Methods Of Discovery Heuristics For The Social Sciences:

Methods of Discovery Andrew Delano Abbott, Jeffrey C. Alexander, 2004 Abbott helps social science students discover what questions to ask This exciting book is not about habits and the mechanics of doing social science research but about habits of thinking that enable students to use those mechanics in new ways by coming up with new ideas and combining them more effectively with old ones Abbott organizes his book around general methodological moves and uses examples from throughout the social sciences to show how these moves can open new lines of thinking In each chapter he covers several moves and their reverses if these exist discussing particular examples of the move as well as its logical and theoretical structure Often he goes on to propose applications of the move in a wide variety of empirical settings The basic aim of Methods of Discovery is to offer readers a new way of thinking about directions for their research and new ways to imagine information relevant to their research problems Methods of Discovery is part of the Contemporary Societies series

Handbook of Emergent Methods Sharlene Nagy Hesse-Biber, Patricia Leavy, 2013-10-15 Social researchers increasingly find themselves looking beyond conventional methods to address complex research questions This is the first book to comprehensively examine emergent qualitative and quantitative theories and methods across the social and behavioral sciences Providing scholars and students with a way to retool their research choices the volume presents cutting edge approaches to data collection analysis and representation Leading researchers describe alternative uses of traditional quantitative and qualitative tools innovative hybrid or mixed methods and new techniques facilitated by technological advances Consistently formatted chapters explore the strengths and limitations of each method for studying different types of research questions and offer practical in depth examples

Social Science Methodology John Gerring, 2011-12-15 John Gerring's exceptional textbook has been thoroughly revised in this second edition It offers a one volume introduction to social science methodology relevant to the disciplines of anthropology economics history political science psychology and sociology This new edition has been extensively developed with the introduction of new material and a thorough treatment of essential elements such as conceptualization measurement causality and research design It is written for students long time practitioners and methodologists and covers both qualitative and quantitative methods It synthesizes the vast and diverse field of methodology in a way that is clear concise and comprehensive While offering a handy overview of the subject the book is also an argument about how we should conceptualize methodological problems Thinking about methodology through this lens provides a new framework for understanding work in the social sciences www.routledge.com/9780367567651 The Art and Craft of Comparison John Boswell, Jack Corbett, R. A. W.

Rhodes, 2019-10-24 Is it possible to compare French presidential politics with village leadership in rural India? Most social scientists are united in thinking such unlikely juxtapositions are not feasible. Boswell, Corbett, and Rhodes argue that they are possible. This book explains why and how. It is a call to arms for interpretivists to embrace creatively comparative work. As well as explaining, defending, and illustrating the comparative interpretive approach, this book is also an engaging hands-on guide to doing comparative interpretive research, with chapters covering design, fieldwork, analysis, and writing. The advice in each revolves around rules of thumb grounded in experience and illustrated through stories and examples from the authors' research in different contexts around the world. Naturalist and humanist traditions have thus far dominated the field, but this book presents a real alternative to these two orthodoxies, which expands the horizons of comparative analysis in social science research.
