Makers of Modern Strategy from Machiavelli to the Nuclear Age Peter Paret, Gordon A. Craig, Felix Gilbert, 2010-10-01 Authoritative and convincing New York Times Book Review The classic reference on the theory and practice of war The essays in this volume analyze war its strategic characteristics and its political and social functions over the past five centuries The diversity of its themes and the broad perspectives applied to them make the book a work of general history as much as a history of the theory and practice of war from the Renaissance to the present Makers of Modern Strategy from Machiavelli to the Nuclear Age takes the first part of its title from an earlier collection of essays that became a classic of historical scholarship Three essays are repinted from the earlier book while four others have been extensively revised The rest twenty two essays are new The subjects addressed range from major theorists and political and military leaders to impersonal forces Machiavelli Clausewitz and Marx and Engels are discussed as are Napoleon Churchill and Mao Other essays trace the interaction of theory and experience over generations the evolution of American strategy for instance or the emergence of revolutionary war in the modern world Still others analyze the strategy of particular conflicts the First and Second World Wars or the relationship between technology policy and war in the nuclear age Whatever its theme each essay places the specifics of military thought and action in their political social and economic environment Together the contributors have produced a book that reinterprets and illuminates war one of the most powerful forces in history and one that cannot be controlled in the future without an understanding of its past
