The Routledge Encyclopedia of Language Teaching and Learning Michael Byram,2002 The German Language in British Higher Education Sylvia Jaworska,2009 The discipline of German Studies in English speaking countries is in crisis and the situation in British Higher Education can be seen as a paradigmatic example Symptoms of the crisis are a dramatic decrease in the number of students financial difficulties and the resulting closures of German Departments Furthermore the language skills which finally emerge from universities are not always satisfactory The present book sheds light on key aspects of the institutionalised teaching and learning of German language in the UK The first part the macro context surveys the socio political developments that have recently affected the sector of modern languages and specifically the discipline of German Studies The second part the micro context zooms in to the teaching and learning as experienced from both students and teachers perspective Ultimately by linking the macro analysis with the micro findings the present book proposes a number of strategies which could contribute to the optimisation and enhancement of teaching and learning German in British Higher Education Recent Perspectives on Task-Based Language Learning and Teaching Mohammad

Ahmadian,María del Pilar García Mayo,2017-12-04 The last three decades have witnessed a growth of interest in research on tasks from various perspectives and numerous books and collections of articles have been published focusing on the notion of task and its utility in different contexts Nevertheless what is lacking is a multi faceted examination of tasks from different important perspectives This edited volume with four sections of three chapters each views tasks and Task based Language Teaching TBLT from four distinct but complementary vantage points In the first section all chapters view tasks from a cognitive interactionist angle with each addressing one key facet of either cognition or interaction or both in different contexts CALL and EFL ESL Section two hinges on the idea that language teaching and learning is perhaps best conceptualized understood and investigated within a complexity theory framework which accounts for the dynamicity and interrelatedness of the variables involved Viewing TBLT from a sociocultural lens is what connects the chapters included in the third section Finally the fourth section views TBLT from pedagogical and curricular vantage points Handbook of Business Communication Gerlinde Mautner,Franz Rainer,2017-07-24 In spite of the day to day relevance of business communication it remains underrepresented in standard handbooks and textbooks on applied linguistics The present volume introduces readers to a wide variety of linguistic studies of business communication ranging from traditional LSP approaches to contemporary discourse based work and from the micro level of lexical choice to macro level questions of language policy and culture Literary Works in Foreign Language Acquisition Asst. Cinganotto, 2021-05-14 Widely spread all over Europe and the world Content and Language Integrated Learning CLIL is the subject of great interest as the ultimate frontier of linguistic and pedagogical research It impinges on the general cognitive processes involved in learning on language acquisition and on the development of digital competencies This volume attests to the spreading of the new CLIL literacy in the frame of pluriliteracies and derives theoretical reflections from case studies and experiential reports thus addressing both academic and school instructors It combines research from international CLIL experts with the critical perspectives of academics not directly involved in its instruction

Insights into the European

Portfolio for Student Teachers of Languages (EPOSTL) David Newby, 2011-11-15 2007 saw the publication of the European Portfolio for Student Teachers of Languages EPOSTL by the Council of Europe the result of a project carried out under the auspices of the European Centre for Modern Languages The central aim of this project was to produce a document which would contribute to the harmonisation of teacher education in Europe The EPOSTL is a portfolio intended for students undergoing their initial teacher education which encourages them to reflect on the didactic knowledge and skills necessary to teach languages helps them to self assess their own didactic competences and enables them to monitor their progress and to record their experiences of teaching during the course of their teacher education At its heart are 195 descriptors of didactic competences which teachers strive to attain The EPOSTL has since been translated into 13 languages and is used widely across Europe and beyond The main aim of Insights into the European Portfolio for Student Teachers of Languages EPOSTL is to explore important theoretical issues an understanding of which is necessary to support the use of the EPOSTL

in teacher education programmes The first part of the book provides discussions of relevant theoretical areas the role of reflection learner autonomy and intercultural awareness In the second part the focus is on the relationship between the EPOSTL and other European publications such as the Common European Framework of Reference and the European Profile for Language Teacher Education Suggestions are made as to how they can be used together in teacher education The final section provides case studies on the use of the EPOSTL in three European countries Whether users of the EPOSTL or not both teacher educators and their students will find that the discussions of this book provide important insights into key aspects of teacher education
