A Royal Passion Robert W. Berger,1994 A Short History of Europe, 1600-1815 Lisa Rosner,John Theibault,2015-03-26 A concise survey that introduces readers to the people ideas and conflicts in European history from the Thirty Years War to the Napoleonic Era The authors draw on gender studies environmental history anthropology and cultural history to frame the essential argument of the work Louis XIV's Architect Richard Ballard,2023-12-30 A must read for those seeking to understand the intersection of politics and art in a pivotal moment of European history This is a study of royal absolutism in a most extreme form in modern European history and of the nature of Louis XIV s concept of personal glory and of the embodiment of France as a new superpower It is a study of political ideas expressed in architecture to establish Versailles as the centre of French world power and royal prestige It is also a personal story full of social cultural and economic history of the period as seen in the life and work of Louis Le Vau from a humble family of craftsmen who was a self taught architect in the early history of the profession skilled in technical craft skills and even grand design He was a major contributor to the architectural glories of Paris including the Louvre Vincennes Versailles and the College of the Four Nations And all achieved despite interference from the great magnates of the age like Mazarin and Colbert and constant mind changing by the King who wanted every feature in the buildings to reflect his concept of personal royal prestige Le Vau was Louis XIV s First Architect from 1654 until his death and disgrace in 1670 The social cultural economic and political backdrop is striking with court intrigue scandal corruption luxury indulgence and the rise of a rich bourgeoisie but the main thrust of the story concerns Louis XIV and the royal personal ambition and the work of a stone cutter s son who became the Sun King s instrument The study is good on the more technical features of architectural history reminiscent of Pevsner s marvellous Buildings of England series Louis XIV G.R.R. Treasure,2018-10-24 Louis IV represents the apogee of French royal power and the Ancien Regime Having restored the nation s finances and rebuilt the army he embarked on a series of wars of conquest which made France universally feared and respected as the central power of continental Europe In the age of Moliere Corneille Racine et al French culture blossomed at the court of Versailles The counterpoint to these achievements was the emasculation of the political and legal institutions that might have limited the exercise of the royal will In this new history Geoffrey Treasure explores a unique combination of a personal philosophy moulded by absolutist thinking and propaganda and by Marzarin s deliberate training He examines the influences and traits which permitted the growth of this particular exercise of power and its descent into an absolutism that ultimately set France on the road to 1789 The Making of Modern Europe, 1648-1780 Geoffrey Treasure,2003-12-16 This reissue of a classic textbook has been revised and updated with a new introduction by the author Geoffrey Treasure provides a thoroughly comprehensive account of the European experience at a time when so much of what is today identified as modern began to take shape Discussing key issues of the period The Making of Modern Europe 1647 1980 examines the evolution of the developing society detailed

Palaces of Reason Robin L. Thomas, 2023-11-09 Palaces of Reason traces the fascinating history of three royal residences built outside of Naples in the eighteenth century at Capodimonte Portici and Caserta Commissioned by King Charles of Bourbon and Queen Maria Amalia of Saxony who reigned over the Kingdom of the Two Sicilies these buildings were far more than residences for the monarchs They were designed to help reshape the economic and cultural fortunes of the realm The palaces at Capodimonte Portici and Caserta are among the most complex architectural commissions of the eighteenth century Considering the architecture and decoration of these complexes within their political cultural and economic contexts Robin L Thomas argues that Enlightenment ideas spurred their construction and influenced their decoration These modes of thinking saw the palaces as more than just centers of royal pleasure or muscular assertions of the crown's power Indeed writers and royal ministers viewed them as active agents in improving the cultural political social and economic health of the kingdom By casting the palaces within this narrative Thomas counters the assumption that they were imitations of Versailles and the swan songs of absolutism while expanding our understanding of the eighteenth century European palace more broadly Original and convincing Thomas's book will be of interest to historians of art and architectural history and eighteenth century studies

Planning Europe's Capital Cities Thomas Hall, 2003-12-16 During the nineteenth century many of Europe's capital cities were subject to major expansion and improvement schemes From Vienna's Ringstrasse to the boulevards of Paris the townscapes which emerged still shape today's cities and are an inalienable part of European cultural heritage In Planning Europe's Capital Cities Thomas Hall examines the planning process in fifteen of those cities and addresses the following questions when and why did planning begin and what problems was it meant to solve who developed the projects and how and who made the decisions what urban ideas are expressed in the projects what were the legal consequences of the plans and how did they actually affect subsequent urban development in the individual cities what similarities or differences can be identified between the various schemes how have such schemes affected the development of urban planning in general His detailed analysis shows us that the capital city projects of the nineteenth century were central to the evolution of modern planning and of far greater impact and importance than the urban theories and experiments of the Utopians
