ScienceDirect and in limited edition print format Broad interdisciplinary coverage across human geography Philosophy Methods People Social Cultural Political Economic Development Health Cartography Urban Historical Regional Comprehensive and unique the first of its kind in human geography Migration Borders Freedom Harald Bauder, 2016-09-01 International borders have become deadly barriers of a proportion rivaled only by war or natural disaster Yet despite the damage created by borders most people can't or don't want to imagine a world without them What alternatives do we have to prevent the deadly results of contemporary borders In today's world national citizenship determines a person's ability to migrate across borders Migration Borders Freedom questions that premise Recognizing the magnitude of deaths occurring at contemporary borders worldwide the book problematizes the concept of the border and develops arguments for open borders and a world without borders It explores alternative possibilities ranging from the practical to the utopian that link migration with ideas of community citizenship and belonging The author calls into question the conventional political imagination that assumes migration and citizenship to be responsibilities of nation states rather than cities While the book draws on the theoretical work of thinkers such as Ernst Bloch David Harvey and Henry Lefebvre it also presents international empirical examples of policies and practices on migration and claims of belonging In this way the book equips the reader with the practical and conceptual tools for political action activist practice and scholarly engagement to achieve greater justice for people who are on the move The Open Access version of this book available at <https://www.taylorfrancis.com/books/9781315638300> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license Environmental Transformations Mark Whitehead, 2014-04-16 From the depths of the oceans to the highest reaches of the atmosphere the human impact on the environment is significant and undeniable These forms of global and local environmental change collectively appear to signal the arrival of a new geological epoch the Anthropocene This is a geological era defined not by natural environmental fluctuations or meteorite impacts but by collective actions of humanity Environmental Transformations offers a concise and accessible introduction to the human practices and systems that sustain the Anthropocene It combines accounts of the carbon cycle global heat balances entropy hydrology forest ecology and pedology with theories of demography war industrial capitalism urban development state theory and behavioural psychology This book charts the particular role of geography and geographers in studying environmental change and its human drivers It provides a review of critical theories that can help to uncover the socio-economic and political factors that influence environmental change It also explores key issues in contemporary environmental studies such as resource use water scarcity climate change industrial pollution and deforestation These issues are mapped through a series of geographical case studies to illustrate the particular value of geographical notions of space place and scale in uncovering the complex nature of environmental change in different socio-economic political and cultural contexts Finally the book considers the different ways in which nations communities and individuals around the world are adapting to environmental change in the twenty first century Particular attention is given throughout to the uneven geographical opportunities that different communities have to adapt to environmental change and to the questions of social justice this situation raises This book encourages students to engage in the scientific uncertainties that surround the study of environmental change while also discussing both pessimistic and more optimistic views on the ability of humanity to address the environmental challenges of our current era

Marxism and Real Estate Development Julian Roche,2023-09-01 This book straddles two worlds and attempts to bring them together that of Lefebvre s Marxism on the one hand and that of real estate development on the other Lefebvre has now become a household name amongst many contemporary Marxists especially those with an interest in urban planning and certain quarters of the architectural profession however his work is far less well known by real estate professionals whether investors developers brokers or indeed policymakers Marxism and Real Estate Taking Lefebvre Seriously has both a large scope and a very bold aim to use an explication and analysis of the work of Henri Lefebvre not only to present a critique of development but also to draw these two worlds together It therefore first aims to present the arguments of this increasingly well known French Marxist philosopher sociologist and pioneer of urban studies second to situate contemporary real estate development in the light of Lefebvre s work and third to analyse the potential application of Lefebvre s work to each of the major components of contemporary real estate to use Lefebvre s work in order to recommend practical action for developers working alongside planners and architects to influence the future of global real estate As well as its direction at developers themselves this book should be of interest to economists real estate researchers and professionals planners urban studies scholars and of course to those interested in the application of Lefebvre s work to real estate

Making Freedom Anne-Maria Makhulu,2015-10-23 In Making Freedom Anne Maria Makhulu explores practices of squatting and illegal settlement on the outskirts of Cape Town during and immediately following the end of apartheid Apartheid's paradoxical policies of prohibiting migrant Africans who worked in Cape Town from living permanently within the city led some black families to seek safe haven on the city's perimeters Beginning in the 1970s families set up makeshift tents and shacks and built whole communities defying the state through what Makhulu calls a politics of presence In the simple act of building homes squatters who Makhulu characterizes as urban militants actively engaged in a politics of the right to the city that became vital in the broader struggles for liberation Despite apartheid's end in 1994 Cape Town's settlements have expanded as new forms of dispossession associated with South African neoliberalism perpetuate relations of spatial exclusion poverty and racism As Makhulu demonstrates the efforts of black Capetonians to establish claims to a place in the city not only decisively reshaped Cape Town's geography but changed the course of history

