Provoking Agents Gender And Agency In Theory And Practice:

Provoking Agents Judith Kegan Gardiner,1995 Relational Autonomy Catriona Mackenzie,Natalie Stoljar,2000-01-27

This collection of original essays explores the social and relational dimensions of individual autonomy Rejecting the feminist charge that autonomy is inherently masculinist the contributors draw on feminist critiques of autonomy to challenge and enrich contemporary philosophical debates about agency identity and moral responsibility The essays analyze the complex ways in which oppression can impair an agent s capacity for autonomy and investigate connections neglected by standard accounts between autonomy and other aspects of the agent including self conception self worth memory and the imagination

Gender and Agency Lois McNay,2013-05-29 This book reassesses theories of agency and gender identity against the backdrop of changing relations between men and women in contemporary societies McNay argues that recent thought on the formation of the modern subject offers a one sided or negative account of agency which underplays the creative dimension present in the responses of individuals to changing social relations An understanding of this creative element is central to a theory of autonomous agency and also to an explanation of the ways in which women and men negotiate changes within gender relations In exploring the implications of this idea of agency for a theory of gender identity McNay brings together the work of leading feminist theorists such as Judith Butler and Nancy Fraser with the work of key continental social theorists In particular she examines the work of Pierre Bourdieu Paul Ricoeur and Cornelius Castoriadis each of whom has explored different aspects of the idea of the creativity of action McNay argues that their thought has interesting implications for feminist ideas of gender but these have been relatively neglected partly because of the huge influence of the work of Michel Foucault and Jacques Lacan in this area She argues that despite its suggestive nature feminist theory must move away from the ideas of Foucault and Lacan if a more substantive account of agency is to be introduced into ideas of gender identity This book will appeal to students and scholars in the areas of social theory gender studies and feminist theory

Handbook of Feminist Family Studies Sally A. Lloyd, April L. Few, Katherine R. Allen, 2009-04-14 The Handbook of Feminist Family Studies presents the important theories methodologies and practices in feminist family studies The editors showcase feminist family scholarship providing both a retrospective and a prospective overview of the field and creating a scholarly forum for interpretation and dissemination of feminist work Talking Gender and Sexuality Paul

McIlvenny, 2002-06-20 This edited volume brings together scholars from psychology linguistics sociology and communication science to investigate how performative notions of gender and sexuality can be fruitfully explored with the rich set of tools that have been developed by conversation analysis and discursive psychology for analyzing everyday practical language use agency and identity in talk Contributors re examine the foundations of earlier research on gender in spoken interaction critically appraise this research to see if and how it translates successfully into the study of sexuality in talk and promote innovative alternatives that integrate the insights of recent feminist and queer theory with qualitative studies of talk and conversation Detailed empirical analyses of naturally occurring talk are used to uncover how gender and sexual identities agencies and desires are contingently accomplished in conversational practices Collectively they pose the important question of what a critical theory of talk gender and sexuality ought to look like if it is to be sensitive to a politics of conversation analysis

Driving Women Deborah Clarke, 2007-04-15 Publisher description Acting Otherwise Peiying Chen, 2004-04 Acting Otherwise concerns the strategies of action that have been used by feminist scholars to attain the institutionalization of women's gender studies in universities

EBOOK: SUBJECT TO FICTION Peter Munro, 1998-04-16 How do the life histories of women teachers illuminate the gendered nature of the teaching profession How do women teachers negotiate their own sense of self against within cultural stereotypes of teachers Situated within current feminist poststructuralist theories regarding the subject this book takes seriously the lives of women teachers Drawing on the life histories of three teachers it explores their narrative strategies to author themselves as active agents within and against the essentializing discourses of teaching The complex and contradictory ways in which these women construct themselves as subjects while simultaneously disrupting the notion of a unitary subject provide new ways to think about subjectivity resistance power and agency The implications of this reconceptualization for feminist theorizing curriculum theory and life history research are woven throughout the book

Agency in Archaeology Marcia-Anne Dobres, John Robb, 2014-06-11 Agency in Archaeology is the first critical volume to scrutinise the concept of agency and to examine in depth its potential to inform our understanding of the past Theories of agency recognise that human beings make choices hold intentions and take action This offers archaeologists scope to move beyond looking at broad structural or environmental change and instead to consider the individual and the group Agency in Archaeology brings together nineteen internationally renowned scholars who have very different and often conflicting stances on the meaning and use of agency theory to archaeology The volume is composed of five theoretically based discussions and nine case studies drawing on regions from North America and Mesoamerica to Western and central Europe and ranging in subject from the late Pleistocene hunter gatherers to the restructuring of gender relations in the north eastern US

The impact of feminism on political concepts and debates Georgina Blakeley, Valerie Bryson, 2024-06-04 Many feminists have engaged with the man made concepts and approaches of traditional political analysis to produce an increasingly sophisticated and wide ranging body of thought The starting point of this book is the belief that such work is not simply something for the girls rather it has profound and complex implications without which our understanding of political processes and ideas would be impoverished This book provides an accessible overview and assessment of the impact of recent feminism by bringing together leading feminist and pro feminist political theorists and analysts to focus on key concepts such as rationality citizenship democracy and democratisation development and empowerment Each chapter takes a malestream concept and examines both the critical debates around it and feminist reactions critiques It then analyses the significance and implications of feminism for the concept considers whether it can simply be extended to include women or whether it should be radically transformed or even abandoned and assesses whether feminist input has become part of the mainstream debate or remains marginalised

