Secret History explores a hidden and intriguing dimension of New Zealand history one which sits uneasily with cherished national notions of an exceptionally fair and open society State Authority, Indigenous Autonomy Richard S. Hill,2004

Examining the relations between the Maori and the Fuling New Zealand government this text provides an overview of the Maori quest for autonomy in the first half of the 20th century and the government s responses to those requests Nga Kahui Pou Mason Durie,2003-11-01 by 2051 the ethnic Maori population will almost double in size to close to a million or twenty two percent of the total New Zealand population Even more dramatically by 2051 thirty three percent of all children in the country will be Maori This substantial change in our society will have major implications for Maori and wider society Professor Durie discusses traditions and customs and addresses contemporary needs in order to build development strategies for the launch of the Maori population into the new millennium Millennialism and Violence Michael Barkun,2012-12-06

As the world approaches the year 2000 many societies are experiencing an unprecedented growth in millenarian movements that anticipate an imminent and total transformation of the world Many of these movements have been associated with violence either as a means for producing change or as a response to confrontations with state authority This book draws together research on this topic from political science psychology sociology and history in an attempt to understand the relationship between millenarian movements and episodes of violence Iwi Angela Ballara,1998 Encircled Lands Judith Binney,2021-05-07 For Europeans during the nineteenth century the Urewera was a remote wilderness for those who lived there it was a sheltering heartland This history documents the first hundred years of the Rohe P tae the encircled lands of the Urewera following European contact After large areas of land were lost the Urewera became for a brief period an autonomous district governed by its own leaders But in 1921 22 the Urewera District Native Reserve was abolished in law Its very existence became largely forgotten except in local memory Recovering this history from a wealth of contemporary documents many written by Urewera leaders Encircled Lands contextualises T hoe s quest for a constitutional agreement that restores their authority in their lands Crime and Empire 1840 - 1940 Barry Godfrey,Graeme Dunstall,2013-06-17

This book is a major contribution to the comparative histories of crime and criminal justice focusing on the legal regimes of the British empire during the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Its overarching theme is the transformation and convergence of criminal justice systems during a period that saw a broad shift from legal pluralism to the hegemony of state law in the European world and beyond Like Them That Dream Bronwyn Elsmore,2011-09 The seminal work on the interaction of New Zealand s indigenous population with the Old Testament message brought by missionaries in the 19th century Nga Tini Whetu Mason Durie,2011-12-01 Nga Tini Whetu Navigating Maori Futures brings together twenty five papers Mason Durie has presented at national and international conferences between 2004 and 2010 It discusses Maori moving towards a future involving new technologies alliances economies and levels of achievement and being equipped to respond to the changes in a way that enables Maori to prosper and live in a changing world as Maori This book builds on and extends Mason Durie's thinking in Nga Kahui Pou Launching Maori Futures published previously and develops his thoughts on Maori positioning to best respond to unfolding events and trends. The papers discuss issues such as indigenous resilience and transformation, Maori potential and achievement, the Treaty of Waitangi and the national and global situation, health care and ethics, and future scenarios for Maori social and economic development and sustainability.

Encyclopedia of Religion and Nature Bron Taylor, Jeffrey Kaplan, 2005-01-01. No Marketing Blurb. A History of the Churches in Australasia Ian Breward, 2001-12-13. This pioneering study of Australian, New Zealand, and Pacific Christianity opens up new perspectives on Christianization and modernization in this richly complex region. The reception of Christianity into Pacific cultures has produced strongly Christian societies. Based on research in widely scattered archives, this book not only deals with regional interactions but pays careful attention to developments in microstates and to the variety of indigenous religious movements which were earlier regarded as deviations from Christian orthodoxy but are now seen as significant adaptations of Christian teaching. In Australia and New Zealand too European Christian beginnings have been given local emphases producing Churches with distinctive identities. Lay leadership is emphasized not only in the Churches but as part of the Christian presence in the realms of politics, business, and culture. The broad liturgical, theological, constitutional, and pastoral developments of the 19th and 20th centuries are mapped as a context for the striking changes which have taken place since the 1960s. The dynamics of religious change and conflict, the ambiguities of religious authority, and the destructive effects of Christian colonialism on indigenous communities, especially Australian aborigines, are all frankly dealt with. The decline of the institutional impact of the Churches in Australia and New Zealand is explored, as is the growth of partnership between government and Churches in education, social welfare, and overseas aid and development. Interchange in personnel and ideas is strikingly illustrated in the missionary activities of the regional Churches and their cultural impact. The author's involvement in Church and community leadership, ecumenism, and theological education makes this volume in The Oxford History of the Christian Church a valuable addition to the series describing both continuities with world Christianity and little-known local developments.

Missions and Empire Norman Etherington, 2005-07-14. The explosive expansion of Christianity in Africa and Asia during the last two centuries constitutes one of the most remarkable cultural transformations in the history of mankind. Because it coincided with the spread of European economic and political hegemony, it tends to be taken for granted that Christian missions went hand in hand with imperialism and colonial conquest. In this book, historians survey the relationship between Christian missions and the British Empire from the seventeenth century to the 1960s and treat the subject thematically rather than regionally or chronologically. Many of these themes are treated at length for the first time, relating the work of missions to language medicine anthropology and decolonization Other important chapters focus on the difficult relationship between missionaries and white settlers women and mission and the neglected role of the indigenous evangelists who did far more than European or North American missionaries to spread the Christian religion belying the image of Christianity as the white man s religion

European Police Forces and Law Enforcement in the First World War Jonas Campion,Laurent López,Guillaume Payen,2019-11-08 This book offers a global history of civilian military and gendarmerie style policing around the First World War Whilst many aspects of the Great War have been revisited in light of the centenary and in spite of the recent growth of modern policing history the role and fate of police forces in the conflict has been largely forgotten Yet the war affected all European and extra European police forces Despite their diversity all were confronted with transnational factors and forms of disorder and suffered generally from mass conscription During the conflict societies and states were faced with a crisis situation of unprecedented magnitude with mass mechanised killing on the battle field and starvation occupation destruction and in some cases even revolution on the home front Based on a wide geographical and chronological scope from the late nineteenth century to the interwar years this collection of essays explores the policing of European belligerent countries alongside their empires and neutral countries The book s approach crosses traditional boundaries between neutral and belligerent nations centres and peripheries and frontline and rear areas It focuses on the involvement and wartime transformations of these law enforcement forces thus highlighting underlying changes in police organisation identity and practices across this period

Between Indigenous and Settler Governance Lisa Ford,Tim Rowse,2013 This book addresses the history current development and future of indigenous self governance in five settler colonial nations Australia Canada New Zealand South Africa and the United States