Newman, Holly Thorpe, David Andrews, 2020-01-17 2020 Choice Outstanding Academic Title The moving body pervasively occupied by fitness activities intense training and dieting regimes recreational practices and high profile sporting mega events holds a vital function in contemporary society As the body moves as it performs sweats runs and jumps it sets in motion an intricate web of scientific rationalities spatial arrangements corporate imperatives and identity politics i e politics of gender race social class etc It represents vitality in its productive and physiological capacities it drives a complex economy of experiences and products and it is a meaningful site of cultural identities and politics Contributors to Sport Physical Culture and the Moving Body work from a simple premise as it moves the material body matters Adding to the burgeoning fields of sport studies and body studies the works featured here draw upon the traditions of feminist theory posthumanism actor network theory and new materialism to reposition the physical moving body as crucial to the cultural political environmental and economic systems that it constitutes and within which is constituted Once assembled the book presents a study of bodies in motion made to move in contexts where technique performance speed strength and vitality not only define the conduct therein but provide the very reason for the body s being within those economies and environments In so doing the contributors look to how the body moving for and about rational systems of science medicine markets and geopolitics shapes the social and material world in important and unexpected ways In Sport Physical Culture and the Moving Body contributors explore the extent to which the body when moving about both ostensibly active body spaces i e the gymnasium the ball field exercise laboratory the track or running trail the beach or the sport stadium and those places less often connected to physical activity i e the home the street the classroom the automobile is bounded to technologies of life and living and to the political arrangements that seek to capitalize upon such frames of biological vitality To do so the authors problematize the rise of active body science i e kinesiology sport and exercise sciences performance biotechnology and the effects these scientific interventions have on embodied lived experience Contributors to Sport Physical Culture and the Moving Body will be engaging a range of new and emerging theoretical perspectives including new materialist political ecology developmental systems theory and new material feminist approaches to examine the actors and assemblages of movement based material political and economic production In so doing contributors will vividly and powerfully illustrate the extent to which a focus on the fleshed body and its material conditions can bring forth new insights or ontological and epistemological innovation to the sociology of sport and physical activity They will also explore the agency of the body as and amongst things Such a performative materialist approach explicates how complex assemblages of sport and physical activity bringing into association everything from muscle fibers and dietary proteins to stadium concrete or regional aquifers are not only meaningful but ecological By focusing on the confluence of agentive materialities disciplinary technologies vibrant assemblages speculative realities and vital performativities Sport Physical Culture and the Moving Body promises to offer a groundbreaking departure from representationalist tendencies and orthodoxies brought about by the cultural turn in sport and physical cultural studies It brings the moving body and its physics back into focus recentring moving flesh and bones as locus of social order environmental change and the global political economy Henri Lefebvre's Critical Theory of Space

Francesco Biagi,2020-08-08 Henri Lefebvre s Critical Theory of Space offers a rigorous analysis and revival of Lefebvre s works and the context in which he produced them Biagi traces the historical critical time frame of Lefebvre s intellectual investigations bringing to light a theoretical constellation in which historical methods intersect with philosophical and sociological issues from Marxist political philosophy to the birth of urban sociology from rural studies to urban and everyday life studies in the context of capitalism Examining Lefebvre s extended investigations into the urban sphere as well as highlighting his goal of developing a general political theory of space and of innovating Marxist thought and clarifying the various more or less accurate meanings attributed to Lefebvre s concept of the right to the city analysed in the context of the French and international sociological and philosophical political debate Henri Lefebvre s Critical Theory of Space ultimately brings the contours of Lefebvre s innovative perspective itself developed at the end of the short twentieth century back into view in all its richness and complexity Reversing Urban Inequality in Johannesburg Melissa Tandiwe

Myambo,2018-10-08 With the spread of capitalism a socio economic system that produces both wealth and poverty simultaneously the spatial dynamics of the global izing city are creating more division between social classes not less This means that in the 21st century large cities around the world exhibit intensifying spatial inequality taking the form of a wealthy privileged urban core ringed by a periphery of lower income denizens far removed from the city s resources and amenities This trend toward swelling socio spatial division is especially pronounced in cities purporting to be global or in the case of Johannesburg South Africa s financial capital a world class African city Ironically Johannesburg s historical legacy of immense spatial inequality thanks to apartheid is the direction in which most global izing cities such as New York Cairo London Shanghai New Delhi Jakarta Lagos Berlin and S o Paulo are headed The globalization of neoliberal urban policy has made the city less welcoming liveable accessible and friendly for lower income city residents This book asks if Johannesburg can unstitch its complex urban fabric to create a city with more democratic public transport affordable housing in desirable locations and safe socially and racially integrated public spaces These pithy solidly researched accessibly written essays are instructive for all those who are interested in questions of spatial justice urban development history and planning and the general goal of making cities more livable and accessible for urban dwellers of all income levels Material Cultures in Canada Thomas Allen,Jennifer Blair,2015-06-18 Material Cultures in Canada presents the vibrant and diverse field of material culture studies in Canadian literary artistic and political contexts today The first of its kind this collection features sixteen essays by leading scholars in Canada each of whom examines a different object of study including the beaver geraniums comics water a musical playlist and the human body The book s three sections focus in turn on objects that are persistently material on things whose materiality blends into the immaterial and on the materials of spaces Contributors highlight some of the most exciting new developments in the field such as the emergence of new materialism affect theory globalization studies and environmental criticism Although the book has a Canadian centre the majority of its contributors consider objects that cross borders or otherwise resist national affiliation This collection will be valuable to readers within and outside of Canada who are interested in material culture studies and in addition will appeal to anyone interested in the central debates taking place in Canadian political and cultural life today such as climate change citizenship shifts in urban and small town life and the persistence of imperialism

The People, Place, and Space Reader Jen Jack Gieseeking, William Mangold, Cindi Katz, Setha Low, Susan Saegert, 2014-04-16 The People Place and Space Reader brings together the writings of scholars designers and activists from a variety of fields to make sense of the makings and meanings of the world we inhabit They help us to understand the relationships between people and the environment at all scales and to consider the active roles individuals groups and social structures play in creating the environments in which people live work and play These readings highlight the ways in which space and place are produced through large and small scale social political and economic practices and offer new ways to think about how people engage the environment in multiple and diverse ways Providing an essential resource for students of urban studies geography sociology and many other areas this book brings together important but till now widely dispersed writings across many inter related disciplines Introductions from the editors precede each section introducing the texts demonstrating their significance and outlining the key issues surrounding the topic A companion website PeoplePlaceSpace.org extends the work even further by providing an on going series of additional reading lists that cover issues ranging from food security to foreclosure psychiatric spaces to the environments of predator animals