Ethics in intercultural and international Communication Fred L. Casmir, 2013-10-18 There has been an increased interest in both intercultural and international communication as well as ethical aspects of such interactions In spite of this there are no books which address this specific subject matter beyond limited surveys of different types or forms of ethics or attempted comparisons between various ethical or value systems This book intends to engage readers rather than trying to teach them about ethics or how to be ethical It is questionable that ethics can be taught as academic subject matter or that such instructions will result in meaningful applications in the daily lives of students By considering specific challenges affecting ethical behavior in various intercultural and international interactions and by suggesting interactive dialogic behavioral models as well as examples the authors seek to create an atmosphere of involvement and discussion which will lead researchers to consider the ethics undergirding their own lives as well as any resulting ethical or unethical practices

Third-Wave Feminism and the Politics of Gender in Late Modernity S. Budgeon, 2011-10-04 This book critically assesses third wave feminist strategies for advancing a feminist politics of the self within the late modern postfeminist gender order a context where gender equality has been mainstreamed feminism has been dismissed and a neoliberal culture of self management has become firmly entrenched

Collective Consciousness and Gender Alexandra Walker, 2018-08-22 This book explores collective consciousness and how it is applied to the pursuit of gender justice in international law It discusses how the collective mode of behaviour and identity can lead to unconscious role playing based on the social norms expectations or archetypes of a group Alexandra Walker contends that throughout history men have been constructed as archetypal dominators and women as victims In casting women in this way we have downplayed their pre existing innate capacities for strength leadership and power In casting men as archetypal dominators we have downplayed their capacities for nurturing care and empathy The author investigates the widespread implications of this unconscious role playing arguing that even in countries in which women have many of the same legal rights as men gender justice and equality have been too simplistically framed as feminism and women s rights and that giving women the rights of men has not created gender balance This book highlights the masculine and feminine traits belonging to all individuals and calls on international law to reflect this gender continuum Handbook of Gender in Archaeology Sarah M. Nelson, 2006 First reference work to explore the research on gender in archaeology Gendered Agency in War and Peace Maria O'Reilly, 2017-11-03 This book examines how gendered agency emerges in peacebuilding contexts It develops a feminist critique of the international peacebuilding interventions through a study of transitional justice policies and practices implemented in Bosnia Herzegovina and local activists responses to official discourses surrounding them Extending Nancy Fraser's tripartite model of justice to peacebuilding contexts the book also advances notions of recognition redistribution and representation as crucial components of gender just peace It argues that recognising women as victims and survivors of conflict achieving a gender equitable distribution of material and symbolic resources and enabling women to participate as agents of transitional justice processes are all essential for transforming the structural inequalities that enable gender violence and discrimination to materialise before during and after conflict This study establishes a new avenue of analysis for understanding responses and resistances to international peacebuilding by offering a sustained engagement with feminist social and political theory

The Enchantment of Western Herbal Medicine Guy Waddell, 2020-01-30 Through interviews with British herbalists the importance of hidden experiences of meetings with plants is explored alongside how such enchantment has influenced the narrative of their lives Some herbalists have visible entryways into studying such as personal experience of taking herbal medicine a search for a new career or a love of nature Other entryways are more hidden with many noting crossings and callings with plants at a young age This sensual ability of herbs raises questions about the agency of living plants and of herbal medicines and about how the relationship between herbalists and plants may be reconceived Meetings with plants and herbal medicines allow herbalists to draw easily from a diverse range of influences that others may see as incommensurable This fascinating original and challenging book convincingly explores modern day herbalists understanding of their place in the complementary health world against the backdrop of encroaching professionalisation legitimacy and scientism In his case study interviews with herbalists Guy Waddell draws our attention to the enchanting power of plants and their agentic qualities In his quest for greater understanding of their sensual power the author rejects the conventional modernity rationalisation thesis seen both in the sensual affective energy that herbalists draw upon and in the ontological implications of human nonhuman crossings This book is an excellent contribution to our understanding of Western herbal medicine and contemporary thought Dr Stuart McClean PhD Associate Professor in Public Health Health and Wellbeing University of the West of England In the field of herbal medicine few seem to know their history and the lessons it teaches us In The Enchantment of Western Herbal Medicine Dr Guy Waddell not only provides the reader with a detailed history of the trials and triumphs of British Phytotherapy but also travels into uncharted territory looking at how herbalists come to find their passion for plants and the use of them to help heal others This is a new area of research and exploring the entryways to practice though interviews and clinician narratives is both a fascinating undertaking and a unique way of understanding our own motivations and experiences as herbalists David Winston RH AHG DSc hc author of Adaptogens Herbs for Strength Stamina and Stress Relief Both compelling and challenging Guy Waddell's unique book is filled with the voices of herbalists and makes essential reading for anyone on their own journey into herbalism or those interested in human plant relationships Here is a much needed roadmap for all who are exploring the diverse choices between ancient and modern science and tradition evidence and intuition and human and nonhuman agency My congratulations to the author for so brilliantly signposting the fundamental unity that resides at the heart of herbal practice Phil Deakin President of the National Institute of Medical Herbalists
