Process and Thought in Composition Frank J. D'Angelo, 1985      PRE/TEXT Victor J. Vitanza, 2010-11-23 After the first issue of PRE TEXT appeared in 1981 a colleague told Victor Vitanza the creator editor and publisher of the journal how disgusted she was by it how unreadable it was how devoted to self aggrandizement and how much she enjoyed two articles in it Devoted to exploring and expanding the field of rhetoric and composition by publishing articles considered inappropriate by other journals in the field PRE TEXT has from its inception made people angry Yet it has survived and thrived This collection of essays pays tribute to the first ten years of the journal and each reprinted article is paired with a short comment by the author Also included is Victor Vitanza's retrospective history of the journal and perspectives for the future

Conceding Composition Ryan Skinnell, 2016-09-01 First year composition became the most common course in American higher education not because it could fix underprepared student writers but because it has historically served significant institutional interests That is it can be conceded in multiple ways to help institutions solve political promotional and financial problems Conceding Composition is a wide ranging historical examination of composition's evolving institutional value in American higher education over the course of nearly a century Based on extensive archival research conducted at six American universities and using the specific cases of institutional mission regional accreditation and federal funding this study demonstrates that administrators and faculty have introduced reformed maintained threatened or eliminated composition as part of negotiations related to nondisciplinary institutional exigencies Viewing composition from this perspective author Ryan Skinnell raises new questions about why composition exists in the university how it exists and how teachers and scholars might productively reconceive first year composition in light of its institutional functions The book considers the rhetorical political organizational institutional and promotional options conceding composition opened up for institutions of higher education and considers what the first year course and the discipline might look like with composition's transience reimagined not as a barrier but as a consummate institutional value      Encyclopedia of Rhetoric and

Composition Theresa Enos, 2013-10-08 First Published in 1996 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informal company      Writer's Block Mike Rose, Michael Anthony Rose, 2009-06-30 Published for Conference on College Composition and Communication T p verso      Perceptions of Discourse: The Revolution in Assumptions Dorothy Naor, 2014-12-12

This book was ready to go except for the final editing nearly 14 years ago when suddenly other events entered my life that took all my energy and time Apparently no one else in the interim has touched on the subject Because I was loathe to let 15 or so years of research go to waste and because I think that the history might be interesting and perhaps also useful to others and also because I suddenly realized that I am now in my 80s and would not be around forever I have finally taken time off to publish As for my sources which extend from about the 16th century till the late 1980s I have decided against updating them Those included in these pages serve the purpose of this study which is about a revolution in assumptions about discourse that began in the USA in the 1920s and became the institution in the 1980s in schools universities and in our perceptions of discourse in general The tale in these pages also covers the more important consequences of the revolution

Essays on Classical Rhetoric and Modern Discourse Robert J. Connors, Lisa S. Ede, Andrea A. Lunsford, 1984

Eighteen essays by leading scholars in English speech communication education and philosophy explore the vitality of the classical rhetorical tradition and its influence on both contemporary discourse studies and the teaching of writing Some of the essays investigate the rhetorical and historical issues Others show the bearing of classical rhetoric on contemporary problems in composition thus blending theory and practice Common to the varied approaches and viewpoints expressed in this volume is one central theme the 20th century revival of rhetoric entails a recovery of the classical tradition with its marriage of a rich and fully articulated theory with an equally efficacious practice A preface demonstrates the contribution of Edward P J Corbett to the 20th century revival and a last chapter includes a bibliography of his works Visions and Revisions James Dale Williams, 2002 Williams Soka U California has compiled nine essays that examine rhetoric and composition from the 1960s to the present its emergence as a field the influence of linguistics and psychology in shaping an empirical agenda the waning of that influence as the field aligned itself more closely with the goals and objectives of traditional English departments the shift toward postmodern perspectives on language place and self and a move toward post postmodern concerns This historical study begins with reminiscences by Richard Lloyd Jones W Ross Winterrowd Frank J D Angelo and John Warnock The second section examines those changes in detail For example Williams makes the connection between rhetoric and democracy especially the influence of liberal democracy on rhetoric in society He argues that because our liberal democracy is so focused on entertainment rhetoric and composition must examine its role in relation to it

Where Writing Begins: A Postmodern Reconstruction (Rhetorical Philosophy and Theory) Michael Carter, 2003

Rhetoric and Composition Richard Layton Graves, 1984 The Present State of Scholarship in Historical and Contemporary Rhetoric Winifred Bryan Horner, 1990 In the years since its publication in 1983 The Present State of Scholarship in Historical and Contemporary Rhetoric has become a classic in its field proving to be an invaluable resource for students of rhetoric and composition as well as for scholars in English speech and philosophy This revised and updated edition defines the field of rhetoric as no other volume has Publishers website A Bibliography of Bertrand Russell Kenneth Blackwell, Harry Ruja, Sheila Turcon, 2003-09-02 From 1895 the year he published his first signed article to four days before his death in 1970 when he wrote his last Bertrand Russell was a powerful force in the world of mathematics philosophy human rights and the struggle for peace During those years he published 70 books almost as many pamphlets and over 2 000 articles he also contributed pieces to some 200 books The availability of the Bertrand Russell Archives at McMaster University since 1968 has made it possible for the first time to compile a full descriptive bibliography of his writings The Collected Papers are based on it Fully annotated the Bibliography is textually oriented and will guide the scholar collector and general reader to the authoritative editions of Russell s works It includes references to the locations of all known speeches and interviews and reproductions of the dust jackets of Russell s books Blackwell Ruja and Turcon have cooperated for nearly 20 years on the new Bibliography Lord Russell saw the extensive additions for it near the end of his life and declared I am impressed

