Projecting Paranoia Conspiratorial Visions In American Film Culture America:

Projecting Paranoia Ray Pratt, 2001 A wide ranging and idiosyncratic look at sixty years of politics and film that uncovers how American movies have mirrored and even challenged anxieties and paranoid perceptions embedded in American society since the start of the Cold War The first book to take a sweeping look at 60 years of film and analyze them thematically

Conspiracy Theories in American History Peter Knight, 2003-12-11 The first comprehensive history of conspiracies and conspiracy theories in the United States Conspiracy Theories in American History An Encyclopedia is the first comprehensive research based scholarly study of the pervasiveness of our deeply ingrained culture of conspiracy From the Puritan witch trials to the Masons from the Red Scare to Watergate Whitewater and the War on Terror this encyclopedia covers conspiracy theories across the breadth of U S history examining the individuals organizations and ideas behind them Its over 300 alphabetical entries cover both the documented records of actual conspiracies and the cultural and political significance of specific conspiracy speculations Neither promoting nor dismissing any theory the entries move beyond the usual biased rhetoric to provide a clear sighted dispassionate look at each conspiracy real or imagined Readers will come to understand the political and social contexts in which these theories arose the mindsets and motivations of the people promoting them the real impact of society s reactions to conspiracy fears warranted or not and the verdict when verifiable that history has passed on each case

Conspiracy Theories in the United States and the Middle East Michael Butter, Maurus Reinkowski, 2014-02-27 Conspiracy Theories in the United States and the Middle East is the first book to approach conspiracy theorizing from a decidedly comparative and interdisciplinary perspective Whereas previous studies have engaged with conspiracy theories within national frameworks only this collection of essays draws attention to the fact that conspiracist visions are transnational narratives that travel between and connect different cultures It focuses on the United States and the Middle East because these two regions of the world are entangled in manifold ways and conspiracy theories are currently extremely prominent in both The contributors to the volume are scholars of Middle Eastern Studies Anthropology History Political Science Cultural Studies and American Studies who approach the subject from a variety of different theories and methodologies However all of them share the fundamental assumption that conspiracy theories must not be dismissed out of hand or ridiculed Usually wrong and frequently dangerous they are nevertheless articulations of and distorted responses to needs and anxieties that must be taken seriously Focusing on individual case studies and displaying a high sensitivity for local conditions and the cultural environment the essays offer a nuanced image of the workings of conspiracy theories in the United States and the Middle East

Projecting Paranoia Ray Pratt, 2001 A wide ranging and idiosyncratic look at sixty years of politics and film that uncovers how American movies have mirrored and even challenged anxieties and paranoid perceptions embedded in American society since the start of the Cold War The first book to take a sweeping look at 60 years of film and analyze them thematically

Madness in Cold War America Alexander

Dunst,2016-08-19 This book tells the story of how madness came to play a prominent part in America's political and cultural debates. It argues that metaphors of madness rise to unprecedented popularity amidst the domestic struggles of the early Cold War and become a pre-eminent way of understanding the relationship between politics and culture in the United States. In linking the individual psyche to society, psychopathology contributes to issues central to post-World War II society: a dramatic extension of state power, the fate of the individual in bureaucratic society, the political function of emotions and the limits to admissible dissent. Such vocabulary may accuse opponents of being crazy. Yet at stake is a fundamental error of judgment for which madness provides welcome metaphors across US diplomacy and psychiatry, social movements and criticism, literature and film. In the process, major parties and whole historical eras, literary movements and social groups are declared insane. Reacting against violence at home and war abroad, countercultural authors oppose a sane madness to irrational reason, romanticizing the wisdom of the schizophrenic and paranoia's superior insight. As the Sixties give way to a plurality of lifestyles, an alternative vision arrives of a madness now become so widespread and ordinary that it may finally escape pathology.

America Is Elsewhere Erik Dussere,2014 This study conceives the literary and cinematic category of noir as a way of understanding the defining conflict between authenticity and consumer culture in post-World War II America. It analyses works of fiction and film in order to argue that both contribute to a noir tradition that is initiated around the end of World War II and continues to develop and evolve in the present.

