Modern Japanese:

Southern Exposure Michael Molasky, Steve Rabson, 2000-08-01 Southern Exposure is the first anthology of Okinawan literature to appear in English translation and it appears at a propitious time Although Okinawa Prefecture comprises only one percent of Japan's population its writers have been winning a disproportionate number of literary awards in recent years including the prestigious Akutagawa Prize for fiction which was awarded to Matayoshi Eiki in 1996 and to Medoruma Shun in 1997 Both Matayoshi and Medoruma are represented in this anthology which includes a wide range of fiction as well as a sampling of poetry from the 1920s to the present day Modern Okinawa has been forged by a history of conquest and occupation by mainland Japan and the United States Its sense of dual subjugation and the propensity of its writers to confront their own complicity with Japanese militarism imbues Okinawa's literary tradition with insightful perspectives on a wide range of issues But this tradition is as deeply rooted in the region's lush semitropical landscape as in the forces of history As this anthology demonstrates Okinawan writers often suffuse their works with a lyricism and humor that disarms readers while bringing them face to face with the region's richly ambiguous legacy

Japanese literary world in only a cursory fashion this book emphasizes the need to make a clear distinction between the different roles played by Catholicism and Protestantism In particular it argues that most Meiji and Taisho intellectuals were exposed to an exclusively Protestant and mainly Calvinist derivation of Christianity and so it is against this worldview that the connections between the two ought to be assessed Examining the work of authors such as Kitamura Tokuo Akutagawa Ryunosuke and Nagayo Yoshir this book also contextualises the spread of Christianity in Japan and challenges the notion that Christian thought was in conflict with mainstream literary schools As such this book explains how the dualities experienced by many modern writers were in fact the manifestation of manifold developments which placed Christianity at the center rather than at the periphery of their process of self construction The Dilemma of Faith in Modern Japanese Literature will be of great interest to students and scholars of Japanese modern literature as well as those interested in Religious Studies and Japanese Studies more generally