Theorizing Composition Mary Kennedy,1998-06-25 The last 25 years have witnessed extraordinary growth in the academic specialization variously described as composition studies or rhetoric and composition What was noticeable about the field in its infancy was a preoccupation with practice a lack of emphasis on theory and an exclusive reliance on the writing process As its disciplinary status has grown the field has become far more theoretical Composition studies has expanded its focus reconceptualized the writing process and embraced a wide range of critical perspectives The result of this change is that terms such as poststructuralism social construction gender and genre which were largely unknown in 1965 now dominate discussion This reference book is a guide to the multiplicity of theories that have emerged to form the disciplinary foundation of composition studies The volume consists of 66 entries each of which is written by an expert contributor and focuses on a particular theory or group of theories While the entries show how various individuals have contributed to theoretical movements very few concentrate on the work of a single theorist Each entry first provides a critical summary of a particular theory or group of theories including key elements basic concepts and claims and information about seminal or particularly influential works It then reviews the theory s critical reception in composition studies and discusses its significance in the field The bibliography at the end of each entry lists primary texts and major scholarship related to the theory and provides additional suggestions for further reading The volume closes with a selected bibliography of important works

Learning from the Histories of Rhetoric Theresa Enos,1993 This collection of eleven essays honors Winifred Bryan Horner for her sustained effort to establish that the special nature of rhetoric and composition leads the discipline to theorize practice and to apply theory as its central acts Theresa Enos urges those in the field to learn from the histories of rhetoric in order to draw rhetoric and composition together and to understand theory in practice and the practice of theory as conceptualized by Aristotle Rhetoric the oldest of the humanities has practice as its very basis but English faculty who teach history of rhetoric courses often think that studying rhetorical history for its own sake is enough In addition the typical history course taught in English departments is nearly identical to the traditional ones that have been taught in speech and communication departments for three quarters of a century Enos believes that using the infrastructure of courses taught in speech does not meet the needs of teachers of written communication Learning from the Histories of Rhetoric is based on the problems Enos has perceived when history has not been connected to teaching learning using Her goal is both to honor Winifred Horner who has spent her career in trying to make usable connections between rhetoric and composition and to feature well known historians of rhetoric who can translate what they have learned about the history of rhetoric into the writing classroom As future teachers of writing take courses in history as part of core curricula Enos believes this volume can be a concise complement to the thousands of pages of history and theory they will be reading that it can be a resource guide that will generate and enrich discussion further suggestions for teaching and heighten awareness of the uses of history for writing teachers Enos has organized the essays into two parts Studying the Histories of Rhetoric and Teaching the Histories of Rhetoric Richard Lloyd Jones begins part 1 by interweaving personal and professional history as a pedagogue who consciously and explicitly uses the history of rhetoric Thomas P Miller makes a strong argument for broadening our knowledge of rhetorical traditions and deepening our perceptions of what they can mean to teaching Donald C Stewart suggests how we might reach into our history to find a philosophical model for present day college rhetoric and composition programs And Edward P J Corbett charts the history closest to teachers and administrators in writing programs In part 2 Susan C Jarratt concentrates on Sappho to demonstrate that women s ways of thinking and writing can differ from men s Marjorie Curry Woods shows that writing pedagogy from medieval times can be useful to current classroom strategies Both Jean Dietz Moss and Kathleen E Welch focus on dialectic Moss showing how closely dialectic and rhetoric worked together in the Renaissance and Welch continuing the argument for including dialectic in college writing courses Richard Leo Enos and S Michael Halloran delineate strong relationships between classical rhetoric and two present day approaches to writing peer collaboration and declamation

Class in the Composition Classroom Genesee M. Carter, William H. Thelin, 2017-12-01 Class in the Composition Classroom considers what college writing instructors should know about their working class students their backgrounds experiences identities learning styles and skills in order to support them in the classroom across campus and beyond In this volume contributors explore the nuanced and complex meaning of working class and the particular values these college writers bring to the classroom The real college experiences of veterans rural Midwesterners and trade unionists show that what it means to be working class is not obvious or easily definable Resisting outdated characterizations of these students as underprepared and dispensing with a one size fits all pedagogical approach contributors address how region and education impact students explore working class pedagogy and the ways in which it can reify social class in teaching settings and give voice to students lived experiences As community colleges and universities seek more effective ways to serve working class students and as educators parents and politicians continue to emphasize the value of higher education for students of all financial and social backgrounds conversations must take place among writing instructors and administrators about how best to serve and support working class college writers Class in the Composition Classroom will help writing instructors inside and outside the classroom prepare all their students for personal academic and professional communication Contributors Aaron Barlow Cori Brewster Patrick Corbett Harry Denny Cassandra Dulin Miriam
