ABSTRACT

Teaching is a very immense and influential field that requires its practitioners to have encouraging behavior and certain confident competency. Every teacher plays a huge part in the efficacy of teaching occupation with their professional ethics. Professional ethics helps every teacher in the upholding of simplicity and confidentiality in the educational system. In the present study, the investigator aimed to study the attitude of students in professional ethics at college of education towards their profession and to find out the students about their level of attitude towards teaching profession on the variables. To carry out this research self-made tool was used on Attitude towards Teaching Profession. Also Survey method was adopted for this study. The collected data were analyzed with descriptive and differential analyses. The results were revealed that the students, who studied in college of education, have average professional ethics. As well the demographic variables wise analysis showed that there is no significant difference to their gender, courses of the students, parental qualification, stream of study and management of college. Hence, there is a significant difference in professional ethics in the locality of college. Therefore, the positive attitude helps teacher to develop a learner friendly environment in the classroom.

INTRODUCTION

"The density of a country is shaped in its classrooms" stated that the Indian Education Commission (1964-66). The moral education is generally known as value education. The value education is consisting of values, such as ethical, spiritual, religious, cultural, human and social values. The value education plays a special role to inculcate moral values any human, also it has more responsible in making good citizens in the society, as like as value education helps students and human society for character development, personality development and spiritual development. More over Ethical value development includes both thinking morally and behaving morally at any time.

An ethical person is not only a person who does the right thing, but also one who does the right thinking for the 'right' reason. That ethical value arises in the courses of moral experiences. The teacher is the builder of a pleasant society. The over-all development of every student depends upon the professional competency and ability of the teacher. Ethics in profession, however cannot be channelized in many directions, morally the strong dedicated teacher can play the role model in moral education. Though a teacher is the mainly responsible person to the society, but their professional ethics are more essential to become a good teacher. In this 21st century, all teachers belong to a learning society in which they are always to be a non-stop learner and to play their role effectively.

ETHICS

Ethics is defined by the Oxford Dictionary as dealing to morals and treating moral issues; it is also morally upright and honourable. Additionally, according to the Psychology Dictionary, it is a subfield of philosophy that examines what constitutes proper or improper, good or poor, human behaviour when pursuing

Bruce Maxwell, 2008-04-01 1 1 Practical Ethics Education at an Impasse Why is some practical ethics training a requirement of nearly all programmes in higher education The short answer is that it is thought to be conducive to ethical decision making and ethical behaviour In recent years the received idea that competency in moral reasoning implies moral responsibility on the ground has been the subject of critical attention Today researchers in moral education widely regard moral reasoning as but one among at least four dimensions of moral development alongside moral motivation moral character and moral sensitivity Rest 1986 Reflecting these changes educationalists in the diverse fields of medicine education business and applied ethics can now be found openly questioning how to take practical ethics education beyond the development of skills in moral reasoning Frequently topping the list of suggested improvements is to provide support for empathic capacities of response This work gives this proposal the systematic attention that it deserves Contemporary applied ethics and by extension practical and professional ethics education can be considered an offshoot of the broad philosophical doctrine of moral realism Moral realism takes many forms but in broad outline it is an established meta ethical position that emerged as a seemingly attractive alternative to another family of established philosophical positions that sometimes goes under the name of expressivism
