Mullen, 2010-07-05 From monumental cathedrals to simple parish churches perhaps as many as 100 000 churches and civic buildings were constructed in Mexico during the viceregal or colonial period 1535 1821 Many of these structures remain today as witnesses to the fruitful blending of Old and New World forms and styles that created an architecture of enduring vitality In this profusely illustrated book Robert J Mullen provides a much needed overview of Mexican colonial architecture and its attendant sculpture Writing with just the right level of detail for students and general readers he places the architecture in its social and economic context He shows how buildings in the larger cities remained closer to European designs while buildings in the pueblos often included prehispanic indigenous elements This book grew out of the author s twenty five year exploration of Mexico s architectural and sculptural heritage Combining an enthusiast s love for the subject with a scholar s care for accuracy it is the perfect introduction to the full range of Mexico s colonial architecture      The Churches of Mexico 1530-1810 Joseph Armstrong Baird Jr., 2023-12-22 The Churches of Mexico 1530 1810 presents an in depth exploration of the architectural evolution in Mexico following the Spanish Conquest charting a remarkable transformation from indigenous aesthetics to a unique mestizo style that interweaves European and native influences This scholarly volume traces the impact of colonial rule on Mexican architecture from early convents to elaborate churches revealing the complex interplay of aesthetics local craftsmanship and shifting socio political forces As colonial Mexico developed local artisans and architects synthesized European styles with indigenous elements producing distinct regional styles across Oaxaca Guanajuato Puebla and Mexico City This comprehensive study offers an invaluable framework for

Foster, 2009 Praise for the previous editions well researched concise interesting American Reference Books Annual Being-in-Christ and Putting Death in Its Place Miles Richardson, 2006-09-01 Winner of the James Mooney Award of the Southern Anthropological Society In this bracingly original anthropological study Miles Richardson draws on forty years of empirical research to explore the paradox that while humans must die like all evolving life forms they have adapted a unique symbolic communication that makes them aware of their naturally occurring fate and through word and artifact they dwell upon that discovery Using the concepts of culture and place he illuminates how two groups Catholics in

Spanish America and Baptists in the American South create being in Christ and thereby put death in its place The book combines biological cultural archaeological and linguistic anthropology a rigorous evolutionary framework and a postmodern dialogic stance to view humanity as inescapably a product of nature without sacrificing the interpretative social constructions that turn a primate into a poem Hard won ethnographic detail and moving religious insight make this an enthralling work