Noise Channels Peter Krapp,2011-10-28 Brings to light the critical role of noise and error in the creative potential of digital culture.

American Science Fiction Film and Television Lincoln Geraghty,2009-10-01 American Science Fiction Film and Television presents a critical history of late 20th Century SF together with an analysis of the cultural and thematic concerns of this popular genre. Science fiction film and television were initially inspired by the classic literature of HG Wells and Jules Verne. The potential and fears born with the Atomic age fuelled the popularity of the genre, upping the stakes for both technology and apocalypse. From the Cold War through to America's current War on Terror, science fiction has proved a subtle vehicle for the hopes, fears and preoccupations of a nation at war. The definitive introduction to American science fiction, this is also the first study to analyse SF across both film and TV. Throughout the discussion is illustrated with critical case studies of key films and television series including The Day the Earth Stood Still, Planet of the Apes, Star Trek: The Next Generation, The X-Files and Battlestar Galactica.

A Genre Approach to Celebrity Politics Nahuel Ribke,2015-03-17 Exploring the transition of celebrities into institutional electoral politics, the book argues that many insights developed by genre theorists could be highly instrumental to understand the celebrity politics phenomenon. It analyzes the historical and cultural specificity of celebrity politics as it evolved through different countries and cultures.

Affect Poetics of the New Hollywood Hauke Lehmann,2019-12-02 How is affective experience produced in the cinema? And how can we write a history of this experience? By asking these questions, this study by Hauke Lehmann aims at rethinking our conception of a critical period in US film history: the New

Hollywood as a moment of crisis that can neither be reduced to economic processes of adaption nor to a collection of masterpieces Rather the fine grained analysis of core films reveals the power of cinematic images to affect their audiences to confront them with the new The films of the New Hollywood redefine the divisions of the classical genre system in a radical way and thereby transform the way spectators are addressed affectively in the cinema The study describes a complex interplay between three modes of affectivity suspense paranoia and melancholy All three each in their own way implicate spectators in the deep seated contradictions of their own feelings and their ways of being in the world their relations to history to society and to cultural fantasy On this basis Affect Poetics of the New Hollywood projects an original conception of film history as an affective history which can be re written up to the present day

Visual Paranoia in Rear Window, Blow-Up and The Truman Show Eva Schwarz, 2012-02-27 Against the backdrop of recent postmodern discourse on cultural theory Eva Schwarz provides a gripping analysis of the concept of what she describes as visual paranoia Her study is based on a detailed analysis of three films Alfred Hitchcock's Rear Window USA 1954 Michelangelo Antonioni's Blow up GB 1966 and Peter Weir's The Truman Show USA 1998 The starting point of all three analyses is the representation of the postmodern media and information age as an incisive culture of the visual which coincides with the general socio political trend of cultural paranoia the roots of which are to be found in American politics and society of the late 1940s and which has since permeated Anglo American culture The discourse on the truthfulness of images the reality of visual representations and the visual as such forms the context out of which the theory of the development of visual paranoia arises While other paranoia films usually thrillers or science fiction films concern themselves with the sociopolitical manifestation of cultural paranoia the three films chosen for Schwarz's study focus on the fundamental crisis of the visual as such from scopophilic paranoia in Rear Window to photographic paranoia in Blow Up culminating in the scopophobic manifestation of visual paranoia in The Truman Show The once valid saying seeing is believing can no longer be taken for granted In postmodern times the visual cannot be trusted any more

