

A-Level Changing Places: Sense of Place vs Perception of Place

Date:

Thursday, 17 August 2017

Title:

Place Theory

Today's Intention: To explore the difference across a sense of place and our perceptions of a place

I can define a sense of place and a perception of place and describe the difference between the two

I can define and describe the two and explain how a sense of place is formed and how this evokes place memory

I can evaluate the difference between a sense of place and perception of place and consider the ways in which perceptions are shaped

 Durey,Robyn Mayes,Christof Pforr,2014-04-02 Globalisation and rapid social and environmental change in recent decades have brought into sharper focus not only the benefits but also the costs of economic development The once assumed link between economic development and societal well being is being increasingly questioned in the face of growing social and environmental problems and unfulfilled expectations concerning political and commercial decision makers The orthodox development dogma is being tested in particular in resource based economies such as Western Australia where globalisation pressures and the concomitant rise in the demand for natural resources highlight the difficulties of effectively balancing broader societal interests with those of industry and the state This book provides a critical review of the socio political environmental and cultural state of play in Western Australia offering an analysis of how resource based developments are shaping the state and its people      The Southern Appalachian Assessment ,1996      Transforming Urban Education Kenneth Tobin,Ashraf Shady,2014-04-03 Transformations in Urban Education Urban Teachers and Students Working school districts on the Northeast Coast of the United States The schools and institutions involved in empirical studies range from elementary through college and include public and private schools alternative schools for dropouts and museums Difference is regarded as a resource for learning and equity issues are examined in terms of race ethnicity language proficiency designation as special education and gender The contexts for research on teaching and learning involve science mathematics uses of technology literacy and writing comic books A dual focus addresses research on teaching and learning and learning to teach in urban schools Collaborative activities addressed explicitly are teachers and students enacting roles of researchers in their own classrooms cogenerative dialogues as activities to allow teachers and students to learn about one another s cultures and express their perspectives on their experienced realities and negotiate shared recommendations for changes to enacted curricula Coteaching is also examined as a means of learning to teach teaching and learning and undertaking research The scholarship presented in the constituent chapters is diverse reflecting multi logicality within sociocultural frameworks that include cultural sociology cultural historical activity theory prosody sense of place and hermeneutic phenomenology Methodologies employed in the research include narratology interpretive reflexive and authentic inquiry and multi level inquiries of video resources combined with interpretive analyses of social artifacts selected from learning environments This edited volume provides insights into research of places in which social life is enacted as if there were no research being undertaken The research was intended to improve practice Teachers and learners as research participants were primarily concerned with teaching and learning and as a consequence as we learned from research participants were made aware of what we learned the purpose being to improve learning environments Accordingly research designs are contingent on what happens and emergent in that what we learned changed what happened and expanded possibilities to research and learn about transformation through heightening participants awareness about possibilities for change and developing interventions to improve learning Okanogan-Wenatchee National Forests (N.F.), White Pass Expansion, Master Development Plan Proposal, 2007

Biodiversity: Integrating Conservation and Production Tony Norton, Ted Lefroy, Kay Bailey, Greg Unwin, 2008-09-08 Australia's experience in community based environmental repair is unique in the world with no shortage of analysis by bureaucrats academics and environmentalists This collection of 17 case studies gives a view from ground level It includes heroic accounts of families who changed their way of farming and their relationship to the land so significantly they found they could stop hand feeding stock during a drought and see the bush coming back It describes the experience with bush tenders which were oversubscribed as farmers competed with each other for stewardship payments to manage their grazing lands for endangered ground nesting birds as well as beef and wool And it tells of a group of wheat growers who plant patches of grassland for beneficial insects that save them tens of thousands of dollars a year in pesticide bills The case studies arose from a meeting of 250 farmers foresters and fishers from all Australian states who met in Launceston as guests of the community group Tamar Natural Resource Management to reflect on the question Is it possible to be good environmental managers and prosper in our businesses As well as tales of environmental hope there are also messages about the limits of duty of care the need to share the costs of achieving society's expectations and the possibility of learning from unlikely places Biodiversity Integrating Conservation and Production includes the seven Tamar Principles distilled by the delegates from the meeting for those on the front line Forests and Landscapes

Stephen Richard John Sheppard, Howard W. Harshaw, 2001-01-01 Forests are an important component in the visual appeal of landscapes There is an increasing recognition of the importance of this subject among foresters and environmental scientists Increasingly forest resource managers must consider the aesthetic consequences of timber harvesting operations and management plans This book is the first to address this subject area It consists of 15 chapters and is divided into four parts It brings together not only foresters and ecologists but also landscape architects psychologists and philosophers It should therefore attract a wide readership Contributors are leading research workers in their subjects from Canada the USA and UK
