Michael Balcon Presents A Lifetime Of Films:

Michael Balcon Presents ... a Lifetime of Films Michael Balcon, 1969 Ealing Revisited Mark Duguid, Lee Freeman, Keith Johnston, Melanie Williams, 2019-07-25 Ealing Revisited provides a major reappraisal of one of British cinema's best loved institutions Ealing Studios During its heyday Ealing produced a string of classic comedies including Kind Hearts and Coronets 1949 The Lavender Hill Mob 1951 and The Ladykillers 1955 but there is much more to Ealing than these films as this volume of new writing on the studio shows Addressing both known and less familiar aspects of Ealing's story its films actors and technicians the contributors uncover what has gone unexplored or unspoken in previous histories of the studio and consider the impact that Ealing has had on British cultural life from the 1930s to the present Listed in the Independent on Sunday's Cinema books of 2012 <http://www.independent.co.uk/arts-entertainment/books/reviews/ios-books-of-the-year-2012-cinema-8373713.html> Hitchcock and the Spy Film James Chapman, 2017-11-30 Film historian James Chapman has mined Hitchcock's own papers to investigate fully for the first time the spy thrillers of the world's most famous filmmaker Hitchcock made his name as director of the spy movie He returned repeatedly to the genre from the British classics of the 1930s including The 39 Steps and The Lady Vanishes through wartime Hollywood films Foreign Correspondent and Saboteur to the Cold War tracts North by Northwest Torn Curtain and his unmade film The Short Night Chapman's close reading of these films demonstrates the development of Hitchcock's own style as well as how the spy genre as a whole responded to changing political and cultural contexts from the threat of Nazism in the 1930s and 40s to the atom spies and double agents of the post war world Destination London Tim Bergfelder, Christian Cargnelli, 2008-08-01 The legacy of emigrés in the British film industry from the silent film era until after the Second World War has been largely neglected in the scholarly literature Destination London is the first book to redress this imbalance Focusing on areas such as exile genre technological transfer professional training and education cross cultural exchange and representation it begins by mapping the reasons for this neglect before examining the contributions made to British cinema by emigré directors actors screenwriters cinematographers set designers and composers It goes on to assess the cultural and economic contexts of transnational industry collaborations in the 1920s artistic cosmopolitanism in the 1930s and anti Nazi propaganda in the 1940s British Cinema Amy Sargeant, 2019-07-25 Although new writing and research on British cinema has burgeoned over the last fifteen years there has been a continued lack of single authored books providing a coherent overview to this fascinating and elusive national cinema Amy Sargeant's personal and entertaining history of British cinema aims to fill this gap With its insightful decade by decade analysis British Cinema is brought alive for a new generation of British cinema students and the general reader alike Sargeant challenges Rachel Low's premise that few of the films made in England during the twenties were any good by covering subjects as diverse as the art of intertitling the narrative complexities of Shooting Stars and Brunel's burlesques Sargeant goes on to examine among other things the differing acting styles of Dietrich and Donat in the seminal

Knight Without Armour to early promotional campaigns in the 1930s whereas subjects ranging from product endorsement by stars to the character of the suburban wife are covered in the 1940s The 1950s includes topics such as the effect of post war government intervention to Free Cinema and Lindsay Anderson's infuriating lapses of rigour together with a much needed overview of Michael Balcon's contribution to British cinema For Sargeant the 1960s provides an overview of the tentative relationship between film and advertising and the rise of young Turks such as Tony Richardson Ken Loach Donald Cammell and Nicolas Roeg

The People's Pictures James Caterer, 2011-08-08 When John Major launched the UK's National Lottery in 1994 he christened it the people's Lottery and handed it to the mythical stewardship of the Everyman But when the proceeds began to be distributed to worthy causes including the British film industry this populist rhetoric came under increasing strain If Lottery funding is used to produce the type of British films which the public want to see such as romantic comedies then many question whether the market deserves such subsidy Short films and low budget experimental cinema which often require state support tend to go unwatched by large swathes of the Lottery ticket buying public This book explores the debates which were sparked by the arrival of the people s pictures and places them in historical context by examining their many precedents Is public patronage a boon or a burden for filmmakers And how do institutional cultures or political buzzwords affect the finished films Case studies include the popular hits Billy Elliot 2000 and Shooting Fish 1997 art house releases such as Love Is The Devil 1998 and Gallivant 1997 short films by Lynne Ramsey and David MacKenzie and artists film and video work by Bill Viola and Tracey Emin