Murray,2010-06-09 In recent years we have seen a continuation and perhaps even acceleration in the trend of popular culture having a discernible effect on politics From The Daily Show to candidates use of Facebook and MySpace politics have opened up to new technologies as we come online for the next generation Our political world has become popularized or our popular world has become politicized in a new way facilitated by the entertainment media and new technologies This volume s authors attempt to make sense of the changing political popular world through a series of interdisciplinary essays that explore the ramifications of popular cultural depictions of politics drawing on literature in a variety of fields political science history literature fine arts and communications We explore three major phenomena in a politicized popular culture First we explore the role that the entertainment media play in understanding politics What is interesting about our fictional political worlds is we are allowed as a people to consider different political ideals without the baggage of our last vote or our ideology We can step outside ourselves and challenge the way we think on particular issues Second we explore the real world of politics as it has been shaped over the last century of new technology As powerful a medium television proved to be to politics the latest technological breakthroughs have proved to be a paradigmatic shift From Twitter to Facebook our politicians are able to keep in almost constant contact with their constituencies which has vast implications for the way political discourse will progress Third we explore what happens when the real world and media collide Entertainment media change their messages when major political events happen such as the case when spymaster tropes were forced to evolve when 9 11 changed the international dynamic Robert Ludlum s Jason Bourne series had to be conceptualized on film in a new way after this event The more connected our political world and our popular world become and given the trends we can only assume they will become increasingly intertwined the more important it is for us to understand how these connections affect the world This volume is a powerful pass at comprehending all that is happening across the politicized popular world The Rhetoric of the New Political Documentary Thomas W Benson,Brian J Snee,2008-05-23 The Rhetoric of the New Political Documentary explores the most visible and volatile element in the 2004 presidential campaign the partisan documentary film This collection of original critical essays by leading scholars and critics including Shawn J and Trevor Parry Giles Jennifer L Borda and Martin J Medhurst analyzes a selection of political documentaries that appeared during the 2004 election season

The editors examine the new political documentary with the tools of rhetorical criticism combining close textual analysis with a consideration of the historical context and the production and reception of the films. The essays address the distinctive rhetoric of the new political documentary with the films typically having been shot with relatively low budgets in video and using interviews and stock footage rather than observation of uncontrolled behavior. The quality was often good enough and interest was sufficiently intense that the films were shown in theaters and on television which provided legitimacy and visibility before they were released soon afterwards on DVD and VHS and marketed on the Internet. The volume reviews such films as Michael Moore's Fahrenheit 9/11, two refutations of Moore's film Fahrenheit 9/11 and Celsius 41.11, Unprecedented: The 2000 Presidential Election and George W. Bush: Faith in the White House, films that experimented with a variety of angles and rhetorics from a mix of comic disparagement and earnest confrontation to various emulations of traditional news and documentary voices. The Rhetoric of the New Political Documentary represents the continued transformation of American political discourse in a partisan and contentious time and showcases the independent voices and the political power brokers that struggled to find new ways to debate the status quo and employ surrogate independents to create a counter-rhetoric.

The Astronaut Dario Llinares, 2011-05-25. The Astronaut: Cultural Mythology and Idealised Masculinity interrogates the historical and cultural dynamics of one of the most revered icons of the 20th century. Analysing a diverse range of cultural representations, the book postulates the construction of an intertextual mythology through which the astronaut becomes an embodiment of American ideological values and heroic manhood. The discursive processes at work in the range of media texts examined serve to embed the astronaut into the cultural imaginary as a largely coherent and uncontested exemplar of idealised masculinity. Using a range of interdisciplinary analytical tools, the book examines how the social construction of this masculine ideal iterates and naturalises gender hegemony. The book situates the astronaut within the context of a modern/postmodern theoretical framework linking shifts in gender perspectives to the contradictory narratives and characterisations that inform the mediation of the astronaut. In so doing, the book argues for a re-evaluation of the often oversimplified use of the term hegemonic masculinity as an anchoring point for the critique of masculinity. The strength of this work is its interdisciplinary diversity and its interconnection of a range of themes including gender representation, history, ideology, the postmodern, and the media. Drawing upon contemporary theoretical debates while redeploying seminal theoretical texts, the book offers new cultural interrogations of a highly familiar historical subject.

A Companion to the Modern American Novel, 1900 - 1950 John T. Matthews, 2013-03-25. This cutting-edge Companion is a comprehensive resource for the study of the modern American novel.
