Process Management Why Project Management Fails:

Process Management Hans de Bruijn, Ernst ten Heuvelhof, Roel in 't Veld, 2010-08-13 End pro t and loss account As a result there will be a stage at which the parties have developed relations and prospects of gain while there are still a number of problems that are dif cult to solve and that fail to evoke consensus Each party will then draw up a pro t and loss account On the positive side of the balance are the relations developed and the gains collected on the negative side there are the losses and the unsolved problems For particular parties who have no interest in the problem the latter side is uninteresting for others who have an interest in a particular solution of this problem it represents a form of loss Pro t and loss balance positive for a critical mass speed The speed of the process will increase if the pro t and loss account shows a positive balance for a critical mass of parties They wish to collect their gains and therefore to make nal decisions At this point there will be an important psychological mec nism parties tend to anticipate on collecting their gains which increases their urge to speed up the process It is clear from the above however that the end of a process is dif cult to predict Process Management Hans de Bruijn, Ernst Ten Heuvelhof, Roel J. A. van der Sanden, Marc J. de Vries, 2016-11-25 Science technology education on the one hand and communication on the other are to a large extent still separate worlds and many opportunities for synergy and cross fertilisation are yet unused This divide is unfortunate since educators need communication skills and communicators often use aspects of education in their strategies Moreover innovation processes in both domains ask for education and communication insights and skills Therefore scholars and practitioners in both domains must seek connections and synergy by exchanging insights and ideas This book discusses the shared aims of science technology education and communication such as science literacy and engagement as well as common processes and challenges such as social learning social design and professionalisation and assessment Aims processes and challenges that inspire enhance and deepen the education and communication synergy from a theoretical and practical side If one reads the various chapters and reflects on them from one's own perspective as a scholar or practitioner the question is no longer if cross fertilisation and synergy are needed but when are we seriously going to take up this challenge together This book aims to initiate the dialogue that the situation in the development of the topic requires at this point A Relational Approach to Governing Wicked Problems Peeter Selg, Georg Sootla, Benjamin Klasche, 2023-12-13 The book initiates a relational turn in policy making and governance by developing further relational political analysis and by taking relational thinking to bear on not just analytic descriptive issues but also to normative prescriptive issues The need for such a turn this book argues comes from the ever increasing relevance of addressing the so called wicked problems of governance like climate change COVID 19 kinds of pandemics global economic recessions and refugee crises The book argues for a need to rethink governance as a process from the relational point of view to spur its potential for addressing these problems What needs to be rethought is not so much the specific tools or resources of governance but the very issue of whether governance should be seen in terms of tools and resources in the first place This book contributes to this discussion by consolidating the relational approaches to governance thus far and by taking them to a next normative prescriptive level
