Community College Faculty Scholarship John M. Braxton, 2015-09-21 While teaching occupies the primary role of faculty members in community colleges the question remains To what extent are community college faculty members engaged in research and scholarship This issue focuses on the types of research and scholarship performed by community college faculty the forces that foster or impede the engagement of community college faculty members in research and scholarship specific examples of community college faculty scholarship that demonstrate the value of this work to the institution and to larger society and policies and practices at the institutional local and state level that support engagement in research and scholarship This is the 171st volume of this Jossey Bass quarterly report series Essential to the professional libraries of presidents vice presidents deans and other leaders in today's open door institutions New Directions for Community Colleges provides expert guidance in meeting the challenges of their distinctive and expanding educational mission A Profile of the Community College Professorate, 1975-2000 Charles L. Outcalt, 2002 First Published in 2003 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Faculty Members' Scholarly Learning Across Institutional Types Vicki L. Baker, Aimee LaPointe Terosky, Edna Martinez, 2017-08-29 Explore an important yet understudied concept faculty scholarly learning Taking a broad view this volume explains how scholarly learning is defined and conceptualized by scholars The authors synthesize the recent literature and organize the findings according to Boyer's four forms of scholarship discovery teaching engagement and integration They then offer a counternarrative to faculty scholarly learning and the ways in which it is enacted and supported Recommendations for developing supporting and evaluating faculty scholarly learning are also presented This volume answers What does scholarly learning look like at different types of institutions What contexts and or supports hinder or help faculty members scholarly learning at the different institutional types What challenges are noted in the extant literature on faculty work around further study or better understanding of faculty members scholarly learning across institutional types This is the second issue of the 43rd volume of the Jossey Bass series ASHE Higher Education Report Each monograph is the definitive analysis of a tough higher education issue based on thorough research of pertinent literature and institutional experiences Topics are identified by a national survey Noted practitioners and scholars are then commissioned to write the reports with experts providing critical reviews of each manuscript before publication The Transformation of the Student Career Michael Nugent, 2004-09 This study examines the transformation of the structural characteristics and ideological assumptions of university study in these three countries between the mid 1950s and the early 1990s Community College Faculty, Overlooked and Undervalued Barbara K. Townsend, Susan B. Twombly, 2007-05-11 Public community colleges in the United States enroll approximately 6 million students about 45 percent of all undergraduates These students are taught by nearly four hundred thousand full and part time faculty members about whom little is known The community college professoriate is truly overlooked in the research on postsecondary faculty

When community college faculty are studied they are often examined through lenses more appropriate for four year faculty. This volume provides a broad overview of community college faculty who they are what they do and what factors affect their career and work. The authors also analyze community college teaching as a profession in an effort to take a fresh look at community college faculty and their work. The goal is to make all readers come to view community college faculty members as colleagues making a distinct contribution to their students and to faculty work. Such an understanding is critical in the current policy environment that values postsecondary education for everyone and sees the community college as a major venue for providing that education. This is the 6th issue of the 32nd volume of the Jossey Bass series ASHE Higher Education. Each monograph in the series is the definitive analysis of a tough higher education problem based on thorough research of pertinent literature and institutional experiences. Topics are identified by a national survey. Noted practitioners and scholars are then commissioned to write the reports with experts providing critical reviews of each manuscript before publication.

Philanthropists in Higher Education Gregory Cascione, 2004-06-01 The main purpose of this book is to explore and understand the motivation behind major donations to higher education and what the role of religion is in these motivations. Features interviews with major donors.

