Modern Plantation Agriculture Rene Loewenson,1992 Outlines socio economic trends in the plantation sector in developing countries Examines plantation agriculture in Zimbabwe focusing on the increasingly capital intensive agricultural production of the 1980s      Modern Plantation Agriculture Rene Loewenson,1992 Outlines socio economic trends in the plantation sector in developing countries Examines plantation agriculture in Zimbabwe focusing on the increasingly capital intensive agricultural production of the 1980s      Globalisation, Development and Plantation Labour in India K. J. Joseph,P.

K. Viswanathan,2016-04-28 This book provides a detailed examination of the impact of globalisation on plantation labour dominated by women labour in India The studies presented here highlight the perpetuation of low wages inferior social status and low human development of workers in this sector and point out the movement of labour away from this sector and the resultant labour shortage It also highlights the perils involved in doing away with the Plantation Labour Act 1951 and provides a plausible way forward for improving the conditions of plantation workers Rich in empirical analysis this volume will prove essential for scholars and researchers of labour economics development studies gender studies and sociology

The New Enclosures: Critical Perspectives on Corporate Land Deals Ben White,Saturnino Borrás Jr.,Ruth Hall,Ian Scoones,Wendy Wolford,2013-09-13 This collection explores the complex dynamics of corporate land deals from a broad agrarian political economy perspective with a special focus on the implications for property and labour regimes labour processes and structures of accumulation This involves looking at ways in which existing patterns of rural social differentiation in terms of class gender ethnicity and generation are being shaped by changes in land use and property relations as well as by the re organization of production and exchange as rural communities and resources are incorporated into global commodity chains It goes further than the descriptive what and who questions in order to understand the how and why of these patterns It is empirically solid and theoretically sophisticated making it a robust and boundary changing work Contributors come from various scholarly disciplines Covering nearly all regions of the world the collection will be of interest to researchers from various disciplines policymakers and activists This book was originally published as a Special Issue of the Journal of Peasant Studies

Gender and Plantation Labour in Africa Piet Konings,2012 This book explores the relationship between plantation labour and gender in Africa particularly Cameroon It demonstrates that the introduction of plantation labour during colonial rule has had significant consequences for gender roles and relations within and beyond the capitalist labour process These effects have been quite ambivalent being marked by both profound changes and remarkable continuities The book focuses on two tea estates established in anglophone Cameroon in the 1950s the Tole Estate and the Ndu Estate the first employing mainly female pluckers the second mainly male pluckers This allows for an examination of the variations in male and female workers modes of resistance to the control and exploitation they meet in the labour process

ASC Leiden abstract      Outcomes of post-2000 Fast Track Land Reform in Zimbabwe Lionel Cliffe,Jocelyn Alexander,Ben

Cousins, Rudo Gaidzanwa, 2014-06-11 The struggle over land has been the central issue in Zimbabwe ever since white settlers began to carve out large farms over a century ago. Their monopolisation of the better watered half of the land was the focus of the African war of liberation war and was partially modified following Independence in 1980. A dramatic further episode in this history was launched at the start of the last decade with the occupation of many farms by groups of African veterans of the liberation struggle and their supporters which was then institutionalised by legislation to take over most of the large commercial farms for sub division. Sustained fieldwork over the intervening years by teams of scholars and experts and by individual researchers is now generating an array of evidence based findings of the outcomes: how land was acquired and disposed of, how it has been used, how far new farmers have carved out new livelihoods and viable new communities, the major political and economic problems they and other stakeholders such as former farm workers, commercial farmers and the overall rural society now face. This book will be an essential starting place for analysts, policy makers, historians and activists seeking to understand what has happened and to spotlight the key issues for the next decade. This book was published as a special issue of the Journal of Peasant Studies.

