Association Music Teachers National Association, 1926 American Musical Digest, 1969 Tunes for All? Iben Have, Steen Kaargaard Nielsen, Mads Krogh, Morten Michelsen, 2018-12-31 In ten original essays Danish music and media scholars discuss aspects of music on the radio from the 1920s until today Understanding music radio as a distributed phenomenon or as a multiplicity the authors draw upon anthropology cultural studies and media studies along with sociological and historiographical theory The intention is to further develop interdisciplinary approaches that may grasp the complex interrelations between radio as an institution and as practices on the one hand and music musical practices and musical life on the other The essays examples and cases are all related to the Danish Broadcasting Corporation DR and offer a music radio production perspective They span the period from when broadcast music was only live to today where almost all of it is prerecorded and digitized Some of the essays approach broad topics like early music radio s contributions to the regulation of national centres and peripheries the debates on music radio as mechanical music and the general changes in music repertoires and in the status of the institution s live ensembles Music radio s roles as gatekeeper through automatic music programming are discussed in several articles as are the many ways music genres and radio formats interact Some of the authors turn to detailed analyses at programme level in order to explain aspects of modern music radio and to suggest analytical models The essays come with an introduction consisting of an extended overview of international music radio studies since the 1930s and overview of the development of Danish music radio and a theoretical preamble Volume of Proceedings of the Music Teachers' National Association ... Music Teachers National Association, 1926 With the report of the 16th meeting 1894 was issued The secretary s official report of the special meeting Chicago 1893 containing a r um of the reports of meetings from 1876 to 1892 Music in the Air Ralph J. Gleason, 2016-01-01 A collection of the best music writing and cultural criticism from one of the most influential music journalists of his day The co founder of Rolling Stone magazine Ralph J Gleason was among the most respected journalists interviewers and critics writing about popular music in the latter half of the twentieth century As a longtime contributor to the San Francisco Chronicle Down Beat and Ramparts his expertise and insights about music musicians and cultural trends were unparalleled whether his subject was jazz folk pop or rock and roll He was the only music journalist included on President Richard Nixon s infamous Enemies List which Gleason himself considered the highest honor a man s country can bestow upon him This sterling anthology edited by Gleason s son Toby himself a forty year veteran of the music business spans Ralph J Gleason s four decades as popular music s preeminent commentator Drawing from a rich variety of sources including Gleason s books essays interviews and LP record album liner notes it is essential reading for writers historians scholars and music lovers of every stripe The Reflex, 1928 The Infinite Variety of Music Leonard Bernstein, 2007-12 Amadeus With style wit and expertise Leonard Bernstein shares his love and appreciation for music in all its varied forms in The Infinite Variety of Music illuminating the deep pleasure and sometimes subtle beauty it offers He begins with an imaginary conversation with George Washington entitled The Muzak

Muse in which he argues the values of actively listening to music by learning how to read notes as opposed to simply hearing music in a concert hall The book also features the reproduction of five television scripts from Bernstein on the influence of jazz the timeless appeal of Mozart musical romanticism and the complexities of rhythmic innovation Also included are Bernstein's analyses of symphonies by Dvorak Tchaikovsky Beethoven and Brahms a rare reproduction of a 1957 lecture on the nature of composing and a report on the musical scene written for the New York Times after his sabbatical leave from directorship of the New York Philharmonic during the 1964-65 season Music after Hitler, 1945-1955 Toby Thacker, 2017-07-05 The political control of music in the Third Reich has been analysed from several perspectives and with ever increasing sophistication However music in Germany after 1945 has not received anything like the same treatment Rather there is an assumption that two separate musical cultures emerged in East and West alongside the division of Germany into two states with differing economic and political systems There is a widely accepted view of music in West Germany as free and in the East subject to party control Toby Thacker challenges these assumptions asking how and why music was controlled in Germany under Allied Occupation from 1945-1949 and in the early years of semi sovereignty between 1949 and 1955 The re education of Germany after the Hitler years was a unique historical experiment and the place of music within this is explored here for the first time While emphasizing political economic and broader social structures that influenced the production and reception of different musical forms the book is informed by a sense of human agency and explores the role of salient individuals in the reconstruction of music in post war Germany The focus is not restricted to any one kind of music but concentrates on those aspects of music professional and amateur live and recorded which appeared to be the mostly highly charged politically to contemporaries Particular attention is given to denazification and to the introduction of international music Thacker traces the development of a divide between Communist and liberal democratic understandings of the place of music in society The contested celebrations of the Bach Year in 1950 are used to highlight the role of music in the broader cultural confrontation between East and West Thacker examines the ways in which central governments in East and West Germany sought to control and influence music through mechanisms of censorship and positive support The book will therefore be of interest not only Singing, 1926 Outsider John Rockwell, 2009-05-01 Limelight Now available in paperback this compilation by longtime New York Times music and arts critic John Rockwell features the creme de la creme of the renowned journalist's arts criticism and commentary over the past 40 years Taken mostly from the Times but also including pieces from 17 other sources such as the Los Angeles Times The New Republic the San Francisco Examiner High Fidelity Opera and the Village Voice these writings present Rockwell's unique vision of the arts scene over the past 40 years with essays on classical music including the breadth of contemporary works rock dance art film theater general arts topics and reports from abroad Rockwell's analysis includes parallels among the arts insights from one to another as he brilliantly communicates his aesthetic experiences to the reader Encore, 1926 The Nation, 1925

KulturConfusão - On German-Brazilian Interculturalities Anke Finger, Gabi Kathöfer, Christopher Larkosh, 2015-07-31 The analyses of German and Brazilian cultures found in this book offer a much needed rethinking of the intercultural paradigm for the humanities and literary and cultural studies This collection examines cultural interactions between Germany and Brazil from the Early Modern period to the present day especially how authors artists and other intellectuals address the development of society intervene in the construction and transformation of cultural identities and observe the introduction of differing cultural elements in and beyond the limits of the nation The contributors represent various academic disciplines including German Studies Luso Afro Brazilian Studies Cultural Studies Linguistics Art History and the social sciences Their essays cover a wide range of works and media and the issues they address are relevant not only for each of the scholarly disciplines involved but also in discussions of current cultural practices in connection to all forms of media The collection thus serves as a model for further intercultural research since it calls into question the very terms through which we understand the relationships between cultures as well as their products practices and perspectives