Disrupting the Culture of Silence Kristine De Welde, Andi Stepnick, 2023-07-03 CHOICE 2015 Outstanding Academic Title What do women academics classify as challenging inequitable or hostile work environments and experiences? How do these vary by women's race ethnicity rank sexual orientation or other social locations? How do academic cultures and organizational structures work independently and in tandem to foster or challenge such work climates? What actions can institutions and individuals independently and collectively take toward equity in the academy? Despite tremendous progress toward gender equality and equity in institutions of higher education deep patterns of discrimination against women in the academy persist. From the chilly climate to the old boys club women academics must navigate structures and cultures that continue to marginalize penalize and undermine their success. This book is a tool kit for advancing greater gender equality and equity in higher education. It presents the latest research on issues of concern to them and to anyone interested in a more equitable academy. It documents the challenging sometimes hostile experiences of women academics through feminist analysis of qualitative and quantitative data including narratives from women of different races and ethnicities across disciplines ranks and university types. The contributors' research draws upon the experiences of women academics including those with underexamined identities such as lesbian feminist married or unmarried and contingent faculty. And it offers new perspectives on persistent issues such as family policies pay and promotion inequalities and disproportionate service burdens. The editors provide case studies of women who have encountered antagonistic workplaces and offer action steps best practices and more than 100 online resources for individuals navigating similar situations. Beyond women in academe this book is for their allies and for administrators interested in changing the climates cultures and policies that allow gender inequality to exist on their campuses and to researchers scholars investigating these phenomena. It aims to disrupt complacency amongst those who claim that things are better or good enough and to provide readers with strategies and resources to counter barriers created by culture climate or institutional structures The Call For Diversity David J. Siegel, 2018-10-24 This book explores the organizational responses of professional schools and colleges to pressures demands requirements expectations and incentives related to diversity The macro organizational perspective supplies much needed balance and complexity to traditional depictions of post secondary institutions as largely self motivated in their diversity efforts Teacher Education for Critical Consumption of Mass Media and Popular Culture Stephanie A. Flores-Koulis, 2020-10-28 The study develops a baseline of knowledge to encourage the inclusion of media literacy education in teacher education Acting Otherwise Peiyong Chen, 2004-04-01 Acting Otherwise concerns the strategies of action that have been used by feminist scholars to attain the institutionalization of women's gender studies in universities

Developing Faculty Learning Communities at Two-Year Colleges Susan Sipple, Robin Lightner, 2023-07-03 This book introduces community college faculty and faculty developers to the use of faculty learning communities FLCs as a means for faculty themselves to investigate and surmount student learning problems they encounter in their classrooms and as an effective and low cost strategy for faculty developers working with few resources to stimulate innovative teaching that leads to student persistence and improved learning outcomes Two year college instructors face the unique challenge of teaching a mix of learners from the developmental to high achievers that requires using a variety of instructional strategies and techniques Even the most experienced teachers can find this diversity demanding Faculty developers at many two year colleges still rely solely on the one day workshop model that while useful rarely results in sustained student centered changes in pedagogy or the curriculum and may not be practicable for the growing cohort of part time faculty members By linking work in the classroom with scholarship and reflection FLCs provide participants with a sense of renewed engagement and stimulate collegial exploration of ways to achieve educational excellence FLCs are usually faculty instigated and cross disciplinary and comprise groups of six to fifteen faculty that work collaboratively through regular meetings over an extended period of time to promote research and an exchange of experiences foster community and develop the scholarship of teaching FLCs alleviate burnout and isolation promote the development testing and peer review of new classroom strategies or technologies and lead to the reenergizing and professionalization of teachers This book introduces the reader to FLCs and to the Scholarship of Teaching and Learning offering examples of application in two year colleges Individual chapters describe among others an FLC set up to support course redesign an Adjunct Connectivity FLC to integrate part time faculty within a department and collaborate on the curriculum a cross disciplinary FLC to promote student self regulated learning and improve academic performance and persistence a critical thinking FLC that sought to define critical thinking in separate disciplines examine interdisciplinary cross over of critical thinking and measure critical thinking more accurately an FLC that researched the transfer of learning and developed strategies to promote students application of their learning across courses and beyond the classroom Each chapter describes the formation of its FLC the processes it engaged in what worked and did not and the outcomes achieved Just as when college faculty fail to remain current in their fields the failure to engage in continuing development of teaching skills will equally lead teaching and learning to suffer When two year college administrators restrain scholarship and reflection as inappropriate for the real work of the institution they are in fact hindering the professionalization of their teaching force that is essential to institutional mission and student success When FLCs are supported by leaders and administrators and faculty learn that collaboration and peer review are valued and even expected as part of being a teaching professional they become intrinsically motivated and committed to collaboratively solving problems setting the institution on a path to becoming a learning organization that is proactive and adept at navigating change

