Metropolis Center And Symbol Of Our Times:

Metropolis Philip Kasinitz, 1995 In an urban Society      Manufacturing Powerlessness in the Black Diaspora Charles St. Clair Green, 2001 Despite the economic utopianism brought on by globalization effective solutions to the persistent plight of urban blacks throughout the African diaspora continue to elude scholars politicians and community leaders Charles Green brings a decade of research and original fieldwork in Africa the Caribbean and the United States to investigate the interface of the historic racism faced by these urban communities and contemporary trends of globalization Green pays particular attention to the condition of the youth whose aspirations vulnerabilities and insights into their own conditions are central to the future prospects for their communities as a whole Considering the impacts of economic restructuring and cultural diffusion alike his analysis asserts the importance of both global ties and local distinctiveness Ultimately Manufacturing Powerlessness aims to encourage the formation of alliances throughout the diaspora so that urban black communities can manufacture a future of empowerment Visit the author's web page      Metropolis Center and Symbol of Our Times Philip Kasinitz, 1995      Dance in the City Helen Thomas, 1997-07-21 This exciting new and original collection locates dance within the spectrum of urban life in late modernity through a range of theoretical perspectives It highlights a diversity of dance forms and styles that can be witnessed in and around contemporary urban spaces from dance halls to raves and the club striptease from set dancing to ballroom dancing to hip hop and swing and to ice dance shows from the ballet class to fitness aerobics and art dance which situates itself in a dynamic relation to the city      Challenges of Urban Education Karen A. McClafferty, Carlos Alberto Torres, Theodore R. Mitchell, 2000-02-03 Presents current research and theoretical perspectives on the challenges facing educators in U S urban schools      Tangled Up in School Jan Nespor, 2013-11-26 Based on two years of ethnographic fieldwork in an urban elementary school this volume is an examination of how school division politics regional economic policies parental concerns urban development efforts popular cultures gender ideologies racial politics and university and corporate agendas come together to produce educational effects Unlike conventional school ethnographies the focus of this work is less on classrooms than on the webs of social relations that embed schools in neighborhoods cities states and regions Utilizing a variety of narratives and analytical styles this volume explores how curriculum innovations are simultaneously made possible by and undermined by school district politics neighborhood histories and the spatial and temporal organizations of teachers and parents lives situates the educational discourse of administrators and teachers in the changing economic and political climates of the city analyzes the motivations behind an effort by school and business proponents to refashion classrooms within the school into business enterprises and of children's efforts to make sense of the scheme examines the role of the school as a neighborhood institution situating it at the intersections of city planners efforts to regulate city space and children's efforts to carve out live spaces through out of school routines contemplates the meaning of school as a site for bodily experience and looks at how patterns of space and control in the school shaped children's bodies and at how they continued to use body-based languages to construct maturity, gender, and race and investigates the school as a space for the deployment of symbolic resources where children learned and constructed identities through their engagements with television, comic books, movies, and sports. Tangled Up In School raises questions about how we draw the boundaries of the school, about how schools fit into the lives of children and cities, and about what we mean when we talk about school. Urban Design Downtown Anastasia Loukaitou-Sideris, Tridib

Banerjee, 1998-10-19 The corporate downtown with its multitude of social dilemmas and contradictions is the focus of this well-illustrated volume. How are downtown projects conceived, scripted, produced, packaged, and used, and how has all this changed during the twentieth century? The authors of Urban Design Downtown offer a critical appraisal of the emerging appearance of downtown urban form. They explore both the poetics of design and the politics and economics of development decisions. Following a historical review of the various phases of downtown transformation, Anastasia Loukaitou-Sideris and Tridib Banerjee turn to contemporary American downtowns. They examine the phenomenon of public space privatization, arguing that corporate open spaces are the consumer-oriented result of policies that have promoted downtown renovation and restructuring but at the same time have neglected the cities' existing poverty-stricken cores. The book's case studies of individual West Coast downtown projects capture the essence of late twentieth-century urbanism. This analysis of downtown urban America, which offers extensive insight into the design and development process, will interest architects, city planners, developers, and urban designers everywhere. Race, Media, and the Crisis of Civil Society Ronald N. Jacobs, 2000-08-03

