European Conference on e-Learning Rikke Ørngreen, Bente Meyer, Mie Buhl , 2019-11-07 Social Geographies The

Newcastle Social Geographies Collective, 2020-10-19 Social geographies is a flourishing field that studies a diverse range of current social issues through a spatial lens Capturing a lively and dynamic area of scholarship this major textbook showcases the breadth of conceptual and empirical approaches that social geographers use to understand the world we live in It is collectively authored by one of the largest groups of social geographers in the world The book develops a vision of social geographies that is rooted in longstanding commitments to justice equality and social change while incorporating new approaches topics and concerns It offers the most contemporary and comprehensive round up of social geographies to date making sense of its rich and diverse interests Its 34 chapters contain lively and accessible summaries of current research on familiar topics such as space and time race class housing and health and recent developments including digital worlds performance sustainability and food Above all this collection makes clear the enormous relevance and contributions of social geographies not only to our understanding of a wide range of global and local issues but also to working for change for a better world alongside communities policy makers and social movements Children and Young People as Knowledge

Producers Gina Porter, Janet Townsend, Kate Hampshire, 2020-06-09 Despite the widespread promotion of children's voices by activists and policy makers over the last decade the potential for young people's knowledge to impact on adult agendas and policy arenas is by no means a certainty This book presents critiques of participation in settings where young people are the centre of attention The complexities and power dynamics of youth adult relationships are observed and analysed in a wide diversity of study environments from Hull to Sao Paulo rural Lesotho to Ghana using varied methods and over different time frames but with a strong focus throughout on context practice impacts and associated ethical considerations The central concern of the book is not whether young people can produce better knowledge than adults but rather how to better understand the different knowledges which emerge from diverse actors within different generations in order to ensure that the maximum benefits accrue to children and young people with and for whom the research is conducted This book was originally published as a special issue of Children's Geographies Information Sources in the Social Sciences David

Fisher, Sandra Price, Terry Hanstock, 2018-02-19 No detailed description available for Information Sources in the Social Sciences Fieldwork in the Global South Jenny Lunn, 2014-03-26 Choosing to do fieldwork overseas particularly in the Global South is a challenge in itself The researcher faces logistical complications health and safety issues cultural differences language barriers and much more But permeating the entire fieldwork experience are a range of mediating ethical issues While many researchers seek to follow institutional and disciplinary guidelines on ethical research practice the reality is that each situation is unique and the individual researcher must negotiate their own path through a variety of ethical challenges and dilemmas This book was created to share such experiences to serve not as a manual for ethical practice but rather as a place for reflection and mutual learning Since ethical issues face the researcher at every turn and cannot be compartmentalized into one part of the research process this book puts them at the very center of the discussion and uses them as the lens with which to view different stages of fieldwork The book covers four thematic areas ethical challenges in the field ethical dimensions of researcher identity ethical issues relating to research methods and ethical dilemmas of engagement with a variety of actors This volume also provides fresh insights by drawing on the experiences of research students rather than those of established academics The contributors describe research conducted for their master s degrees and doctorates offering honest and self critical reflections on how they negotiated ethical challenges and dilemmas The chapters cover fieldwork carried out in countries across Africa Asia and Latin America on a broad sweep of development related topics This book should have wide appeal to undergraduates postgraduates and early career researchers working under the broad umbrella of development studies Although focused on fieldwork in the Global South the discussions and reflections are relevant to field research in many other countries and contexts
