Hemminger, 2021-09-22 The study of religion by the humanities and social sciences has become receptive for an evolutionary perspective Some proposals model the evolution of religion in Darwinian terms or construct a synergy between biological and non Darwinian processes The results however have not yet become truly interdisciplinary The biological theory of evolution in form of the Extended Evolutionary Synthesis EES is only sparsely represented in theories published so far by scholars of religion Therefore this book reverses the line of view and asks how their results assort with evolutionary biology How can the subject area religion integrated into behavioral biology How is theory building affected by the asymmetry between the scarce empirical knowledge of prehistoric religion and the body of knowledge about extant and historic religions How does hominin evolution in general relate to the evolution of religion Are there evolutionary pre adaptations Subsequent versions of evolutionary biology from the original Darwinism to EES are used in interdisciplinary constructs Can they be integrated into a comprehensive theory The biological concept most often used is co evolution in form of a gene culture co evolution However the term denotes a process different from biological co evolution Important EES concepts do not appear in present models of religious evolution e g neutral evolution evolutionary drift evolutionary constraints etc How to include them into an interdisciplinary approach Does the cognitive science of religion CSR harmonize with behavioral biology and the brain sciences Religion as part of human culture is supported by a complex multi level behavioral system How can it be modeled scientifically The book addresses graduate students and researchers concerned about the scientific study of religion and biologist interested in interdisciplinary theory building in the field Perspectives on Method and Theory in the Study of Religion Armin Geertz, Russel McCutcheon, 2000-04-20 This volume collects select papers on methodology in the study of religion that were originally presented at the XVIIth Congress of the International Association for the History of Religions held in Mexico City in 1995 Granted the status of adjunct proceedings for the Congress the collection opens with the editors
