Kyrgyzstan beyond "Democracy Island" and "Failing State" Johan Engvall,Marlene Laruelle,2015-12-03 Kyrgyzstan is probably the best known of any central Asian country the one that has elicited the most academic publications reports by NGOs or advocacy groups and op eds in the media The country opened up massively to Western influence through development aid for civil society and for economic reforms faced two revolutions in 2005 and 2010 and experienced bloody interethnic conflict in 2010 Kyrgyzstan is therefore commonly studied as a twin case that of having been for more than two decades both an island of democracy in Central Asia and the only country of the region to have made the transition to a parliamentary regime and the archetypical example of a failing state one marked by endemic corruption criminalization of the state apparatus and collapse of public services This volume goes beyond these two clichés and provides a research based and unideological narrative on the country It identifies political dynamics their powerbrokers and the role of international organizations investigates the profound social transformations of both the rural and the urban worlds and examines the broad feeling by local actors that Kyrgyzstan's fragile state identity should be consolidated This book gives the floor to the new generation of scholars whose long term vernacular language field research made it possible to provide new interpretative prisms for the complex evolution of Kyrgyzstan

The Culture of Cities Lewis Mumford, 2016-03-08 A classic work advocating ecological urban planning from a civic visionary and former architecture critic for the New Yorker Considered among the greatest works of Lewis Mumford a prolific historian sociologist philosopher of technology and longtime architecture critic for the New Yorker The Culture of Cities is a call for communal action to rebuild the urban world on a sounder human foundation First published in 1938 this radical investigation into the human environment is based on firsthand surveys of North American and European locales as well as extensive historical and technological research Mumford takes readers from the compact worker friendly streets of medieval hamlets to the symmetrical neoclassical avenues of Renaissance cities He studies the squalor of nineteenth century factory towns and speculates on the fate of the booming twentieth century Megalopolis whose impossible scale Mumford believes can only lead to its collapse into a Nekropolis a monstrosity of living death A civic visionary Mumford is credited with some of the earliest proposals for ecological urban planning and the appropriate use of technology to create balanced living environments In the final chapters of The Culture of Cities he outlines possible paths toward utopian future cities that could be free of the stressors of the Megalopolis in sync with the rhythms of daily life powered by clean energy integrated with agricultural regions and full of honest and comfortable housing for the working class The principles set forth by these visions once applied to Nazi occupied Europe s razed cities are still relevant today as technological advances and overpopulation change the nature of urban life

Environmental Restoration and Design for Recreation and Ecotourism Robert L. France,2011-11-16 A wetland center in London parks in downtown San Francisco a wildlife sanctuary in Arcata and a wetlands park on the outskirts of Las Vegas what do these urban and suburban locations have in common They are leading examples of a new restoration design approach that is squarely placed at the interface of nature and culture

This multidisciplinary paradigm bridges the gap between an ecological approach preoccupied with returning damaged landscapes to an imagined original state and a landscape design approach concerned with creating a place for people to inhabit. Environmental Restoration and Design for Recreation and Ecotourism is the first book to provide a detailed examination of the entire process of restoring damaged or abandoned landscapes to benefit both nature and people specifically for the purposes of recreation and ecotourism. With a focus on history planning methodology design and construction it explores five case studies of successful regenerative landscape design projects and gives readers an inside look at the evolution of design projects. Two of the cases offer a particularly comprehensive review of award winning projects: the reparation of the degraded Las Vegas Wash into Clark County Wetlands Park and the transformation of the abandoned Barn Elms Reservoirs into the London Wetland Centre. Supported by extensive photographs tables maps sketches and schematics these case studies trace how ideas are first conceived and then adopted transformed or even abandoned along the way. Each case study also includes a questions and answers discussion with designers and managers. Emphasizing the need for interdisciplinary cooperation the book presents lessons learned from some of the most innovative projects in regenerative landscape design.
