A New Modern Philosophy Eugene Marshall, Susanne Sreedhar, 2019-03-07 The seventeenth and eighteenth centuries are arguably the most important period in philosophy's history given that they set a new and broad foundation for subsequent philosophical thought Over the last decade however discontent among instructors has grown with coursebooks unwavering focus on the era's seven most well known philosophers all of them white and male and on their exclusively metaphysical and epistemological concerns While few dispute the centrality of these figures and the questions they raised the modern era also included essential contributions from women like Margaret Cavendish Elisabeth of Bohemia Mary Wollstonecraft and milie Du Ch telet as well as important non white thinkers such as Anton Wilhelm Amo Julien Raimond and Ottobah Cugoana At the same time there has been increasing recognition that moral and political philosophy philosophy of the natural world and philosophy of race also vibrant areas of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries need to be better integrated with the standard coverage of metaphysics and epistemology

Aslaksen,2012-09-13 Systems engineering is a mandatory approach in some industries and is gaining wider acceptance for complex projects in general However under the imperative of delivering these projects on time and within budget the focus has been mainly on the management aspects with less attention to improving the core engineering activity design This book addresses the application of the system concept to design in several ways by developing a deeper understanding of the system concept by defining design and its characteristics within the process of engineering and by applying the system concept to the early stage of design where it has the greatest impact A central theme of the book is that the purpose of engineering is to be useful in meeting the needs of society and that therefore the ultimate measure of the benefit of applying the system concept should be the extent to which it advances the achievement of that purpose Consequently any consistent top down development of the functionality required of a solution to the problem of meeting a defined need must proceed from such a measure and it is agreed that a generalised form of Return on Investment is an appropriate measure A theoretical framework for the development of functionality based on this measure and utilising the system concept is presented together with some examples and practical guidelines Announcement of the Correspondence Study Department University of Arkansas, Fayetteville.
