What Birdo is that? Libby Robin, 2023-05-30 The idea that a bird is good news and needs all our support is probably the only thing amateur birders professional zoologists and birdscapers people who redesign their gardens to support birdlife have in common But together they form a conservation community that cares about the future of birds and their habitats who are working to heal the damage wrought by those who don t notice birds What Birdo is That reveals how bird people in Australia have gone about their craft across the years Its stories come from wild places at sea as well as on the land from dusty archives from restoration projects gardens and urban wastelands They are human stories but the birds themselves interject and interrupt any self important anthropocentrism They educate They counter the imperialism of the ever expanding economies of the new millennium They turn up in unexpected places giving surprise and joy This field guide to Australia s bird people provides a basis for understanding the complex relationship between people and birds in a land of extremes at the forefront of changing climate and habitats

Low-Carbon Birding Javier Caletío, 2022-09-06 Birdwatching in Britain has grown increasingly dependent on burning fossil fuels Regularly driving long distances to birding hotspots and frequent flying to see exotic species are seen as perfectly normal In the face of the climate crisis however a growing number of birders are reassessing the way they enjoy and study birds In this timely book 30 contributors from young birdwatchers to professional ornithologists explain why and how they are shifting to climate friendlier approaches Low carbon birding they argue is a legitimate and valuable way of enjoying birds Furthermore in itself this can bring many joys some of them unexpected From first encounters with hawfinches to focusing in on birdsong from the Kalahari to the Hebrides the stories told here are not about heroic efforts to save the planet They are simply accounts of everyday humanity in unprecedented times ordinary people with doubts and concerns about how to live a decent life and act responsibly in a rapidly warming world The authenticity of their voices is a testament to the moment of awakening to the climate crisis in British ornithology Above all Low Carbon Birding is an urgent call for birders to leave a better legacy in the skies and across the living world

National Geographic Kids Everything Birds of Prey Blake Hoena, 2015 Introduces the most ferocious raptors to rule the skies from ospreys to vultures to hawks and describes what raptors lives are like as well as what sets them apart from other birds
