Former running back Reggie Bush is in a rush to conquer golf

BY BRUCE LEVIN

"I was horrible, and I was embarrassed!" • That's what former NFL running back Reggie Bush says, laughing, as he recalls his first effort at golf. It was just six years ago, when he and his wife, Lili, got on a golf course as a fundraiser for his father's football camp. • Bush didn't stay horrible for long. After the fundraiser, he started taking golf lessons, and now plays in a 9-handicap, making regular appearances at PGA Tour pro-am's. • "It's competitiveness. It's wanting to be great, and it's going to do everything to do your football," says Bush, 36. "I'm still an athlete. Not because I'm not playing football doesn't mean the athlete in me stops. I will have that drive and determination to want to be great at just about everything I do [now that I think] golf. I was [lousy at] earlier." • Getting the driver under control has been key. "Speed is one of the hardest things to control, especially for someone who's big and strong, who used to getting hit by power men, and now you're engaging this little stick," Bush says. "Driver was my biggest issue, because I was engaging so fast and so fast. I'd make contact, and the ball was just spinning, going wherever it wanted." •