A Most Promising Weed Steven C. Rubert, 1998 Thousands of African men, women and children worked on European owned tobacco farms in colonial Zimbabwe from 1890 to 1945. Contrary to some commonly held notions, these people were not mere bystanders as European capitalism penetrated into Zimbabwe but helped to shape the work and the living conditions they encountered as they entered wage employment. Steven Rubert's fine study draws on a rich variety of sources to illuminate the lives of these workers. The central focus of the study is the organization of workers, compounds, the social relationships there and the labor of women and children, paid and unpaid. Rubert's findings indicate the beginnings of a moral economy on the tobacco farms prior to 1945.

Global Land Grabs Marc Edelman, Carlos Oya, Saturnino M. Borrás Jr., 2016-03-22 Since the 2008 world food crisis, a surge of land grabbing swept Africa, Asia and Latin America and even some regions of Europe and North America. Investors have uprooted rural communities for massive agricultural biofuels, mining, industrial and urbanisation projects. Water grabbing and green grabbing have further exacerbated social tensions. Early analyses of land grabbing focused on foreign actors, the biofuels boom in Africa and pointed to catastrophic consequences for the rural poor. Subsequently, scholars carried out local case studies in diverse world regions. The contributors to this volume advance the discussion to a new stage, critically scrutinizing alarmist claims of the first wave of research, probing the historical antecedents of today's land grabbing, examining large scale land acquisitions in light of international human rights and investment law and considering anew longstanding questions in agrarian political economy about forms of dispossession and accumulation and grassroots resistance. Readers of this collection will learn about the impacts of land and water grabbing, the relevance of key theorists including Marx, Polanyi and Harvey, the realities of China's involvement in Africa, how contemporary land grabbing differs from earlier plantation agriculture and how social movements and rural people in general are responding to this new threat. This book was published as a special issue of Third World Quarterly      Women Plantation Workers Shobita Jain, Rhoda Reddock, 2020-08-25 This pioneering collection of essays brings together a description and analysis of women workers and the socio economic systems of plantations world wide The plantation remains a formidable force in many areas of the world and new trends towards tree farming call for further examination of its agriculture Women have in the past constituted a considerable percentage of the work force in this milieu and continue to do so Using specific case studies of historical and contemporary plantations an account is given of the history of female labour focusing on the colonial and post colonial eras The essays examine reasons for women s degraded status and emphasize in particular issues relating to migrant workers The gradual move away from traditional family roles is to some extent reflected in variations in the position of the female plantation worker However where inequalities in class and status continue to characterize plantation life capitalist and patriarchal control prevails Both chilling and bracing the sufferings of plantation labourers may seem remote to most of us but they are still very much part of the contemporary world Providing a close insight into the lives of the female protagonists these essays have given an opportunity for their stories to be heard      The Politics of Neoliberal Reforms in Africa Piet Konings, 2011

Neoliberalism has become the dominant development agenda in Africa Faced with a deep economic and political crisis African governments have been compelled by powerful external agencies in particular the Bretton Woods institutions and western states to pursue this agenda as a necessary precondition for the receipt of development aid What is particularly striking in Africa however is that neoliberal experiments there have displayed such remarkable diversity This may be due not only to substantial differences in historical economic and political trajectories on the African continent but also and maybe more importantly in the degree of resistance internal actors have demonstrated to the neoliberal reforms imposed on them This book focuses on Cameroon which has had a complex economic and political history and is currently witnessing resistance to the neoliberal experiment by the authoritarian and neopatrimonial state elite and various civil society groups It is the culmination of over twenty years of fine and refined research by one of the leading scholars of Cameroon today

