Institutions that fail to respond to shifting socio economic opportunities are thus forced to make new arrangements The enigma is posed by developments on the ground Why would the removal of authoritarian institutions during the Arab Spring or Iraq War not increase market efficiency but rather cause the reverse while China and India despite persisting insecure informal and common institutions featured sustained growth This collection posits that understanding these paradoxes requires a refocusing from form to function detached from normative assumptions about institutional appearance In so doing three things are accomplished First starting from case studies on land it is ascertained that the argument can be meaningfully extended to labour capital and beyond Second the argument validates the Credibility Thesis that is once institutions persist they fulfil a function Third the collection studies development broadly construed by including the modes of production and beyond the rural and urban the developed and developing This is why it reviews property rights from China and India to Turkey Mexico and Malaysia covering issues such as customary rights and privatization mining and pastoralism dam building and irrigation but also state owned banks trade unions and notaries This book was originally published as a special issue of The Journal of Peasant Studies Mexico Jaime Suchlicki, 2008 An updated edition of the classic survey of Mexico and its history Property Without Rights Michael Albertus, 2021-01-07 A new understanding of the causes and consequences of incomplete property rights in countries across the world The American Review of Reviews, 1924 Bibliography of Agriculture with Subject Index, 1966 Geographical Review, 1923 The Independent and the Weekly Review, 1922 Senate documents, 1892 Political Ecologies of Cattle Ranching in Northern Mexico Eric P. Perramond, 2010-04-15 Private ranchers survived the Mexican Revolution and the era of agrarian reforms and they continue to play key roles in the ecology and economy of northern Mexico In this study of the R o Sonora region of northern Mexico where ranchers own anywhere from several hundred to tens of thousands of acres Eric Perramond evaluates management techniques labor expenditures gender roles and decision making on private ranches of varying size By examining the economic and ecological dimensions of daily decisions made on and off the ranch he shows that contrary to prevailing notions ranchers rarely collude as a class unless land titles are at issue and that their decision making is as varied as the landscapes they oversee Through first hand observation field measurements and intimate ethnographies Perramond sheds light on a complex set of decisions made avoided and confronted by these land managers and their families He particularly shows that ranching has endured because of its extended kinship network its reliance on all household members and its close ties to local politics Perramond follows ranchers caught between debt drought and declining returns to demonstrate the novel approaches they have developed to adapt to changing economies and ecologies alike such as strategically marketing the ranches for wild game hunting or establishing small businesses that subsidize their lifestyles and livelihoods Even more importantly he reveals the false dichotomy between private and communal ranching Political Ecologies of Cattle Ranching in Northern Mexico is essential reading for anyone interested in the future of ranching in western North America Global

Environmental Forest Policies Constance McDermott, Benjamin Cashore, Peter Kanowski, 2010 This book provides a uniquely detailed and systematic comparison of environmental forest policies and enforcement in twenty countries worldwide covering developed transition and developing economies The goal is to enhance global policy learning and promote well informed and precisely tuned policy solutions
