Post-Production and the Invisible Revolution of Filmmaking George Larkin,2018-12-07 Post Production and the Invisible Revolution of Filmmaking studies the discourses surrounding post production as well as the aesthetic effects of its introduction during the 1920s and 1930s by exploring the philosophies and issues faced by practitioners during this transitional transformative period The introduction of post production during the transition from silent cinema to the synchronized sound era in the 1920s American studio system resulted in what has been a previously unheralded and invisible revolution in filmmaking Thereafter a film no longer arose from a live and variable combination of audio and visual in the theater as occurred during the silent film era where each exhibition was a singular event The new system of post production effectively shifted control of a film's final form from the theater to the editing room. With this new process filmmakers could obtain and manipulate an array of audio elements and manufacture a permanent soundtrack. This transition made possible a product that could be easily mass produced serving both to transform and homogenize film presentation fundamentally creating a new art form. With detailed research and analysis and nearly 50 illustrations this book is the ideal resource for students and researchers of film history and post production.

The A to Z of French Cinema

Dayna Oscherwitz, MaryEllen Higgins, 2009-09-02 It can be argued that cinema was created in France by Louis Lumière in 1895 with the invention of the cinematographe the first true motion picture camera and projector. While there were other cameras and devices invented earlier that were capable of projecting intermittent motion of images the cinematographe was the first device capable of recording and externally projecting images in such a way as to convey motion. Early films such as Lumière's La Sortie de l'usine a minute long film of workers leaving the Lumière factory captured the imagination of the nation and quickly inspired the likes of Georges Méliès, Alice Guy and Charles Pathé. Through the years French cinema has been responsible for producing some of the world's best directors Jean Renoir, Jean-Luc Godard, François Truffaut and Louis Malle and actors Charles Boyer, Catherine Deneuve, Gérard Philipe and Audrey Tautou. The A to Z of French Cinema covers the history of French film from the silent era to the present in a concise and up to date volume detailing the development of French cinema and major theoretical and cultural issues related to it. This is done through a chronology, an introduction, photographs, a bibliography and hundreds of cross referenced dictionary entries on many of the major actors, directors, films, movements, producers and studios associated with French cinema. Going beyond mere biographical information entries also discuss the impact and significance of each individual film movement or studio included. This detailed scholarly analysis of the development of film in France is useful to both the novice and the expert alike.

The Seeing Century, 2021-10-25

The twentieth century with all its turbulence and change its conflicts and its discoveries was perhaps above all the century of cinema and The Seeing Century offers an innovative international and interdisciplinary exploration of the role cinema plays in contemporary life and culture and the complex and fascinating relationship between screen images and our changing concepts of personal and national identity. Rejecting the compartmentalisation that has traditionally marked film studies and confronting an impressively eclectic range of material fifteen essays by leading academics from around the world cut across divergent cultures, languages and genres mainstream Hollywood rubs shoulders with low budget Icelandic or Sicilian cinema and the popular and the esoteric feature alongside each other. In this way the reader is offered a stimulating overview which directly addresses the contradictions and ambiguities inherent in the relationship between film and identity and reveals the vibrancy of contemporary film debate to which The Seeing Century makes an important and thought provoking contribution.

The Cinema of Louis Malle Philippe Met, 2018-09-11 Arguably a pioneer of the French New Wave with Ascenseur pour l'échafaud 1957 Louis Malle went on to enjoy an acclaimed yet provocative and versatile transatlantic career. This collection of original essays proposes to reassess his richly eclectic and boldly subversive oeuvre and redress the surprising critical neglect it has suffered over the years. It does so through a combination of transversal and monographic analyses that use a variety of critical lenses and theoretical tools in order to examine Malle's documentaries as well as his fiction features and more importantly the constant shuttling and uniquely persistent cross pollination between those two cinematic approaches illuminate the profound lasting dialogue his films entertained with literature and theater bring to the fore their sustained albeit often oblique autobiographical thrust along with their scathing sociopolitical critique and scrutinize the alternating use of stars and non professional actors. In addition the volume features an exclusive interview with the acclaimed playwright John Guare a close friend and collaborator of Louis Malle's who scripted Atlantic City and is bookended by a foreword by Volker Schlöndorff and an afterword by Wes Anderson two renowned filmmakers who articulate their admiration for and the seminal influence of their predecessor.

Janet Leigh Michelangelo Capua, 2013-02-01 For the first decade of her career Leigh appeared as the stereotypical nice girl. She was cast opposite some of the industry's biggest names including Robert Mitchum in Holiday Affair Stewart Granger in Scaramouche James Stewart in The Naked Spur and Charlton Heston in Touch of Evil. Alfred Hitchcock's Psycho supplied her most memorable role Marion Crane who is murdered before the picture is half over. The part earned Leigh an Academy Award nomination. From 1951 to 1962 Leigh was married to favorite co star Tony Curtis. They had two daughters Kelly and Jamie Lee Curtis both of whom followed in their parents professional footsteps. This book reveals and reflects upon Janet Leigh's life and career and also extensively analyzes her films and television appearances.
