Sheckels,2020-10-13 The Rhetoric of the American Political Party Conventions 1948 2016 establishes the rhetorical goals of the thirty six political party conventions that have taken place since 1948 against the backdrop of the fundamental changes that television brought to the conventions Theodore F Sheckels analyzes these conventions to determine whether the gatherings met or failed to meet those goals including addressing civil rights unifying divergent wings of the party celebrating the triumph of a single wing overcoming dissent inside and outside the meeting hall overcoming or capitalizing on scandal reconstituting the party after defeats arguing for change and advocating for inclusion Sheckels observes that although speeches are the primary vehicle through which attendees strive to reach these goals the crucial addresses are not always by the principal players often events other than speeches such as negotiations demonstrations and media spin can be just as consequential Sheckels discusses both the similarities and differences in the ways in which the conventions do business and constitute and reconstitute what the political parties are aiming to persuade the public with rhetorical images and messages Scholars of communication rhetoric political science and American studies will find this book particularly useful The Concise Princeton Encyclopedia of American Political History Michael Kazin,Rebecca Edwards,Adam Rothman,2011-08-28 Contains 150 articles that provide information about significant topics in American political history including ideas philosophies movements economics religion and more Realignment and Party Revival Arthur Paulson,2000-06-30 Are American political parties really in decay Have American voters really given up on the major parties Taking issue with widely accepted theories of dealignment and party decay Paulson argues that the most profound realignment in American history occurred in the 1960s and he presents an alternative theory of realignment and party revival In the 1964 1972 period factional struggles within the major American political parties were resolved with conservative Republicans and liberal Democrats emerging as the majority factions within their parties The result was a critical realignment in Presidential elections in which the decisive realignment involved the movement of white voters in the south toward the Republican coalition The impression of dealignment came from the fact that electoral change in Congressional elections moved at a much slower rate The south continued to vote Democratic for congress usually for incumbent conservative Democrats The result was an electoral environment which produced divided government Secular realignment in congressional elections produced the Republican majorities of 1994 Now the conservative Democrats who were the swing voters since the 1960s were voting Republican The result is that the coalitions for yet another realignment are in place at the turn of the twenty first century After three decades in which the swing voters were relatively conservative the new swing voter is a genuine centrist an independent who is ideologically moderate The coming realignment Paulson asserts will consummate the birth of a new ideologically polarized party system with a greater potential for party government which would be a fundamental change for American democracy A major resource for scholars students and other researchers interested in American parties and elections Vital Statistics on American Politics 2015-2016 Harold W. Stanley, Richard G.