The Rise and Fall of Fu Ren University, Beijing John S. Chen,2003-12-16 This new book tells the story of the rise and fall of Fu Ren University 1925 1952 and provides an analysis of a key Catholic higher education institution in China

The Market for Academics Christine Musselin,2009-12-04 The management of faculty careers is a critical issue in university autonomy and in many countries recent reforms have increasingly addressed this area Musselin examines this crucial issue through the use of exhaustive empirical research including over 200 interviews on academic job hiring practices and faculty career patterns

International Assistance and State-University Relations Jo Bastiaens,2011-01-13 This book explores the goals efforts and outcomes of international assistance to higher education over the past three decades and investigates how these have impacted changing State university relations Focusing on the case study of Indonesia Bastiaens demonstrates how international aid facilitated and at times actively encouraged changing patterns of state university relations from state control towards greater institutional autonomy Through the use of various case studies from throughout the country and critical analysis of the relationships between international donors and domestic reformers Bastiaens shows how the educational system of Indonesia was able to diversify resources generate income and become increasingly autonomous from government

Scientific Communication in African Universities Damtew Teferra,2004-06-01 This is one of the few current books on African higher education and focuses on scientific research and communication on the continent Included are chapters on scientific journals secondary avenues of scientific communication and funding issues There is also a focus on the challenges and opportunities of scientific communication in African universities The author employs an innovative methodology for data collection

WTO/GATS and the Global Politics of Higher Education Antoni Verger,2010-04-15 The General Agreement on Trade in Services GATS has furthered international pressure towards the liberalization of education all over the world Antoni Verger explores the constitution of global liberalization entailed by the GATS as well as the opposition to this process

University Autonomy in Russian Federation Since Perestroika Olga Bain,2004-06-01 This study focuses on the national higher education policies and institutional strategies that foster or hinder individual Russian universities in applying newfound principles of autonomy This new autonomy has become more dramatic with the decentralization of power transition to the market economy and severe state austerity since Perestroika This book suggests a model of a university that utilizes its autonomous discretion to institute innovations that build on its potential so as to overcome adverse situations When For-Profit Meets Nonprofit Jared Bleak, 2017-09-25 This study addresses the increasing tumult over the commercialization of higher education a battle over profit and principle money and mission While many issues in higher education encompass the mission and values of the university the operation of for profit subsidiaries by nonprofit universities provides the potential for an especially contentious clash Some faculty have been especially vocal in this debate claiming that the culture of the academy is being irreparably altered as traditional values are being replaced by a corporate style of management or by some hybrid By answering the questions of why for profit subsidiaries of nonprofit universities were created how they are governed and managed and what the nature of the relationship with their nonprofit parent is this book contributes to a better understanding of the larger controversy over whether universities have become too business like too market oriented and whether they have sold their souls and values in the process In essence the book provides a window into whether it is possible to do business like a business a trend afoot in the academy and still retain allegiance to core values Teaching and Learning in Diverse Classrooms Carmelita Rosie Castañeda, 2004-08-02 This study describes how faculty who participated in the Teaching and Learning in Diverse Classroom Faculty and TA Partnership Project 1994 2000 at the University of Massachusetts Amherst reflected on their experiences and pedagogical practices as instructors in diverse classrooms Democratizing Higher Education Policy M.T. Sehoole, 2013-10-14 This book was written with the purpose of analyzing the challenges faced by the post apartheid government in South Africa with regard to reform of higher education It covers the apartheid context of higher education resistance to the system and its ultimate demise democratic processes in post apartheid reform agenda and how this agenda was emptied of its radical content as a result of global and local pressures Highlighted are key constraints in the reform process including the compromise pact agreed upon between the apartheid government and the ruling African National Congress the rapidly globalizing environment underpinned by neoliberal principles within which South Africa's transition took place shifts in macro economic policies of government towards neo liberal policy the inheritance of the bureaucracy and the inexperience of new government officials These are presented in a narrative style that combines the author's experience the voices of key players involved and important data from a range of documentary sources This is the first single authored book in post apartheid South Africa that has systematically looked at higher education reform
