Production Rights in European Agriculture D. Barthelemy, J. David, 2001-05-21 Rather than simply cataloging the various interpretations of European regulations by Member States this international team examines the economic priorities the legal bases the social norms and cultural patterns which come into play presenting an analytical approach to the study of production rights in European agriculture This work traces the emergence and the economic and legal content of the different income support tools for agricultural producers collectively termed production rights and it looks at the foundations of the specific national conceptions underlying the methods of organising agricultural activity The book is intended for a varied readership farmers themselves of course but also economic legal and tax consultants experts lawyers notaries as well as students teachers and researchers It has been set out in such a way as to allow readers to move freely from one subject to another depending on whether their interest lies in economic aspects or legal developments or whether they are more concerned by certain production rights or by certain features of their own organisation The goal of the book is to enable the reader to grasp the special features and the significance of the forces which have shaped the current income support instruments for producers in the various Member States of the EU and which will unquestionably continue to influence the measures which flow from reforms to the Common Agricultural Policy in the years to come

Research Handbook on EU Agriculture Law Joseph A. McMahon, Michael N. Cardwell, 2015-11-27 Following the conclusion of the latest round of reforms to the Common Agricultural Policy CAP in 2013 the Research Handbook on EU Agriculture Law provides an up to date discussion of these reforms and the changing landscape in which the CAP now operates Adopting an interdisciplinary approach and with international contributors from across Europe and the United States the Handbook commences with analyses of the legal instruments which implement the reformed CAP before moving on to consider questions of land use the role of agriculture within the wider food chain and the international dimension In these contexts particular issues identified include the environmental impact of past present and future farming practices the ability of the food chain to accommodate consumer preferences and scientific innovation and the hurdles to be cleared before international consensus can be reached on a whole range of agricultural imperatives As well as providing a state of the art point of reference for academics this comprehensive book will be of great interest to students scholars and policymakers dealing with these new challenges faced by agriculture in the EU

Nature and Agriculture in the European Union Floor Brouwer, Jan van der Straaten, 2002-01-01 Nature and agriculture both shape the European countryside and one of the main challenges for the years to come will be to strengthen their interaction for the future development of rural areas In this valuable and highly topical book the authors demonstrate how economics and ecology can play a critical role in maintaining and sustaining this relationship The book identifies the dilemmas facing European agriculture and explores their economic and ecological consequences The authors believe a better understanding of these problems will be crucial in recognising the potential options for the future role of agriculture and nature policy and will guide the identification of suitable policy instruments They highlight current threats to the relationship between agriculture and nature such as abandonment and intensification and demonstrate how these problems can be resolved by a rational policy mix The book also provides extensive empirical evidence from four case studies and concludes by scrutinising the major changes in market conditions and the Common Agricultural Policy which could upset this important but fragile balance between agriculture and nature

Structural Change in the Farming Sectors in Central and Eastern Europe Csaba Csáki, Zvi Lerman, 2000-01-01 Farm structures in Central and Eastern Europe CEE today cover a whole spectrum of forms which include small subsistence oriented household plots medium sized commercial family farms and large corporations The agricultural sector in CEE definitely has not embraced the family farm as the dominant farming structure thus confounding the original expectations of Western experts On the other hand agriculture did not collapse because of fragmentation and privatization as predicted by conservative doomsayers To address the concerns of the farming sector in CEE with relation to EU accession a workshop was held in Warsaw Poland in June 1999 This volume represents a selection of papers presented at this workshop It examines the reforms and policy changes necessary in the food and agriculture sectors of the ten countries that have started the accession process for eventual membership in the European Union Bulgaria Czech Republic Estonia Hungary Latvia Lithuania Poland Romania Slovakia and Slovenia The papers are organized around the following three topics Evolving farm structures and competitiveness in agriculture Land laws and legal institutions for development of land markets and farm restructuring and Development of farm services for improved competitiveness This volume will be of interest to agricultural policy makers and government officials in the candidate