Colonial Globalization and its Effects on South Asia Ashfaque Hossain, 2022-08-25 This book investigates the concept of colonial globalization to show how knowledge information technology capital and labour have the potential to move freely across the world It studies the experience of globalization from below rather than from the perspective of the British imperial centre Focusing on the impact of colonial globalization on the people of Sylhet East Bengal and Assam the volume seeks to analyse the global as a process in constant negotiation with the local It discusses various issues such as the opening of the hills of Sylhet and Assam for tea plantation the involvement of local entrepreneurs with overseas planters in the global tea industry the phenomenon of regional labour migration into eastern India and Sylheti seamen and their involvement in the merchant marine The author also highlights the contribution of peasants labourers and women in the independence movement and the irreversible changes that they brought about A unique contribution to the study of colonial globalisation this volume will be indispensable for students and researchers of colonial history modern Indian history Northeast India border studies globalization political economy minority studies globalization studies third world studies colonialism and postcolonialism and South Asian studies Labour Questions in the Global South Praveen Jha, Walter Chambati, Lyn Ossome, 2021-02-24 This book provides a focus on some of the main markers and challenges that are at the core of the study of structural transformations in contemporary capitalism and their implications for labour in the Global South It examines the diverse perspectives and regional and social variations that characterise labour relations as a result of the uneven development which is an important facet of the intensification of capitalist accumulation The book provides important insights into the impact of the crises of capitalism on the wellbeing of labour at different historical junctures Some of the issues covered by it include the conditions of work and the changing composition of laboring classes and or working people The chapters also throw light on the multiple trajectories in the development of labour relations and employment in the Global South especially after the ascendancy and domination of neoliberal finance capitalism Some of the major aspects considered by the essays include the decentering of production and development of global value systems crisis of social reproduction and the rising informalisation of work Soil Fertility Decline in the Tropics Alfred E. Hartemink, 2003 Wide coverage of soils and perennial cropping systems in the tropics Synthesis of decades of research Challenges assumptions on the benefits of plantations for soil fertility It is generally assumed that soil fertility decline is widespread in the tropics and that this is largely associated with annual cropping and subsistence farming In contrast perennial plant cover as in plantation agriculture provides better protection for the soil This book reviews these concepts focusing on soil chemical changes under different land use systems in the tropics These include perennial crops annual crops and forest plantations Two case studies on sisal plantations in Tanzania and sugar cane in Papua New Guinea are presented for detailed analysis The author demonstrates that soil fertility decline is also a problem on plantations The Oxfam Poverty Report Kevin Watkins, 1995 Fifty years ago the United Nations Charter proclaimed universal rights to shared prosperity peace and security How far has that vision of world citizenship been realised Despite advances in human welfare and technology there is today a growing polarisation between rich and poor One in four of the world's people live in absolute poverty unable to meet their basic needs armed conflict is affecting millions of people and the global environment is under threat Yet there is a failure of political will to address the silent emergency of poverty The Oxfam Poverty Report draws on Oxfam's experience of working in over 70 countries to examine the causes of poverty and conflict It identifies the structural forces which deny people their basic rights and gives a wide range of examples of the ways in which men and women are bringing about positive change at every level from the household to the international arena Oxfam believes that it is time to renew the UN vision of universal basic rights The Report concludes by proposing policy and institutional reforms which would transform international institutions and trading relations and calls for a new commitment to work together to eradicate poverty and bring sustainable peace and security for all the world's people      Structural Adjustment and Women Informal Sector Traders in Harare, Zimbabwe Rodreck Mupedziswa, Perpetua Gumbo, 1998 Most attempts to study the informal sector have tended to emphasize uniformity of experiences Where an effort has been made to develop a more nuanced understanding the assumption has always been that people move from lower to higher level activities that coincide with increased opportunities for accumulation This report challenges both notions Drawing on the experiences of women informal sector traders in Harare Zimbabwe and using a longitudinal study approach the authors document differentiation within the sector amidst generalized decline in working and living conditions Far from being a site of accumulation the authors show that the informal sector during the era of adjustment is a site of bare survival in which people work ever longer hours for ever diminishing incomes on which many competing claims are made within and outside the household      Crisis and Neoliberal Reforms in Africa Piet Konings, 2011 This book discusses the social and political consequences of the economic and financial crisis that befell African economies since the 1980s using as case study the plantation economy of the Anglophone region of Cameroon The focus is thus on recent efforts to liberalize and privatize an agro industrial enterprise where overseas capital and its domestic partners have converged the consequent modes of production and labour and the alternatives proposed and resistance generated The study details how the unprecedented crisis caused great commotion in the region and presented a serious challenge to existing theories on plantation production and capital accumulation The crisis resulted in the introduction of a number of neoliberal economic reforms including the withdrawal of state intervention and the restructuring liquidation and privatisation of the major agro industrial enterprises These reforms in turn had severe consequences for several civil society groups and their organisations that had a direct stake in the regional plantation economy notably the regional elite chiefs plantation workers and contract farmers On the basis of extensive research in the Anglophone Cameroon region Konings shows that these civil society groups have never resigned themselves to their fate but have been actively involved in a variety of formal and informal modes of resistance      Inclusive Urban Development in the Global South Andrea Rigon, Vanesa Castán Broto, 2021-05-16 Inclusive Urban Development in the Global South emphasizes the importance of the neighbourhood in urban development planning with case studies aimed at transforming current intervention practices towards more inclusive and just means of engagement with individuals and communities The chapters explore how diversity of gender class race and ethnicity citizenship status age ability and sexuality is taken or not taken into account and approached in the planning and implementation of development policy and interventions in poor urban areas The book employs a practical perspective on the deployment of theoretical critiques of intersectionality and diversity in development practice through case studies examining issues such as water and sanitation planning in Dhaka indigenous rights to the city in Bolivia post colonial planning in Hong Kong land reform in Zimbabwe and many more The book focuses on radical alternatives with the potential to foster urban transformations for planning and development communities working around the world      Life and Death

