A Modern Girl Rebecca Flanders, 1984 A Modern Girl by Rebecca Flanders released on Apr 24 1984 is available now for purchase Women, Violence and Postmillennial Romance Fiction Emma Roche, 2023-04-21 This book interrogates the significance of the revival and reformulation of the romance genre in the postmillennial period Emma Roche examines how six popular novels published between 2005 and 2015 Twilight Fifty Shades of Grey Gone Girl Sharp Objects and The Girl on the Train reanimate and modify recognisable tropes from the romance genre to reflect a neoliberal and postfeminist cultural climate As such Roche argues these novels function as crucial spaces for interrogating and challenging those contemporary gender ideologies Throughout the book Roche addresses and critiques several key attributes of neoliberal postfeminism including a pervasive emphasis on individualism and personal responsibility an insistent requirement for self monitoring self surveillance and bodywork the celebration of consumerism and its associated pleasures the prescription of mandatory optimism and suppressing one's negative emotions and the endorsement of choice as a primary marker of women's empowerment While much critical attention has been devoted to those attributes and their pernicious effects Roche argues that one crucial repercussion has been largely overlooked in contemporary cultural criticism how these ideologies function together to effectively sanction gender based violence Thus Roche exploits textual analysis to demonstrate the subtle ways in which neoliberal postfeminism can augment women's vulnerability to male violence Images of the Modern Woman in Asia Shoma Munshi, 2013-01-11 In examining the links between gender and the media this volume asks questions involving the relationship between global media flows gender and modernity in the region Seeking Love in Modern Britain Zoe Strimpel, 2020-03-05 Seeking Love in Modern Britain charts the emergence of the modern British single through an account of the dating industry that sprang up to serve men and women It shows how amid a period of unprecedented sexual and social change the single became a key unisex identity and lifestyle From around 1970 a growing cottage style matchmaking industry in Britain was offering the romantically solo a choice between computer dating firms such as Dateline or Computate introduction agencies and the lonely hearts pages of Private Eye Time Out and others Zoe Strimpel reveals how this rapidly expanding landscape of services was catering to a new breed of single people and how by the late 1990s singleness had become the culturally mainstream wholly expected part of the romantic life cycle that it is today Refuting the widespread idea that the Internet invented modern dating this book uses an eclectic and engaging range of first person accounts and snapshots from the time to show that the story of contemporary romance mediated courtship and singleness began in a time long before Tinder Modern Love David Shumway, 2003-08 My ideas of romance came from the movies said Woody Allen and it is to the movies as well as to novels advice columns and self help books that David Shumway turns for his history of modern love Modern Love argues that a crisis in the meaning and experience of marriage emerged when it lost its institutional function of controlling the distribution of property and instead came to be seen as a locus for feelings of desire togetherness and loss Over the course of the twentieth century partly in response to this crisis a new language of love intimacy emerged not so much replacing but rather coexisting with the earlier language of romance Reading a wide range of texts from early twentieth century advice columns and their late twentieth century antecedent the relationship self help book to Hollywood screwball comedies and from the relationship films of Woody Allen and his successors to contemporary realist novels about marriages Shumway argues that the kinds of stories the culture has told itself have changed Part layperson s history of marriage and romance part meditation on intimacy itself Modern Love will be both amusing and interesting to almost anyone who thinks about relationships and who doesn t

Reading Women Heidi Brayman Hackel, Catherine E. Kelly, 2011-08-02 In 1500 as many as 99 out of 100 English women may have been illiterate and girls of all social backgrounds were the objects of purposeful efforts to restrict their access to full literacy Three centuries later more than half of all English and Anglo American women could read and the female reader was emerging as a cultural ideal and a market force While scholars have written extensively about women s reading in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries and about women s writing in the early modern period they have not attended sufficiently to the critical transformation that took place as female readers and their reading assumed significant cultural and economic power Reading Women brings into conversation the latest scholarship by early modernists and early Americanists on the role of gender in the production and consumption of texts during this expansion of female readership Drawing together historians and literary scholars the essays share a concern with local specificity and material culture Removing women from the historically inaccurate frame of exclusively solitary silent reading the authors collectively return their subjects to the activities that so often coincided with reading shopping sewing talking writing performing and collecting With chapters on samplers storytelling testimony and translation the volume expands notions of reading and literacy and it insists upon a rich and varied narrative that crosses disciplinary boundaries and national borders 200

The Myth of Superwoman Resa L. Dudovitz, 2019-10-01 Reviled by critics but loved by the readers the bestseller has until recently provoked little serious critical interest In The Myth of Superwoman originally published in 1990 Resa Dudovitz looks at this international phenomenon particularly at the origins of the bestseller system in the United States and France Her cross cultural study including interviews with publishers literary agents and bestselling authors gives a lively picture of the contrasting ways in which the bestseller is produced marketed and received in two countries It pays special attention to the international bestsellers of the 1980s to writers like Judith Krantz Colleen McCullough and Barbara Taylor Bradford all of whose novels are published in the United States Britain France Germany and Italy The book presents a general analysis of women's bestsellers ranging over a wide variety of novels from popular nineteenth century texts in France and the United States to the novels of today Dudovitz shows how women's bestselling fiction has over the last two hundred years kept pace with the social evolution of contemporary women culminating in the myth of superwoman in women's bestsellers of the 1980s This fascinating account of an important aspect of popular culture will be of great value to students of women's studies and cultural studies especially those interested in the myths which structure women's bestselling fiction

Rethinking Romantic Love Begonya Enguix, Jordi Roca, 2016-11-14 This volume is the result of a thorough exploration of contemporary conceptions of romantic love from different points of view Beginning with an initial text where the meanings of romantic love are discussed theoretically and historically the contributions gathered here present current discussions about love in the present day and in different geographical contexts that range from Hungary to Italy or Spain The first part of the book is devoted to the analysis of mobilities for the sake of love as a result of globalization These mobilities are analysed in relation to love ideals to gender equality and to online searches for the ideal partners The second part of the book deals with the exploration of different imaginaries of love in particular geographical contexts The topics dealt with here include love as sickness love and violence love ideals for men engaged in gender equality and love ideals for those who engage in cross dressing practices In the third part writing about and for love is addressed Love writings to the beloved dead teenage girls blogs and bestsellers such as Fifty Shades of Grey are discussed in particular detail This book addresses current conceptions of romantic love in different social groups through different practices and in different countries and shows that despite the variability of discourses experiences and practices related to love a number of ideas of what love should be like related to the Western ideals of romantic love persist in all these contexts The contributions to this volume are derived from extensive fieldwork and ethnographic research and will be of undoubted interest for the academic milieu However given the topic it deals with the book will also appeal to the general public who will find in these pages many love stories derived from the detailed study of the society which we inhabit and the ideals of love that we breathe      Adaptation Studies Christa Albrecht-Crane, Dennis Ray Cutchins, 2010-07-31 The volume takes as its starting point the assumption that adapters cannot simply transpose or transfer one particular text from one medium to another They must interpret re work and re imagine the precursor text in order to choose the various meanings and sensations they find most compelling or most cost effective then they create scenes characters plot elements etc that match their interpretation These very relationships are the subject matter this collection seeks to explore Poststructural theory is an ideal place to begin a rigorous and theoretically sound investigation of adaptation As adaptation studies adopts a poststructuralist lens and defines this richer notion of intertextuality some of its key assumptions will change Adaptation scholars will recognize that all film adaptations are intertextual by definition multivocal by necessity and adaptive by their nature      Women and Women's Issues in Post World War II Japan Edward R.
