Models in Urban and Regional Planning Benjamin Reif, 1973 The development of models in urban and regional planning J N R (John) Jeffers, 1980 Urban and Regional Models in Geography and Planning Alan Geoffrey Wilson, 1974 Urban and Regional Planning Models Yupo Chan, 1978 Spreadsheet Models for Urban and Regional Analysis Richard E. Klosterman, Richard K. Brail, Earl G. Bossard, 1993 The book and accompanying disk use the capabilities of electronic spreadsheet programs to provide 19 spreadsheet models that can be used for a wide range of urban and regional analysis and planning applications The models have been developed for Lotus 1 2 3 Version 1 00 for the IBM personal computer and compatible systems and can be adapted for use with other spreadsheet programs Analytical models for urban and regional planning Ian Masser, 1972 Urban and Regional Planning Peter Hall, Mark Tewdwr-Jones, 2019-10-08 This is the sixth edition of the classic text for students of geography and urban and regional planning It gives an historical overview of the changes in cities and regions and in the development of the theory and practice of planning throughout the 20th and 21st centuries The extensively revised edition now incorporates new material on European issues as well as updated country specific sections and the impact of recession Specific references are made to the most important British developments in recent times including new towns neo liberalism the devolution to Scotland Wales and Northern Ireland and to cities and combined authorities the role of infrastructure and high speed rail the impact of austerity neighbourhood planning Brexit and the continual story of the north south divide A chapter on United States planning discusses the continuing trends of urban dispersal and social polarisation the treatment of climate change the rise of edge cities and the decline of rustbelt cities as well as initiatives in new urbanism land use planning and transportation policies Finally the book looks to discuss the main issues that are likely to impact on future forms of planning in the 2020s including digitisation automation sustainability and social polarisation Urban and Regional Planning will be invaluable to undergraduate as well as postgraduate Planning students It will prove useful in a variety of built environment areas such as Architecture Landscape Architecture Urban Design Real Estate where planning is taught Models in Planning C. Lee, 2013-10-22 Models in Planning An Introduction to the Use of Quantitative Models in Planning discusses the fundamental concepts in the techniques employed in the construction urban and regional models The book emphasizes understanding of the models rather than the mathematical aspects of model construction The text first details the role of models in the planning process and then proceeds to discussing the principles of the design and use of models In the third chapter the book presents the elementary mathematical concepts and symbols that are essential in understanding the subsequent discussion of models The succeeding series of chapters covers the types of model which are linear gravity and lowry The text also details the principles involved in optimizing models The book will be of great use to students and practitioners of civil engineers architecture and urban planning Analytical Models for Urban and Regional Planning Ian Masser, 1972

Models in Urban Planning Alan Geoffrey Wilson, 1968
Kenneth J. Schlager, 1964 Operational Urban Models David Foot, 2017-10-12 First published in 1981 Urban modelling techniques are an established tool in assessing the possible repercussions of major changes in land use This book is an introductory guide to the various models that have been developed and to how they can be applied in planning practice particularly with relation to land use activities such as residential industrial and retail development and changes in the transport network The author has provided a coherent and reliable introductory text which will be welcomed by students and teachers in search of a guide to current methods in the field of urban modelling

Modeling Cities and Regions as Complex Systems Roger White, Guy Engelen, Inge Uljee, 2015-09-18 The theory and practice of modeling cities and regions as complex self organizing systems presenting widely used cellular automata based models theoretical discussions and applications Cities and regions grow or occasionally decline and continuously transform themselves as they do so This book describes the theory and practice of modeling the spatial dynamics of urban growth and transformation As cities are complex adaptive self organizing systems the most appropriate modeling framework is one based on the theory of self organizing systems an approach already used in such fields as physics and ecology The book presents a series of models most of them developed using cellular automata CA which are inherently spatial and computationally efficient It also provides discussions of the theoretical methodological and philosophical issues that arise from the models A case study illustrates the use of these models in urban and regional planning Finally the book presents a new dynamic theory of urban spatial structure that emerges from the models and their applications The models are primarily land use models but the more advanced ones also show the dynamics of population and economic activities and are integrated with models in other domains such as economics demography and transportation The result is a rich and realistic representation of the spatial dynamics of a variety of urban phenomena The book is unique in its coverage of both the general issues associated with complex self organizing systems and the specifics of designing and implementing models of such systems

Models In Planning Colin Lee, 1973 Some Mathematical Models for Urban and Regional Planning Folke Snickars, 1978 Urban and Regional Models in Geography and Planning Alan G. Wilson,

Models of Urban Structure David C. Sweet, 1972 Models of Urban and Regional Systems in Developing Countries George F. Chadwick, 1987 This work is concerned with the understanding of the structure and behaviour of urban and regional systems in developing countries Professor Chadwick considers not only how such systems change but also how they might be changed by some form of manipulation Both these purposes necessarily involve the activity of modelling the systems concerned This study has been enriched by the author's own experience in Bahrain Hong Kong Korea and Saudi Arabia

Sensitivity Models for Urban and Regional Planning Alexander von Hesler, 1981 Urban Planning and its Discontents Darshini Mahadevia, Rutool Sharma, 2023-10-16 This book the first of its kind introduces various aspects of urban planning in India and contributes towards debates on changes required in the current practice Urban planning in India means many things to city residents and is used generically to include all interventions in the cities such as public policy design institutional design spatial and territorial plans infrastructure plans public administration community participation and their implementation through programmes schemes and projects While urban planning is expected to meet the global development agendas of equitable and just urbanisation climate change and sustainable development goals SDGs in practice it has largely remained confined to statutory spatial planning represented by Master Plan or Comprehensive Plan This volume delves into this world of urban planning as critical insiders to see how it works in India analysing the city level spatial plans the Master or Development Plans of select cities to assess whether these are capable of addressing the global agendas and coordinate with all other plans prepared for the city It examines whether it would work in reference to the contemporary issues SDGs and global agendas and discusses strategies on how to make it work better It also deals with each of the above stated criticisms of the practice and examines the debates data approaches agendas plans and the future of urban planning in India This book comes in at a time when the urban planners and policy makers have themselves begun to discuss a need to relook at urban planning practices and tools to meet the future requirements of urbanisation in India It will be a useful reference volume for the students scholars and practitioners alike and be of interest to researchers and students of urban planning architecture public administration civil engineering geography economics and sociology It will also be useful for policy makers and professionals working in the areas of town and country planning
