Colonization Or Globalization? Silvia Nagy-Zekmi, Chantal J. Zabus, 2010-01-01 The essays in this volume present new scholarship on imperial expansion through colonization and globalization from a variety of postcolonial perspectives Most of the articles are grounded in literary works National identities and imageries are scrutinized deconstructing the modernist and utopian idea of a nation as a site of homogeneity and reviewing the importance of the changing concept of identity in the different phases of decolonization The History of the Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire Edward Gibbon, 2008-01-01 The History of the Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire is Edward Gibbon's magnum opus written and published over a 13 year period beginning in 1776 It not only chronicles the events of the downfall starting with the end of the rule of Marcus Aurelius but proposes a theory as to why Rome collapsed the populace Gibbon theorizes lost its moral fortitude its militaristic will and its sense of civic duty History is considered a classic in world literature and Gibbon is sometimes called the first modern historian for his insistence upon using primary sources for his research Many scholars today still use his highly regarded work as reference In this fourth of seven volumes readers will find Chapter 36 Total Extinction of the Western Empire through Chapter 44 Idea of the Roman Jurisprudence which cover the rule and death of Emperor Maximus the invasion of the Vandals the reigns of Majorian Ricimer Leo Anthemius Olybrius Julius Nepos Glycerius Flavius Orestes and Augustulus the extinction of the Western Roman Empire the decay of the Roman Spirit the rule of Odoacer over Italy the origin and development of monastic life the conversion of the Goths Vandals Burgundians and Lombards the persecution of the Jews in Spain and the rule of barbarian kings over the lands formerly under Roman control Chapter 39 begins a concentration on the Eastern Roman Empire starting with Theodoric of the Ostrogoths and the volume continues with Justinian I Belisarius's invasion of Africa histories of the Gepidae the Lombards and the Sclavonians the deaths of both Belisarius and Justinian and an overview of Roman law English parliamentarian and historian EDWARD GIBBON 1737 1794 attended Magdalen College Oxford for 14 months before his father sent him to Lausanne Switzerland where he continued his education He published Essai sur l'étude de la Littérature 1761 and other autobiographical works including Mmoire Justificatif pour servir de Réponse à l'Expos etc de la Cour de France 1779 Questions of Poetics Barrett Watten, 2016-07-01 Questions of Poetics is Barrett Watten's major reassessment of the political history social formation and literary genealogy of Language writing A key participant in the emergent bicoastal poetic avant garde as poet editor and publisher Watten has developed over three decades of writing in poetics a sustained account of its theory and practice The present volume represents the core of Watten s critical writing and public lecturing since the millennium taking up the historical origins and continuity of Language writing from its beginnings to the present Each chapter is a theoretical inquiry into an aspect of poetics in an expanded sense from the relation of experimental poetry to cultural logics of liberation and political economy to questions of community and the politics of the avant garde to the cultural contexts where it is produced and intervenes Each serves as a kind of thought experiment that theorizes and assesses the consequences of Language writing in expanded fields of meaning that include history political theory art history and narrative theory While all are grounded in a series of baseline questions of poetics they also polemically address the currently turbulent debates on the politics of the avant garde especially Language writing among emerging communities of poets In manifold ways Watten masterfully demonstrates the aesthetic and political aims of Language writing its influence on emerging literary schools and its present aesthetic critical and political horizons Questions of Poetics will be a major point of reference in continuing debates on poetry and literary history a critical reexamination for already familiar readers and a clearly presented introduction for new ones

The History of the Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire. By Edward Gibbon .. A New Edition Edward Gibbon,1797 Holocaust Museum Robert Fitterman,2013-09-18 Holocaust Museum reframes the captions of holocaust photographs from the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum in Washington DC These captions without their photographic images are arranged loosely in the order or narrative constructed by the museum There are many purposes to this project but the genesis is in articulating a cultural shift from image to text The subject this particular holocaust was chosen because the images are shared in our collective memory by presenting only the text the reader is hopefully consigned into a more complicit experience

History of the decline and fall of the Roman Empire Edward Gibbon,1875 Nobody's Business Brian M. Reed,2013-08-15 Since the turn of the new millennium English language verse has entered a new historical phase but explanations vary as to what has actually happened and why What might constitute a viable avant garde poetics in the aftermath of such momentous developments as 9 11 globalization and the financial crisis Much of this discussion has taken place in ephemeral venues such as blogs e zines public lectures and conferences Nobody s Business is the first book to treat the emergence of Flarf and Conceptual Poetry in a serious way In his engaging account

Brian M Reed argues that these movements must be understood in relation to the proliferation of digital communications technologies and their integration into the corporate workplace. Writers such as Andrea Brady, Craig Dworkin, Kenneth Goldsmith, Danny Snelson, and Rachel Zolf specifically target for criticism the institutions, skill sets, and values that make possible the smooth functioning of a postindustrial globalized economy. Authorship comes in for particular scrutiny: how does writing a poem differ in any meaningful way from other forms of content providing? While often adept at using new technologies, these writers nonetheless choose to explore anachronism, ineptitude, and error as aesthetic and political strategies. The results can appear derivative, tedious, or vulgar; they can also be stirring, compelling, and even sublime. As Reed sees it, this new generation of writers is carrying on the Duchampian practice of generating anti-art that both challenges prevalent definitions of art and calls into question the legitimacy of the institutions that define it.

Plummet Christopher Shaun Nealon, 2009 Poetry As with many books, description of Chris Nealon's latest fails; yet in this case it also unusually fails. A few moments of demonstration rather than description: nothing you read will help you now. I am not gay. I am from the future. Classicism build your buildings so that even conquering hordes will be like No way. Plummet is a post-catastrophic work written largely before the current all-American i.e. global plunge. Imagine a kind of clairvoyant O'Hara distracted by Adorno and Bear Stearns. It's that pit of the stomach feeling when plummeting: one goes from high to low; that's that pit of the stomach feeling in the pit of the stomach. Will there be sirens? Toxins? I imagine violence miming reconciliation and then back again. The Believer reporter Stephen Burt observed of his previous collection The Joyous Age that Nealon's bracing and bitter debut both enters and mocks the tradition of kaleidoscopic difficult poetry as grand social critique and makes most new work in that mode sound sloppy or bland by contrast. In other words, as it says in this new collection: Lifted from the cadences you know and then let fall.

Felonies of Illusion Mark Wallace, 2008 Poetry FELONIES OF ILLUSION is the newest offering of poems from poet Mark Wallace whose previous titles include HAZE, ESSAYS, POEMS, PROSE, and NOTHING HAPPENED AND BESIDES I WASN'T THERE. A master at making genre question itself, Mark Wallace gets the square peg in the round hole again. A stark and aphoristic long poem about living and working during the war, direct, wise, and brave enough to skip the decorative bumps up against the witty, clanging, angry, top-speed palimpsestuous title series lyrics that swallow their own tails. Wallace is cynical, clear-eyed, and resolutely jokey on commerce, war, love, the therapeutic use of commitment, and exhausted longing. This day could be about today, leisurely and bright if the days weren't stacked like nights inside it. Nobody gets away with anything in FELONIES OF ILLUSION; we're all skewered until we grimace and grin.
