African American Perspectives on Leadership in Schools Lenoar Foster, Linda C. Tillman, 2009-11-16 This book fills an educational void in the school leadership literature as it relates to historical theoretical intellectual and cultural understandings among those who prepare individuals for leadership in schools and for those who practice leadership in schools attended by significant numbers of African American students Contributors to this volume are scholars whose research and service in schools have been important in understanding the historical intellectual and cultural traditions that facilitate and support effective leadership and in schools where African American school leaders teachers students parents and their communities of support construct effective and productive cultures of empowerment and achievement It is these cultures that this volume addresses for their efficacy to support empower and sustain visible and measurable achievement among African American students Resources in Education ,1997 Women in Higher Education Ana M. Martínez Alemán, Kristen A. Renn, 2002-12-13 The only comprehensive encyclopedia on the subject of women in higher education America's first wave of feminists Susan B Anthony Elizabeth Cady Stanton and others included expanded opportunities for higher education in their Declaration of Sentiments at the first Women's Rights Convention in Seneca Falls New York in 1848 By then the first American institutions to educate women had been founded among them Mt Holyoke Seminary in 1837 However not until after the Civil War did most universities admit women and not for egalitarian purposes War casualties had caused a drop in enrollment and the states needed teachers Women students paid tuition but as teachers were paid salaries half that of men By the late 20th century there were more female than male students of higher education but women remained underrepresented at the higher levels of educational leadership and training This volume covers everything from historical and cultural context and gender theory to women in the curriculum and as faculty and administrators

Increasing Access to College William G. Tierney, Linda Serra Hagedorn, 2012-02-01 At a time when college enrollment rates for low income and under represented students are far below those of non minority students policies and practices designed to increase access should be a priority for colleges universities high schools and community agencies Increasing Access to College examines pre college enrichment programs that offer a specific and immediate remedy Mixed Race Students in College Kristen A. Renn, 2004-07-15 Portrays the diverse experiences and identities of mixed race college students The Quest for Equity in Higher Education Beverly Lindsay, Manuel J. Justiz, 2001-08-16 Investigating the role of equity diversity and affirmative action in colleges and universities in the United States this book critically examines the issues in light of public debates voter referenda and legislative enactments seeking to influence public policy The contributors argue that providing information and critical skills to students and scholars preparing students for the world of work especially in a rapidly changing technological environment and generating new research and knowledge bases are missions of higher education that can be enhanced with affirmative action as a form of equity Women's Studies

Festus E. Obiakor, 2021-06-01 Today we live in changing times and how we respond to these changes creates some uneasiness in our daily lives Some of these changes reflect demographic shifts in power and paradigm in the United States while others reflect the reckless assumption that our problems are insurmountable Multiculturalism Still Matters in Education and Society Responding to Changing Times urges us to collaborate consult and cooperate for our common good It rightly emphasizes that multiculturalism will always matter in whatever we do in our complex world In addition it challenges us to continue to see differences as strengths that must be valued in dealing with our students educational professionals leaders and communities Finally this book inspires us to expand our discourses create avenues for hearty conversations look for ways to make invisible voices visible and help culturally and linguistically diverse CLD and vulnerable populations to maximize their fullest potential Capitalizing Knowledge Henry Etzkowitz, Andrew Webster, Peter Healey, 1998-09-24

Examines current trends toward increasing links between industry and academia and the resulting commercialization of universities as they seek to capitalize their research Expanding Opportunity in Higher Education Patricia

Gándara, Gary Orfield, Catherine L. Horn, 2012-02-01 The dream of public higher education in America is to provide opportunity for many and to offer transformative help to American communities and the economy Expanding Opportunity in Higher Education explores the massive challenges facing California and the nation in realizing this goal during a time of enormous demographic change The immediate focus on California is particularly appropriate given the size of the state it educates one out of every nine students in the country and its checkered political record with respect to civil rights and educational inequities The book includes essays not only by academics looking at the state s educational system as a whole but also by those within the policy system who are trying to keep it going in difficult times The contributors show that the destiny of California and the nation rests on the courage of policymakers both within the universities and within the government to move aggressively to reclaim the hope of millions of students who can make enormous contributions to this society if only given the chance

The Portable Mentor Mitchell J. Prinstein, Marcus Patterson, 2012-12-06 All students know that you don t learn everything in the classroom and that having a mentor can be an invaluable help in negotiating career challenges and pitfalls But not even a mentor can have all of the answers all the time The Portable Mentor was designed to combine the wisdom of a wide range of noted psychology experts whose knowledge and training experience provide you with the guidance you need Based on the real life concerns of students and beginning professionals this volume will take you from graduate school to career development and beyond Comprehensive in scope but practical to use The Portable Mentor offers the best possible professional development training from the most successful leaders in psychology The book is divided into five sections that thoroughly cover issues relevant to each stage of early career development and that explore in depth research practice and personal growth This volume will answer many questions including how to write a grant teach a class publish a research manuscript apply for a postdoctoral fellowship start a thriving clinical practice and more

The Racial Crisis in American Higher Education William A. Smith, Philip G. Altbach, Kofi Lomotey, 2012-02-01 Why is it that as we enter the twenty first century the nation s predominantly white colleges and universities continue to be settings where people of color feel unwelcome and marginalized The contributors to this volume dissect a variety of structural and attitudinal factors that are prevalent in the higher education community organizational constructs and value orientations which seem to hark more to the past than to the future They comment on the political social and economic factors that have shaped academic culture and buttressed its quietly efficient maintenance of racially discriminatory practices The American system of higher education is often regarded as the best in the world Smith Altbach and Lomotey have edited a volume that implicitly asks how much better still it could be if it embraced people of color and provided them with a supportive and nurturing environment one which encouraged them to reach their fullest creative and intellectual potential Indeed this will probably be the most significant challenge that the academy faces in the twenty first century William B Harvey Vice President and Director Office of Minorities in Higher Education American Council on Education Washington D C