Charts the history, development, and influence of the African American Press. Capitalism and the Senses Regina Lee Blaszczyk, David Suisman, 2023-06-13 Capitalism and the Senses is the first edited volume to explore how the forces of capitalism are entangled with everyday sensory experience. If the senses have a history, as Karl Marx wrote, then that history is inseparable from the development of capitalism, which has both taken advantage of the senses and influenced how sensory experience has changed over time. This pioneering collection shows how seeing, hearing, tasting, smelling, and touching have both shaped and been shaped by commercial interests from the turn of the twentieth century to our own time. From the manipulation of taste and texture in the food industry to the careful engineering of the feel of artificial fabrics, capitalist enterprises have worked to commodify the senses in a wide variety of ways. Drawing on history, anthropology, geography, and other fields, the volume's essays analyze not only where this effort has succeeded but also where the senses have resisted control and the logic of markets. The result is an innovative ensemble that demonstrates how the drive to exploit sensorial experience for profit became a defining feature of capitalist modernity and establishes the senses as an important dimension of the history of capitalism. Clark, Ai Hisano, Lisa Jacobson, Sven Kube, Grace Lees Maffei, Ingemar Pettersson, David Suisman, Ana María Ulloa, Nicole Welk Joerger. Experiencing Cities Mark Hutter, 2020-10-21 The fourth edition of Mark Hutter's Experiencing Cities examines cities and larger metropolitan areas within a truly global framework lending readers much to understand and appreciate about the variety of urban structures and processes and their effect on the everyday lives of people residing in cities Beginning with the emergence of the first urban centers and continuing to examine the present day and the future of smart cities this book explores the changing cultural and domestic character of the metropolis and offers readers a complete historical and theoretical overview of municipal life The new edition seamlessly integrates issues of gender race ethnicity sexuality and class in its examination of city and suburban life and further extends the Chicago School of Sociology perspective by combining its traditions with a distinct social psychological orientation derived from symbolic interaction and macro level examination of social organization social change and power in the urban context With this strong and sweeping interdisciplinary approach the new edition of Experiencing Cities will continue to enrich students understandings of urban life and offer new forward looking perspective to those working in the fields of urban sociology history politics geography and the arts

The Golem in German Social Theory Gad Ya'ir, Michaela Soyer, 2008-01-01 The Golem in German Social Theory provides an innovative and bold interpretation of German social theory Authors Gad Yair and Michaela Soyer argue that the mythological story of the Golem rising over its master provides the basic code which animated German social theory from the 19th century until the 21st century Yair and Soyer illustrate how the Golem run mad narrative permeates the history of modern German social thought and how it now provides a convenient literary tool for re reading German critiques of the Enlightenment modernity capitalism and progress The Golem in German Social Theory points out a family resemblance that unites German theorists enhancing interpretation of their writings and understanding of their moral vehemence

Performing Action Joseph R. Gusfield, 2017-09-08 In recent years the social sciences and the humanities have drawn closer to each other in thought and method This rapprochement has led to new perceptions of human behavior by sociologists as well as new methodological orientations Sociologist Joseph R Gusfield draws upon drama and fiction to show how human action is shaped by the formal dimensions of performance Gusfield first defines the concept of behavior as artistic performance He then analyzes routine and classic social research reports as literary performances in qualitative and quantitative terms Next he moves to social movements and public actions demonstrating how objects and events are products of the interpretation and reflection of individuals He draws upon literary and artistic conventions to deal with issues of representation and meaning In the first and last chapters Gusfield provides a conceptual summary examining the relation between sociology as science and art arguing that sociological methods are neither science nor art but partake of both Following the philosopher Paul Ricoeur Gusfield shows how human behavior can be read as a text always telling the participant or observer something about something Performing Action will be of interest to sociologists psychologists and students of aesthetics and critical theory

