss The loss of self the loss of love and the loss of a loved one Tumaini was written for those looking for Hope Finding Purple America Jon Smith,2013-05-01 The new southern studies has had an uneasy relationship with both American studies and the old southern studies In Finding Purple America Jon Smith one of the founders of the new movement locates the source of that unease in the fundamentally antimodern fantasies of both older fields The old southern studies tends to view modernity as a threat to a mystic southern essence a dangerous outside force taking the form of everything from a bulldozer revolution to a national project of forgetting Since the rise of the New Americanists American studies has also imagined itself to be in a permanent crisis mode seeking to affiliate the field and the national essence with youth countercultures that sixties leftists once imagined to be the future Such fantasies Smith argues have resulted in an old southern studies that cannot understand places like Birmingham or Atlanta or cities at all and an American studies that cannot understand red states Most Americans live in neither a comforting premodern Mayberry nor an exciting postmodern Los Angeles but rather in what postcolonialists call alternative modernities and hybrid cultures whose relationships to past and future to stability and change are complex and ambivalent Looking at how the South has played in global metropolitan pop culture since the nineties and at how southern popular and high culture alike have in fact repeatedly embraced urban modernity Smith masterfully weaves together postcolonial theory cultural studies Lacanian psychoanalysis and surprisingly marketing theory to open up the inconveniently in between purple spaces and places that Americanist and southernist fantasies about who we are have so long sought to foreclose

Lost Property Jennifer Summit, 2000-07 The English literary canon is haunted by the figure of the lost woman writer In our own age she has been a powerful stimulus for the rediscovery of works written by women But as Jennifer Summit argues the lost woman writer also served as an evocative symbol during the very formation of an English literary tradition from the fourteenth through the sixteenth centuries Lost Property traces the representation of women writers from Margery Kempe and Christine de Pizan to Elizabeth I and Mary Queen of Scots exploring how the woman writer became a focal point for emerging theories of literature and authorship in English precisely because of her perceived alienation from tradition Through original archival research and readings of key literary texts Summit writes a new history of the woman writer that reflects the impact of such developments as the introduction of printing the Reformation and the rise of the English court as a literary center A major rethinking of the place of women writers in the histories of books authorship and canon formation Lost Property demonstrates that rather than being an unimaginable anomaly the idea of the woman writer played a key role in the invention of English literature
