Gellhorn Caroline Moorehead, 2007-04-01 The first major biography of legendary war correspondent Martha Gellhorn whose life provides a unique and thrilling perspective on world history in an extraordinary time Martha Gellhorn's heroic career as a reporter brought her to the front lines of virtually every significant international conflict between the Spanish Civil War and the end of the Cold War The preeminent and often the only female correspondent on the scene she broke new ground for women in the male preserve of journalism Her wartime dispatches marked by a passionate desire to expose suffering in its many guises and an inimitable immediacy rank among the best of the twentieth century A deep seated love of travel complemented this interest in world affairs From her birth in St Louis in 1908 to her death in London in 1998 Gellhorn passed through Africa Cuba China and most of the great cities of Europe recording her experiences in first rate travel writing and fiction A tall glamorous blonde she made friends easily among the boldface names that populated her life were Eleanor Roosevelt Leonard Bernstein and H G Wells but she was as incapable of settling into comfortable long term relationships as she was of sitting still and happiness often eluded her despite her professional success Both of her marriages ended badly the first to Ernest Hemingway publicly so Drawn from extensive interviews and with exclusive access to Gellhorn's papers and correspondence this seminal biography spans half the globe and almost an entire century to offer an exhilarating intimate portrait of one of the defining women of our times Material Thinking Paul Carter, 2014-05-27 Material Thinking is a ground breaking book for artists and for those who study or teach in the arts Author and artist Paul Carter provides an intimate first hand account of how ideas are turned into works and how the material thinking these artworks embody produces new understandings about ourselves our histories and the culture we inhabit Taking as his subject several artistic collaborations which resulted in performances exhibitions or videos Carter explores how each unfolded In the course of this analysis he constructs a philosophy of how the practice and theory of making art are interconnected a philosophy powerful enough to provide an intellectual underpinning for the new and still developing field of creative research Here is startling practical erudition Prodigious book learning is laced with real understanding of what it means to make art to infuse sullen matter with something rousing delicate and vital Ross Gibson Research Professor of New Media Digital Culture UTS For twenty years I have campaigned for and conducted research in the medium of architecture itself research that is not about architecture but of if Carter begins by drawing the same distinction but his ambition is greater he seeks to explore and define research in the zones where creative mediums shade into each other To work in a zone is to collaborate with practitioners who are centred on their medium of practice Carter posits a new role for the critic not outside looking in not about practice but inside of and pushing practitioners towards the liminal and thus toward the innovative Leon van Schaik Innovation Professor of Architecture RMIT

Remains of the Past in Old English Literature Jan-Peer Hartmann, 2025-02-11 Argues for a new understanding of Old English responses to materiality and historical change Human communities have interacted with the material remains of earlier periods for millennia Such archaeological objects including bones coins weapons building materials and architectural landmarks were physically handled reused transformed and reinterpreted they were also depicted in literature This book examines how Old English texts imagine such human encounters with the remnants of the past It explores Elene s perspective on the discovery of the True Cross as a narrative of political spiritual and epistemic translatio and the multiple ways in which The Wanderer and The Ruin use images of ruins and the poetic formula work of giants to construct an unknown and unrecoverable past it also considers the engagements with untimely objects in Beowulf and the Anonymous Old English Legend of the Seven Sleepers and how the Ruthwell Cross Poem and The Dream of the Rood play off figural against literal history As this study demonstrates Old English texts combined and creatively adapted a broad variety of ways of conceptualizing not merely history but indeed the very processes by which historical thought operates Its careful readings show that these texts not only display a deep and conflicted understanding of the philosophical implications of viewing history and temporality through the prism of material objects but also exhibit a powerful capacity for expressing such an understanding through aesthetic strategies

Angels at Twenty Past Marchell Abrahams, 2020-10-13 In the grand scheme of things one burglary at your parents house especially when nothing appears to have been taken barely makes an impact It certainly doesn t in rich girl Cassie Greatrex s life as she returns to work with the incident pretty much forgotten Until that is Colin Bardsey steps into the salon Arresting magnetic he makes it very clear what he wants and what he wants is

Cassie at least that's what she thinks until their dinner date is interrupted by a fiery young Welsh undergraduate out for blood Huw Trefor makes no bones about the fact that he considers Colin dirt and what he has to say ultimately brings to light a long buried truth with its roots in war torn Berlin concerning not only Cassie's family but also Colin's Information has been lost for seventy years information Colin is after And he'll stop at nothing to get it Swept up in a race with Huw to find the truth with danger following their every step Cassie is forced to look at those closest to her and wonder what secrets they could be hiding From London to Assisi to Orvieto everything she thinks she knows is held to the light and why should an old copy of The Iliad be quite so important But after the truth comes out will she wish she'd been kept in the dark Breaking

Human Cargo Caroline Moorehead, 2024-09-04 An arresting portrait of the lives of today's refugees and a searching look into their future The word refugee is more often used to invoke a problem than it is to describe a population of millions of people forced to abandon their homes possessions and families in order to find a place where they may quite literally be allowed to live In spite of the fact that refugees surround us the latest UN estimates suggest that 20 million of the world's 6.3 billion people are refugees few can grasp the scale of their presence or the implications of their growing numbers Caroline Moorehead has traveled for nearly two years and across four continents to bring us their unforgettable stories In prose that is at once affecting and informative we are introduced to the men women and children she meets as she travels to Cairo Guinea Sicily the U S Mexico border Lebanon England Australia and Finland She explains how she came to work and for a time live among refugees and why she could not escape the pressing need to understand and describe the chain of often terrifying events that mark their lives Human Cargo is a work of deep and subtle sympathy that completely alters our understanding of what it means to have and lose a place in the world Dark Continents Ranjana Khanna, 2003-04-22

Argues that the psychoanalytic self was constituted through the specifically national colonial encounters of the late 19th and early 20th centuries and that therefore somewhat paradoxically perhaps psychoanalysis is crucial for understanding postcolonial Tennyson's Rapture Cornelia D. J. Pearsall, 2008-01-29 In the wake of the death of his friend Arthur Henry Hallam the subject of In Memoriam Alfred Tennyson wrote a range of intricately connected poems many of which feature pivotal scenes of rapture or being carried away This book explores Tennyson's representation of rapture as a radical mechanism of transformation theological social political or personal and as a figure for critical processes in his own poetics The poet's fascination with transformation is figured formally in the genre he is credited with inventing the dramatic monologue Tennyson's Rapture investigates the poet's previously unrecognized intimacy with the theological movements in early Victorian Britain that are the acknowledged roots of contemporary Pentecostalism with its belief in the oncoming Rapture and its formative relation to his poetic innovation Tennyson's work recurs persistently as well to classical instances of rapture of mortals being borne away by immortals Pearsall develops original readings of Tennyson's major classical poems through concentrated attention to his profound intellectual investments in advances in philological scholarship and archeological exploration including pressing Victorian debates over whether Homer's raptured Troy was a verifiable site or the province of the poet's imagination Tennyson's attraction to processes of personal and social change is bound to his significant but generally overlooked Whig ideological commitments which are illuminated by Hallam's political and philosophical writings and a half century of interaction with William Gladstone Pearsall shows the comprehensive engagement of seemingly apolitical monologues with the rise of democracy over the course of Tennyson's long career Offering a new approach to reading all Victorian dramatic monologues this book argues against a critical tradition that sees speakers as unintentionally self-revealing and ignorant of the implications of their speech Tennyson's Rapture probes the complex aims of these discursive performances and shows how the ambitions of speakers for vital transformations in themselves and their circumstances are not only articulated in but attained through the medium of their monologues
