The Wicked Problems of Police Reform in Canada Laura Huey, Lorna Ferguson, Jennifer L. Schulenberg, 2022-08-12 This book looks at police reform in Canada arguing that no significant and sustainable reform can occur until steps are taken to answer the question of What exactly do we want police to do Adding challenge to this is that setting boundaries on what we expect the police to do requires grappling with the complex social problems we ask them to resolve In public policy language these are wicked problems social or cultural issues frequently seen as intractable Authors Huey Ferguson and Schulenberg all policing scholars draw on a unique collection of data to explore these issues over 20 years of research 2000 2021 ranging from in depth interviews surveys and field observations to document analysis and systematic social observation Pooling this data generates a national level picture of changes in the policing operational environment over these decades This book focuses on four particular wicked problems mental health substance misuse homelessness missing persons with causes and potential preventative treatments that lie primarily outside the criminal justice system and yet continue to be treated as policing problems Bringing about changes in public policing requires changes in public policy and these are precisely the types of wicked problems that need innovative policy solutions This book is suitable for a wide range of audiences within and outside Canada including law enforcement and community leaders scholars and policy experts who specialize in policing students of criminal justice organizations and management and citizen consumers of information about policing

Killing Women Annette Burfoot, Susan Lord, 2011-04-07 The essays in Killing Women The Visual Culture of Gender and Violence find important connections in the ways that women are portrayed in relation to violence whether they are murder victims or killers The book's extensive cultural contexts acknowledge and engage with contemporary theories and practices of identity politics and debates about the ethics and politics of representation itself Does representation produce or reproduce the conditions of violence Is representation itself a form of violence This book adds significant new dimensions to the characterization of gender and violence by discussing nationalism and war feminist media and the depiction of violence throughout society

Settler Colonial Ways of Seeing Danielle Taschereau Mamers, 2023-12-05 An innovative analysis of Indigenous strategies for overcoming the settler state How do bureaucratic documents create and reproduce a state's capacity to see What kinds of worlds do documents help create Further how might such documentary practices and settler colonial ways of seeing be refused Settler Colonial Ways of Seeing investigates how the Canadian state has used documents lists and databases to generate make visible and invisible Indigenous identity With an archive of legislative documents registration forms identity cards and reports Danielle Taschereau Mamers traces the political and media history of Indian status in Canada demonstrating how paperwork has been used by the state to materialize identity categories in the service of colonial governance Her analysis of bureaucratic artifacts is led by the interventions of Indigenous artists including Robert Houle Nadia Myre Cheryl L Hirondele and Rebecca Belmore Bringing together media theories of documentation and the strategies of these artists Settler Colonial Ways of Seeing develops a method for identifying how bureaucratic documents mediate power relations as well as how those relations may be disobeyed and re imagined By integrating art led inquiry with media theory and settler colonial studies approaches Taschereau Mamers offers a political and media history of the documents that have reproduced Indian status More importantly she provides us with an innovative guide for using art as a method of theorizing decolonial political relations This is a crucial book for any reader interested in the intersection of state archives settler colonial studies and visual culture in the context of Canada's complex and violent relationship with Indigenous peoples

Gender Imbalance and Marriage Squeeze in China Quanbao Jiang, Shuzhuo Li, 2024-08-21 This book presents a comprehensive analysis of China's imbalanced sex ratio at birth and marriage market and the implications of these phenomena for population development and families China's persistently high sex ratio at birth SRB since the early 1980s has led to serious gender imbalance and male marriage squeeze After examining the quality of existing data on SRB the authors provide their estimates of the sex selective abortion rate describe the trends and geographical patterns in SRB and disaggregate changes in SRB by birth order and province Special attention is given to the number and proportion of missing girls between 1980 and 2010 Based on the quantitative analyses the book projects the implications of the severe gender imbalance for China's population development and the future dynamics of the marriage market including trends in age at first marriage the proportion of never married the age structure of surplus males and the life cycle of bare branch families The book will appeal to scholars and students of demography sociology and China studies especially those interested in China's population and contemporary society

Social Institutions and Gender Index SIGI 2021 Regional Report for Africa OECD, 2021-12-02 The SIGI 2021 Regional Report for Africa provides regional analysis on how discriminatory social institutions such as formal and informal laws social norms and practices continue to constrain women's empowerment and restrict their access to opportunities and rights It gives new evidence on the impact of these discriminatory social institutions on three key dimensions of women's empowerment across the region: their physical integrity, their economic situation and their political voice, leadership and agency. Reconciling Truths Kim Stanton, 2022-01-15. Hundreds of commissions of inquiry have been struck in Canada since before Confederation, but many of their recommendations have never been implemented. Reconciling Truths explores the role and implications of commissions such as Canada's Truth and Reconciliation Commission and the National Inquiry into Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women and Girls, and particularly their limits and possibilities in an era of reconciliation with Indigenous peoples. Whether it is a public inquiry, truth commission or royal commission, the chosen leadership and processes fundamentally affect its ability to achieve its mandate. Kim Stanton provides examples and in-depth critical analysis of these factors to offer practical guidance on how to improve the odds that recommendations will be implemented. As a forthright examination of the institutional design of public inquiries, Reconciling Truths affirms their potential to create a dialogue about issues of public importance that can prepare the way for policy development and shifts the dominant Canadian narrative over time. World Development Report 2012 World Bank, 2011-09-01. This year's World Development Report looks at facts and trends regarding the various dimensions of gender equality in the context of the development process. On the Politics of Ugliness Sara Rodrigues, Ela Przybylo, 2018-08-29. Ugliness or unsightliness is much more than a quality or property of an individual's appearance; it has long functioned as a social category that demarcates access to social, cultural and political spaces and capital. The editors and authors in this collection harness intersectional and interdisciplinary approaches in order to examine ugliness as a political category that is deployed to uphold established notions of worth and entitlement. On the Politics of Ugliness identifies and challenges the harmful effects that labels and feelings of ugliness have on individuals and the socio-political order. It explores ugliness in relation to the intersectional processes of racialization, colonization and settler colonialism, gender, making, ableism, heteronormativity and fatphobia. On the Politics of Ugliness asks that we fight against visual injustice and imagine new ways of seeing. Street Sex Work and Canadian Cities Shawna Ferris, 2015-03-02. Our voices scrubbed out and forgotten. There are those who research and write about sex workers who often forget we are human. Amy Lebovitch. Shawna Ferris gives a voice to sex workers who are often pushed to the background, even by those who fight for them. In the name of urban safety and orderliness, street sex workers face stigma, racism and ignorance. Their human rights are ignored and some even lose their lives. Ferris aims to reveal the cultural dimensions of this discrimination through literary and art, critical theory, legal and sociological research and activist intervention. Canadian cities are striving for high safety ratings by eliminating crime, which includes cleaning urban areas of the street sex industry. Ironically, sex workers also want to live and work in a safe environment. Ferris questions these sanitizing political agendas, reviews exclusionary legislative and police initiatives and examines media representations of sex workers. This book has much to offer to educators and activists, sex workers and anti-violence organizations and academics studying women, cultural gender or Indigenous issues. Foreword by