Matters Barbara Rose Johnston, 2016-06-03 The first edition of Life and Death Matters was a breakthrough text centralizing the experiences of those on the front lines of environmental crises and forging new paradigms for understanding how crises emerge and how different groups of actors respond to them This second edition fully updated with both expanded and new chapters once again provides a benchmark for the field and opens important pathways for further research Authors reassess the state of scholarship and grassroots activism in a new century when social and environmental systems are being reconceptualised within post 9 11 security and biosecurity frameworks when global warming and resource scarcity are not fears but realities when global power and politics are being realigned and when ecocide ethnocide and genocide are daily tragedies This bold new edition of Life and Death Matters will be a widely used textbook and essential reading for students scholars and policy makers

Beyond the Enclave Godfrey Kanyenze, 2011 Beyond the Enclave sets out to unravel the contradiction of a country Zimbabwe where a rich diverse resource base co exists with endemic poverty One reason lies in the colonial economy which was predicated on an ideology of white supremacy creating an enclave formal economy employing one fifth of the labour force Yet over three decades after independence the non formal segment has become even more entrenched This book assesses Zimbabwe s economy through three main phases 1980 0 when a strong social policy framework proved difficult to sustain due to erratic growth and 1991 6 when structural adjustment demanded a market driven approach to development The third phase is characterized by crisis management leading to policy inconsistencies and reversals Not surprisingly such incoherence saw the economy descend into hyperinflation and paralysis in 2007 8 leading to the signing of the Global Political Agreement in September 2008 In the absence of formal dollarization economic recovery after the adoption of the multi currency regime has remained fragile leaving an estimated 70 per cent of the population outside the banking system This has further entrenched uneven enclave growth as the economy remains locked in a low income poverty trap There is a need to facilitate transition towards formality to promote decent jobs Furthermore a strategic developmental role for the state in the economy is now widely recognized as vital for development Beyond the Enclave argues for a new approach to development in Zimbabwe based on pro poor and inclusive strategies which will contribute to the well being of all of its citizens and wise stewardship of its resources It offers suggestions on policy formulation implementation monitoring and evaluation in all sectors designed to promote inclusive growth and humane development
