Encyclopaedia Britannica, 1894 Metternich's Diplomacy at its Zenith, 1820-1823 Paul W. Schroeder, 2014-05-23 What Metternich wanted at the peak of his career why he wanted it and the methods by which he achieved his goals are questions brilliantly answered in this survey and analysis of the Austrian chancellor's diplomacy during the period when he was the pre-eminent figure in European politics Metternich's single-minded objective during 1820-1823 was to preserve the Austrian hegemony he had gained in Central Europe after long wars enormous effort and great sacrifice If the internal security and international power position secured by Austria at the Congress of Vienna were to be defended against the impact of widespread revolution in Europe it was imperative that peace in Europe and the status quo be maintained This required an unyielding opposition to all political movements that might disturb the equilibrium especially French chauvinism and the spread of French constitutional ideas A one-man distillate of the doctrine of absolute monarchy Metternich was the relentless foe of any cause just or unjust that threatened European repose Hence when the revolution in Naples seriously menaced Austrian hegemony in Italy Metternich determined that the constitutional regime in Naples must be overthrown by an Austrian armed force an absolute monarchy restored and an Austrian army of occupation kept there Nor did he scruple to use duplicity secret negotiation trickery or deceit against ally and adversary alike in his effort to enlist them in the common cause of all thrones At the Congress of Troppau Metternich succeeded not only in defeating Russian ideas for peaceful intervention and a moderate constitution at Naples but also in converting Tsar Alexander to thoroughly conservative views thereby making Russia a powerful supporter of Austrian policies and knowingly alienating England formerly Austria's closest ally Paul W. Schroeder brings to this book exceptional scholarship and an objectivity hard to attain when dealing with a personality Although Metternich as Schroeder sees him doubtless helped to maintain European peace and order his real greatness consisted not in his European principles but in his ability to defend Austrian interests under the guise of European principles The evidence gathered from documentary material in the Haus Hof und Staatsarchiv in Vienna has forced the author to the conclusion that Metternich was no real statesman The very qualities that distinguished him as a brilliant diplomat keen vision cogent analysis fertility of expedients farsightedness flexibility and firmness of purpose were converted into those of blindness to reality superficial analysis sterility of expedients dogmatism and failure of will when confronted with fundamental problems of state and society

The Greek Revolution in the Age of Revolutions (1776-1848) Paschalis M. Kitromilides,2021-09-09 The Greek Revolution in the Age of Revolutions 1776 1848 brings together twenty one scholars and a host of original ideas revisionist arguments and new information to mark the bicentennial of the Greek Revolution of 1821 The purpose of this volume is to demonstrate the significance of the Greek liberation struggle to international history and to highlight how it was a turning point that signalled the revival of revolution in Europe after the defeat of the French Revolution in 1815 It argues that the sacrifices of rebellious Greeks paved the way for other resistance movements in European politics culminating in the spring of European peoples in 1848 Richly researched and innovative in approach this volume also considers the diplomatic and transnational aspects of the insurrection and examines hitherto unexplored dimensions of revolutionary change in the Greek world This book will appeal to scholars and students of the Age of Revolution as well as those interested in comparative and transnational history political theory and constitutional law
