With the birth of a serial press in the seventeenth century the introduction of paid advertising was the most crucial step in pointing the newspaper industry towards a sustainable future Here as in so much else the laboratory of invention was the seventeenth century Dutch Republic In this study based on an exhaustive examination of the first six thousand advertisements placed in Dutch newspapers between 1620 and 1675 Arthur der Weduwen and Andrew Pettegree chart the growth of advertising from an adjunct to the book industry advertising newly published titles to a broad reflection of a burgeoning consumer society Businesses and private citizens used the newspapers to offer a wide range of goods and services publicise new inventions or appeal for help in recovering lost and stolen goods pets or children In these evocative colourful and sometimes deeply moving notices we see the beginnings of marketing strategies that would characterise the advertising world over the following centuries and into the modern era      Numismatist and Year Book ,2005 Vols 24 52

Investigating the persistence and place of the formulas of Horatio Alger in American politics The Fictional Republic reassesses the Alger story in its Gilded Age context Carol Nackenoff argues that Alger was a keen observer of the dislocations and economic pitfalls of the rapidly industrializing nation and devised a set of symbols that addressed anxieties about power and identity As classes were increasingly divided by wealth life chances residence space and culture Alger maintained that Americans could still belong to one estate The story of the youth who faces threats to his virtue power independence and identity stands as an allegory of the American Republic Nackenoff examines how the Alger formula continued to shape political discourse in Reagan s America and beyond      Minerals Yearbook ,1973      Trujillo:The Chief
