COVID-19 J. Michael Ryan, 2021-03-29 The SARS CoV 2 virus commonly referred to as COVID 19 is perhaps the greatest threat to life and lifestyles around the world in more than a century Although there is little global agreement on many issues related to the virus there is widespread agreement that the actual number of cases both of those infected and of those who have died as a result of infection is certainly much higher than official numbers suggest The impact of the virus however has spread well beyond the realm of the medical also heavily impacting social cultural economic political and quotidian ways of living for nearly every human being on the planet The two edited volumes in this set contribute to a broader understanding of the impact COVID 19 is having and will have on our understandings efforts and decisions of the future of global society

Extending Self-Esteem Theory and Research Timothy J. Owens, Sheldon Stryker, Norman Goodman, 2006-11-02 Self esteem is an academic and popular phenomenon vigorously researched and debated sometimes imbued with magical qualities other times vilified as the bane of the West s preoccupation with self Though thousands of articles have been devoted to the topic and bookshops work to feed the public s appetite for advice on revealing enhancing and maintaining self esteem conflicting claims and findings have placed the field in disarray In a very real sense self esteem is a victim of its own popularity This book seeks to add clarity to a concept earlier examined by such notable self theorists as Morris Rosenberg but eminently worthy of re examination and extension We do this by asking some leading thinkers on self esteem theory measurement and application to assess what we know about self esteem and link it to important aspects of society and the human experience Selves, Societies, and Emotions Thomas S. Henricks, 2016-01-08 Building on contributions from sociology psychology anthropology philosophy literature and neuroscience Henricks develops a more general account of how people discover and reproduce the meanings of their involvements with others Among its many themes are treatments of selves as projections of personhood of the ways in which self expression has changed historically and is now experienced in our electronically mediated era of emotions as framing judgments and of ritual play communitas and work as four distinctive pathways of experience Sexualities and Identities of Minority Women Sana

Loue, 2009-08-11 The concept for this book came about following the publication of the volume Health Issues Confronting Minority Men Who Have Sex with Men published by Springer in 2008 Consistent with its title that work focused on specific health issues identified by communities researchers and AIDS service providers that were and continue to be of concern During the preparation of that volume I received numerous telephone calls and e mails from women in various parts of the country asking why a book was not also being developed to address their often neglected concerns Accordingly the topics addressed in Identities and Sexualities of Minority Women were developed based on input from minority women who participated in focus groups conducted in diverse regions of the United States These focus groups were held specifically to provide an opportunity for sexual minority women in minority communities to identify those issues that from their perspective are most salient and relevant to their lives It is not surprising in view of the variation in process by which the topics were identified as well as the differences in perspective associated with differences in sex and gender that this resulting compilation of topics departs substantially from the focus of the companion text addressing health issues of minority men who have sex with men Handbook of Social Psychology Lisa Slattery Walker, Gretchen Peterson, 2025-06-09 This thought provoking Handbook presents an overview of social psychology as a sub discipline of sociology and psychology Chapters analyse how social interactions and environments influence human behaviours and emotions providing critical insights into identity theory group processes social structures and the sociology of emotions Styling Masculinity Kristen Barber, 2016-08-24 The twenty first century has seen the emergence of a new style of man the metrosexual Overwhelmingly straight white and wealthy these impeccably coiffed urban professionals spend big money on everything from facials to pedicures all part of a multi billion dollar male grooming industry Yet as this innovative study reveals even as the industry encourages men to invest more in their appearance it still relies on women to do much of the work Styling Masculinity investigates how men's beauty salons have persuaded their clientele to regard them as masculine spaces To answer this question sociologist Kristen Barber goes inside Adonis and The Executive two upscale men's salons in Southern California Conducting detailed observations and extensive interviews with both customers and employees she shows how female salon workers not only perform the physical labor of snipping tweezing waxing and exfoliating but also perform the emotional labor of pampering their clients and pumping up their masculine egos Letting salon employees tell their own stories Barber not only documents occasions when these workers are objectified and demeaned but also explores how their jobs allow for creativity and confer a degree of professional dignity In the process she traces the vast network of economic and social relations that undergird the burgeoning male beauty industry