Bouncers Dick Hobbs, 2003 This text is an attempt to understand Britain's night time economy the violence that pervades it and the bouncers whose job it is to prevent it Britain's rapidly expanding night

life is one of the countries most vibrant economic spheres but it has created huge problems of violence and disorder

Visualizing Spanish Modernity Susan Larson, Eva Maria Woods, 2020-08-25 While the simultaneously creative and destructive forces of modernity in Western Europe have been well studied the case of Spain has often been overlooked Visualizing Spanish Modernity concentrates on the time period 1868 1939 which marks not only the beginning of the formation of a modern economy and the consolidation of the liberal state but also the growth of urban centers and spaces made possible by electricity transportation mass production and the emergence of an entertainment industry The authors examine how mass print culture early cinema popular drama photography fashion painting museums and urban planning played a role in the way that Spanish society saw itself and was in turn seen by the rest of the world Assessing how new cultural forms were instrumental in shaping Spaniards into citizens of the modern world the authors consider such subjects as the spectacle of the body notions of race and gender the changing meanings of time space and motion the relationship between technology and everyday life and popular culture The Routledge International Handbook of Goffman Studies Michael Hviid Jacobsen, Greg Smith, 2022-06-29 This book explores the fertility and enigma of Erving Goffman's sociological reasoning and its capacity to shed fresh light on the fundamental features of human sociality Thematically arranged it brings together the work of leading scholars of Goffman's work to explore the concepts and themes that define Goffman's analytical preoccupations examining the ways these ideas have shaped significant fields of study and situating Goffman's sociology in comparison to some eminent thinkers often linked with his name Through a series of chapters informed by the same inventive and imaginative spirit characteristic of Goffman's sociology the book presents fresh perspectives on his contribution to the field and reveals the value of his thought for a variety of disciplines now increasingly aware of the importance of Goffman's sociology to a range of social phenomena A fresh perspective on the legacy of one of sociology's most important figures The Routledge International Handbook of Goffman Studies will appeal to scholars across the social sciences with interests in interactionist and micro sociological perspectives Prose Poetry and the City Donna Stonecipher, 2017-11-20 In this fascinating book Donna Stonecipher doubles down on the development of prose poetry and the city Tactically her sweeping complex yet meticulous essay engages Baudelaire's sudden or is it sudden incursion from the constraints of verse into the roominess of prose paragraphs of place while linking civic horizontality and corporate verticality Tracking possibilities in using everything from architecture to landscape to cookbooks flneur like her essay exuberantly and expertly gathers together rhizomatic threads of thinkers and poets of the last two centuries Reads like a song Norma Cole This fascinating exploration of the prose poem begins with a question that most other studies have overlooked or taken for granted What if anything do cities and prose poetry have to do with each other Donna Stonecipher's touchstone for this question is Charles Baudelaire's prose poems in Le Spleen de Paris but her excavation of the relationship between the built environment of prose poem and city moves backwards to ancient Greece and forwards to the new sentence As Stonecipher

unpacks the dialogic space of the prose poem her essay moves vertically and horizontally providing histories of the skyscraper and the aesthetics and ethics of vertical ascension and much else As she moves nimbly through large swaths of intellectual architectural urban and aesthetic history Stonecipher engages debates central to poetics and to modernity itself taking seriously the challenge of considering how aesthetic forms register respond to and transform their built social and historical environments An indispensable and enlightening guide that is also a pleasure to read Susan Rosenbaum

Ordinary Cities Jennifer Robinson, 2013-07-04 This groundbreaking book establishes a new framework for thinking about urban development and crosses the longstanding divide in urban scholarship and urban policy between Western and other cities

