The Professional Knowledge Economy P. Tordoir, 2012-12-06 Knowledge is the great fifth production factor in our economy besides capital labour land and entrepreneurship Perhaps it is the most precious of the five factors because it takes so much effort and money to keep it well nourished Perhaps it is the most strategic of the five factors because we depend on it to develop business the economy and the world at large in a balanced and sustainable direction Knowledge is certainly one of the least understood factors and one of the hardest to grasp This book concerns the largest pool of knowledge which is professional knowledge This form of knowledge albeit being very close to business practice is nonetheless least understood of all Economists have tried to grasp the knowledge factor measuring and assessing it in terms of the pools of R it is intrinsically tied to people the professionals Professional knowledge is the articulation of scientific and documented knowledge and the individual experience and dexterity of individuals It is for this reason that it is so hard to grasp while for this very same reason it is so close to the life of business to the shopfloor of our advanced economies

Death of a Hooker

Henry Kane, 2012-03-15 Beverly Crystal had a million dollar idea and a circle of friends who would never force her to hunt around for enemies The happy crew included Danny the Dance who waltzed his way through life like a man sliding down a banister made of razor blades Mickey Bokino who let money flow through his fingers like the acid he kept ready for people who couldn't or wouldn't pay him back Vinnie Veneto who owned everything and everybody and had his fingers in more pies than a drunken pasty chef on the morning after And Peter Chambers a private eye with a buck to make and more than a couple of murders to solve provided the law couldn't pin the couple already committed on one Peter Chambers It was neck and neck all the way with Death closing in in the backstretch and a loaded gun in an unknown hand waiting at the finish line

, Parting Ways Denise Carson, 2011-04-10 Carson explores in captivating detail the new alternatives to traditional institutionalized dying mourning and memorialization She deftly paints a vivid portrait of her own experiences and successfully ties in conceptual research on newer death rituals This book is truly unique and timely Tony Bell Professor Emeritus at California State University Fullerton Department of Sociology Parting Ways provides a fresh and contemporary perspective on American death rituals Carson expertly weaves her personal narrative around existing research and in the process she delivers an important analysis on ritual and death that is poignant and widely accessible Justin Holcomb analysis of the decline of social movements against the World Bank and the rise of a new form of transnational rule. Reflecting on the transnational mobilizations of the 1990s, the book examines activists' struggles to sustain their momentum. It shows how the opening up of world economic institutions contributed to complex rule in global governance, creating access for some while weakening their critique and fragmenting the overall movement. The book bridges international relations and social movement studies to observe international organizations and social movements in their interaction, demonstrating how social movements are divided and ruled in the absence of a ruler.
