the New Ruins of Great Britain Owen Hatherley, 2011-07-01 Back in 1997 New Labour came to power amid much talk of regenerating the inner cities left to rot under successive Conservative governments Over the next decade British cities became the laboratories of the new enterprise economy glowing monuments to finance property speculation and the service industry until the crash In A Guide to the New Ruins of Great Britain Owen Hatherley sets out to explore the wreckage the buildings that epitomized an age of greed and aspiration From Greenwich to Glasgow Milton Keynes to Manchester Hatherley maps the derelict Britain of the 2010s from riverside apartment complexes art galleries and amorphous interactive centers to shopping malls call centers and factories turned into expensive lofts In doing so he provides a mordant commentary on the urban environment in which we live work and consume Scathing forensic bleakly humorous A Guide to the New Ruins of Great Britain is a coruscating autopsy of a get rich quick aspirational politics a brilliant architectural state we re in

Unfolding the Cards Ian Damerell, 2015-03-03 These essays attempt to confront the effect of years of postmodernity and its promotion of individuality at the cost of solidarity and communal spirit In the wake of this it suggests possible frameworks for an art study that restores a certain focus on communal spirit It proposes too that art study s fragile position in contemporary society is a consequence of over commercialisation and its resultant surface values Consumerist and corporate ideology encourage the consumer individual s self realisation seemingly divorced from communal interests Within this isolation lies the potential breakdown of ethics Therefore I dream of a kinder society i e one where we are engaged in realising the community as its citizens This is not blind obedience but in a spirit of contributing to a whole society More specifically it means allowing and to a degree maintaining art study as a sphere of possibilities for budding citizen artists It is envisaging art study as a discursive arena and creating an academic space that allows for art s main contribution the dislodging of the so called proper i e entrenched doctrine I believe that art study can contribute to the improving of society in the main because art enacts a different sharing of the sensible
