Modern Hebrew Literature Simon Halkin, 1970 The Fifties Edmund Wilson, 2019-11-12 Edmund Wilson's The Fifties edited by Leon Edel is the highly acclaimed fourth volume in the series that began with The Twenties. It is complimented with photographs and journal excerpts of some of the most interesting characters of the decade including Edna St Vincent Millay, W. H. Auden, and Vladimir Nabokov. A giant's workroom we can wander through marveling. Richard Locke, The Wall Street Journal on The Fifties. From Notebooks and Diaries of the Period Arguing with God Anson Laytner, 1998 As an old proverb puts it, Two Jews, three opinions. In the long, rich, tumultuous history of the Jewish people, this characteristic contentiousness has often been extended even unto Heaven. Arguing with God is a highly original and utterly absorbing study that skates along the edge of this theological thin ice at times verging dangerously close to blasphemy yet also a source of some of the most poignant and deeply soulful expressions of human anguish and yearning. The name Israel literally denotes one who wrestles with God. And from Jacob's battle with the angel to Elie Wiesel's haunting questions about the Holocaust that hang in the air like still smoke over our own age, Rabbi Laytner admirably details Judaism's rich and pervasive tradition of calling God to task over human suffering and experienced injustice. It is a tradition that originated in the biblical period itself. Abraham, Moses, Elijah, and others all petitioned for divine intervention in their lives or appealed forcefully to God to alter His proposed decree. Other biblical arguments focused on personal or communal suffering and anger. Jeremiah, Job, and certain Psalms and Lamentations. Rabbi Laytner delves beneath the surface of these blasphemies and reveals how they implicitly helped to refute the claims of opponent religions and advance Jewish doctrines and teachings Israel's Struggle for Peace Israel Office of Information (New York, N.Y.), 1960 Recovered Roots Yael Zerubavel, 1995 Because new nations need new pasts, they create new ways of commemorating and recasting select historic events. In Recovered Roots, Yael Zerubavel illuminates this dynamic process by examining the construction of Israeli national tradition. In the years leading to the birth of Israel, Zerubavel shows Zionist settlers in Palestine consciously sought to rewrite Jewish history by reshaping Jewish memory. Zerubavel focuses on the nationalist reinterpretation of the defense of Masada against the Romans in 73 C.E. and the Bar Kokhba revolt of 133-135 and on the transformation of the 1920 defense of a new Jewish settlement in Tel Hai into a national myth. Zerubavel demonstrates how in each case, Israeli memory transforms events that ended in death and defeat into heroic myths and symbols of national revival. Drawing on a broad range of official and popular sources and original interviews, Zerubavel shows that the construction of a new national tradition is not necessarily the product of government policy but a creative collaboration between politicians, writers, and educators. Her discussion of the politics of commemoration demonstrates how rival groups can turn the past into an arena of conflict as they posit competing interpretations of history and opposing moral claims on the use of the past. Zerubavel analyzes the emergence of counter-memories within the reality of Israel's frequent wars, the ensuing debates about the future of the occupied territories, and the embattled relations with Palestinians. A fascinating examination of the interplay between history and memory, this book will appeal to historians.

Ideology and Jewish Identity in Israeli and American Literature Emily Miller Budick,2012-02-01 By creating a dialogue between Israeli and American Jewish authors scholars and intellectuals this book examines how these two literatures which traditionally do not address one another directly nevertheless share some commonalities and affinities The disinclination of Israeli and American Jewish fictional narratives to gravitate toward one another tells us much about the processes of Jewish self definition as expressed in literary texts over the last fifty years Through essays by prominent Israeli Americanists American Hebraists Israeli critics of Hebrew writing and American specialists in the field of Jewish writing the book shows how modern Jewish culture rewrites the Jewish tradition across quite different ideological imperatives such as Zionist metanarrative the urge of Jewish immigrants to find Israel in America and socialism The contributors also explore how that narrative turn away from religious tradition to secular identity has both enriched and impoverished Jewish modernity Israeli Bourekas Films Rami Kimchi,2023-01-03 A genre of comic melodramas produced in the 1960s and 70s Bourekas films are among the most popular films ever made in Israel In Israeli Bourekas Films author and filmmaker Rami Kimchi sets out a history of Bourekas films and discusses their origin Kimchi considers the representation of Sephardi or Mizrahi Jews in the films noting that the material culture reflected in the the films presented a culture that was closer to the European Yiddish culture than to the Middle Eastern world of the Mizrahim Kimchi reflects on the enormous popularity and commercial success of Bourekas films uncovers how they were made who made them and why and discusses the impact of the films on Israeli cinema today Israeli Bourekas Films is a film insider s view of the characters stories and cultures that made Bourekas films such an important part of Israeli life Simon Dubnow's "New Judaism" Robert Seltzer,2013-12-05 In this volume Robert Seltzer examines Simon Dubnow 1860 1941 as the most eminent East European Jewish historian of his day and a spokesperson for his people setting out to define their identity in the future based on his understanding of their past Rejecting Zionism and Jewish socialism espoused by contemporaries he argued in Letter on Old and New Judaism that the Jews of the diaspora constituted a distinctive nationality deserving cultural autonomy in the liberal multi national state he hoped would emerge in Russia Seltzer traces the young Dubnow s personal encounter with European intellectual currents that led him from the traditional shtetl world to a non religious conception of Jewishness that resonated beyond Tsarist Russia