The Media City Scott McQuire, 2008-02-21 If only more new media commentators had this level of historical critical reference engaging good stories and a degree of wonder at what media and windows bring to the city to life John Hutnyk Goldsmiths University of London Just when you thought the last word had been said about cities and media along comes Scott McQuire to breathe new life into the debate When revisiting existing pathways his always ingenious eyes produce startling and original insights When striking out into new territory he opens up before us inspiring new vistas I love this book James Donald University of New South Wales A book that crams into a single chapter more insights and illustrations than seems feasible yet which ties all threads together through a consistent theoretically rich analysis of the interplay of media and city Writing with effusiveness uncharacteristic of back cover blurbs on academic tomes James Donald says I love this book But I will end by echoing his praise and make a promise to readers you will love The Media City too European Journal of Communication Refreshingly clear getting to grips with some of the key concepts of urban sociology in a way that moves beyond the wistful evocation and splatter of undigested terms that characterises so much academic writing on culture and cities Media Culture Society Significant changes are occurring in the spaces and rhythms of contemporary cities and in the social functioning of media This forceful book argues that the redefinition of urban space by mobile instantaneous and pervasive media is producing a distinctive mode of social experience Media are no longer separate from the city Instead the proliferation of spatialized media platforms has produced a media architecture complex the media city Offering critical and historical analysis at the deepest levels The Media City links the formation of the modern city to the development of modern image technologies and outlines a new genealogy for assessing contemporary developments such as digital networks and digital architecture web cams and public screens surveillance society and reality television Wide ranging and thoughtfully illustrated it intersects disciplines and connects phenomena which are too often left isolated from each other to propose a new way of understanding public and private space and social life in contemporary cities It will find a broad readership in media and communications cultural studies social theory urban sociology architecture and art history Winner of the 2009 Jane Jacobs Urban Communication Award awarded by the Urban Communication Association

City Living Quill R Kukla, 2021-10-08 City Living is about urban spaces urban dwellers and how these spaces and people make

shape and change one another More people live in cities than ever before more than 50% of the earth s people are urban dwellers As downtown cores gentrify and globalize they are becoming more diverse than ever along lines of race ethnicity socioeconomic class sexuality and age Meanwhile we are in the early stages of what seems sure to be a period of intense civil unrest During such periods cities generally become the primary sites where tensions and resistance are concentrated negotiated and performed For all of these reasons understanding cities and contemporary city living is pressing and exciting from almost any disciplinary and political perspective Quill R Kukla offers the first systematic philosophical investigation of the nature of city life and city dwellers The book draws on empirical and ethnographic work in geography anthropology urban planning and several other disciplines in order to explore the impact that cities have on their dwellers and that dwellers have on their cities It begins with a philosophical exploration of spatially embodied agency and of the specific forms of agency and spatiality that are distinctive of urban life It explores how gentrification is enacted and experienced at the level of embodied agency arguing that gentrifying spaces are contested territories that shape and are shaped by their dwellers The book then moves to an exploration of repurposed cities which are cities materially designed to support one sociopolitical order but in which that order collapsed leaving new dwellers to use the space in new ways Through detailed original ethnography of the repurposed cities of Berlin and Johannesburg Kukla makes the case that in repurposed cities we can see vividly how material spaces shape and constrain the agency and experience of dwellers while dwellers creatively shape the spaces they inhabit in accordance with their needs The book concludes with a reconsideration of the right to the city asking what would be involved in creating a city that enabled the agency and flourishing of all its diverse inhabitants Last

Project Standing Catherine Fennell, 2015-11-28 In 1995 a half vacant public housing project on Chicago s Near West Side fell to the wrecking ball The demolition and reconstruction of the Henry Horner housing complex ushered in the most ambitious urban housing experiment of its kind smaller mixed income and partially privatized developments that the thinking went would mitigate the insecurity isolation and underemployment that plagued Chicago s infamously troubled public housing projects Focusing on Horner s redevelopment Catherine Fennell asks how Chicago s endeavor transformed everyday built environments into laboratories for teaching urbanites about the rights and obligations of belonging to a city and a nation that seemed incapable of taking care of its most destitute citizens Drawing on more than three years of ethnographic and archival research she shows how collisions with everything from haywire heating systems and decaying buildings to silent neighbors became an education in the possibilities but also the limits of collective care concern and protection in the aftermath of welfare failure As she documents how the materiality of both the unsuccessful older projects and the recently emerging housing fosters feelings of belonging and loss her work engages larger debates in critical anthropology and poverty studies and opens a vital new perspective on the politics of space race and development in urban America
