The Royal Air Force at Home Ian Watson, 2010-06-19 Military public relations endeavors ultimately seek to build a sense of common interests and aims and so generally foster good relations with the people they defend and there in ensure a stable society The armed forces when engaging on any public relations exercise have traditionally sought to provide an entertaining spectacle For years this has been typified by parades bands mock battles drill displays and other relevant feats of military prowess which have captured the imagination of the public and inspired potential recruits The 20th Century brought a new dimension to the field of warfare and subsequently added a new strand to the fabric of public ceremony and displays by the armed forces That new dimension was the arrival of powered flight Display flying began within five years of the Wright Brothers making their milestone first flight The first events staged in Britain which centered on demonstrations by flying machines were organized by the town councils of Blackpool and Doncaster and were held within days of each other in October 1909 1920 was the year that the first of the famed and legendary Hendon Air Pageants was staged and this is where military air shows traditionally began The Hendon Displays were organized and staged by the still fledgling Royal Air Force and it was probably due in no small part to the prestige and spectacle of this fresh new dimension of military pageantry together with other like events held at RAF airfields through the next two decades that the very existence of the RAF was saved from the threat of abolition The history of the RAF's commitment one that compares almost uniquely with other air forces toward display flying through the years after World War II has now come of age This account of their record in this often overlooked but then again traditional field of military customs describes and illustrates the major public RAF events since 1920

The Royal Air Force Michael Napier, 2018-02-22 A fully illustrated history of the Royal Air Force while on operations publishing to mark the centenary of its foundation in World War I The world's first independent air force the Royal Air Force celebrates its centenary in 2018 In the 100 years since the end of World War I the service has been involved in almost continuous operations around the globe giving the RAF the longest and most wide ranging history of any air force in the world But over the years this history has also become entangled with myths The Royal Air Force A Centenary of Operations sets the record straight dispelling these as it uncovers in both words and photographs the true exploits and accomplishments of RAF personnel over the last 100 years From its formation as an independent service in the dying days of World War I its desperate fight against the Axis air forces in World War II to its commitments during both the Cold War and modern times this is the complete story of how the RAF has defended Britain for a century odds with the former in maintaining an Empire and the two nations also had competing oil interests in the Middle East The UK's engagement in war after 1945 was thus a strange mixture ranging from homeland security through insular actions within the colonies or protectorates to preserve empire to playing a major role in confronting the USSR The types of active involvement of the RAF Fleet Air Arm and Army Air Corps between 1945 and 1995 include the following with examples Maintaining Local Stability Greece Netherlands East Indies Maintaining Empire Malaya Kenya Defending Empire Borneo Defending Interests Suez Kuwait Homeland Security Northern Ireland air defence Confrontation Berlin Airlift Korea Covert Action Albania strategic reconnaissance Humanitarian and Peacekeeping Jordan Cyprus Development of Deterrent Bombs bombers and missiles days gone by Sepecat Jaguar Peter Foster, 2017 The Jaguar was an iconic aircraft to come from Anglo French collaboration and one of the first to be conceived with a predatory attack and low level strike capability First planned as a trainer it emerged as a fighter bomber taking much from the TSR2 concept when a string of cancelled projects identified a gap in strike attack capability it soon evolved into a supersonic aircraft ready for reconnaissance and tactical nuclear strike roles Retired before its time for France in 2005 and for the RAF in 2007 it is still revered both by those that operated it and those that stared in wonder The end for the Jaguar in the United Kingdom was sudden and rushed with the big cat going out with a meow rather than a roar However it survived on other continents providing a growl and bite in maintaining sovereignty for several decades on This book is a stunning pictorial tribute to those final days KITES, BIRDS & STUFF - Over 150 Years of BRITISH Aviation - Makers & Manufacturers - Volume 3 - P to Z P.D.
