Mexico in Focus José Galindo, 2016-05 This book compiles the works of many authors from some of the best academic institutions in the world all related to Mexico's contemporary general conditions The main objective of this compilation is to examine Mexico as a whole giving the reader an insight in its social economic political and environmental problems For this purpose the texts have been chosen in a way that after analysing a few of them one will find them all correlated The problems analysed in this book range from very recent some of them occurring this past year to others that go back decades or even centuries In this sense this contribution gives readers a historical perception of the problems captured Some chapters develop scientific conclusions based on strict scientific research however the reader will find that the language is not overwhelming and the chapters can be thoroughly and easily read Overall it is a wonderful compilation made possible by all contributing authors and their interest to publish their most recent research on it We hope that readers enjoy going through the pages of these chapters as they venture through contemporary Mexico analysing topics from the environmental difficulties of Coahuila's sand dunes to social changes in the Meseta Purpecha passing through other topics such as the conditions of human rights protection in Mexico or the return of the PRI regime among other great discussions The authors' interests are as different as their disciplines but in this case diversity is important for maintaining multidisciplinary interpretations on the current needs of the Mexican society
