Man Made Whole Michael Neal, 2013-04-17 In the beginning how far are we willing to imagine where in the beginning really start or what direction would our knowing or understanding lead us Questions Ive asked myself in my growing where did God come from Or when did darkness and nothingness begin Spiritually we would know nothing if it were not for the prophets of God Messengers from God feeding us with information otherwise we would know nothing concerning the spiritual side of us or even the notion that anything exist outside of the world we can see feel taste smell or hear We can only begin to understand or realize the mysteries of God We are infants in our true spirituality What we know about what follows our mortality is unimaginable

College Made Whole Chris W. Gallagher, 2019-09-24 How can universities shape creative adaptive integrated learners ready to confront the world This book s clear eyed optimism is a challenge to everyone in higher education American higher education is being torn apart Institutions curricula courses and faculty roles are being unbundled broken into constituent parts in the name of efficiency and cost savings As a result the college learning experience is fragmented and incoherent leaving graduates less and less equipped to confront the dire social problems that cause those divisions in the first place In College Made Whole Chris W Gallagher lays bare the dangers of the dis integration of the college experience and shows how we can put higher education back together again The successful colleges and universities of the future Gallagher argues will be integrated coherently and cohesively designed to help students achieve a lifelong learning experience that is more than the sum of its parts Pushing back against pernicious dichotomies that frame much discussion of US higher education Gallagher critiques many of the hottest educational trends including the overhyping of technological solutions rampant adjunctification the promotion of nondegree credentials as a suitable replacement for college degrees and the increasingly narrow focus on the vocational aims of a college education Investigating the purposes of higher education historically and today he suggests audacious proposals to enhance learning including reorganizing institutions reordering institutional priorities redesigning curricula and courses and rethinking edtech and learning technologies Lucidly written and packed with practical recommendations and real student stories College Made Whole will challenge higher education professionals and policy makers as well as anyone with a stake in the future of US higher education which is to say all of us who inhabit this fragile planet Heart Made Whole Christa Black Gifford,2016-06-07 In Heart Made Whole Christa Black Gifford shares her own stories of loss betrayal and personal tragedy chronicling clear steps to redemption to help those in pain invite the true Healer into the tangled mess of their broken hearts Gifford reminds readers that pain is not their enemy however unhealed pain can become their greatest foe if it is not taken to Jesus Growing up as a preacher's kid Gifford had been submerged in Christian culture for decades when she uncovered the truth that there were broken parts of her heart that weren't on friendly terms with the God who lived inside Through disappointments and traumas she had learned to guard her heart from God keeping her angry entrapped and disconnected As struggles and hardships continued she finally learned to run towards her relationship with God when things got hard instead of running away from Him like she had in the past The more that she did this building her heart's capacity for intimacy and deep relationship the more her heart began to heal from the inside out She teaches the reader to access the solution that's already living inside of them the God who forever made their heart a home When trials and tragedy hit our lives in a fallen world our hearts can get smashed to bits and we end up putting God on trial and blaming Him for the mess But Christa helps readers understand that they don't have to live controlled by their circumstances or angry with God Instead she provides powerful insight and practical steps to turn the painful fire that comes to destroy us into an unexpected friend that can produce our greatest healing The condition of the heart determines the condition of life and the heart can be bound up and healed producing freedom and abundant life With personal workbook sections for each chapter Christa helps readers experience steps to turn their pain into the healing and wholeness available to every believer

Refusing to Be Made Whole Anna LaQuawn Hinton, 2025-03-17 In Refusing to Be Made Whole Disability in Black Women's Writing author Anna LaQuawn Hinton examines how contemporary Black women writers present becoming disabled as a traumatic and violent experience of Black womanhood Nevertheless Black women embrace disabled Black womanhood by turning to Africanist spiritual understandings of wholeness which view debilitating injury and illness as not only physical but also spiritual not just an individual problem but a symptom of discord in the community Black women use these belief systems to reimagine healing in ways that make space for a variety of bodymindspirits Hinton maintains that this is not only a major theme in contemporary Black women's writing but that it also shapes the formal elements characteristic of the Black women's literary tradition Refusing to Be Made Whole analyzes texts published after the civil rights movements of the 1950s and 1960s focusing particularly on the late 1970s onward when Black women's writing flourished Through the lens of writings by authors such as Toni Cade Bambara Gayl Jones Gloria Naylor Ntozake Shange Audre Lorde Alice Walker Toni Morrison Octavia Butler Sapphire and Sarah E Wright Hinton addresses prominent critical discourses within Black feminist literary studies Hinton approaches the intersections of Africanist spirituality race gender class and disability conversations about representation community motherhood and sexuality through a Black feminist disability studies framework Refusing to Be Made Whole embraces the complex and multifaceted nature of Black women's writing arguing that through this collision of race gender and spirituality Black women writers speak healing and wellness into their readers lives and their own

The Broken Vessel Made Whole Prophet Rodney Abrams, 2010-06-29 The process of finding ones self or self worth becomes tedious when there is no one there to direct or to give instruction of purpose and destiny or mainly the identity of the person with the crisis Prophet Rodney will testify that when he experienced the disarray of life there was much unexplained emotional pain Feelings of repeated rejection molested at age eight by a very close family member He became overwhelmed with life and the uncertainty that it brings Avenues of promiscuity opened and were vastly available Many times we in the Body of Christ compromise the word of God through conversations with satanic voices of rebellion assigned to us from Satan Satan has assigned voices to cause us to fall from the will of God in disobedience of the Word known to us Satan desires to lead you to see opposite of what God wants you to see and that strips us from position of such is what happened to him Satan Toward a Composition Made Whole Jody L. Shipka, 2011-04-30 To many academics composition still represents typewritten texts on 8 5 x 11 pages that follow rote argumentative guidelines In Toward a Composition Made Whole Jody Shipka views composition as an act of communication that can be expressed through any number of media and as a path to meaning making Her study offers an in depth examination of multimodality via the processes values structures and semiotic practices people employ every day to compose and communicate their thoughts Shipka counters current associations that equate multimodality only with computer digitized or screen mediated texts which are often self limiting She stretches the boundaries of composition to include a hybridization of aural visual and written forms Shipka analyzes the work of current scholars in multimodality and combines this with recent writing theory to create her own teaching framework Among her methods Shipka employs process oriented reflection and a statement of goals and choices to prepare students to compose using various media in ways that spur their rhetorical and material awareness They are encouraged to produce unusual text forms while also learning to understand the composition process as a whole Shipka presents several case studies of students working in multimodal composition and explains the strategies tools and spaces they employ She then offers methods to critically assess multimodal writing projects Toward a Composition Made Whole challenges theorists and compositionists to further investigate communication practices and broaden the scope of writing to include all composing methods While Shipka views writing as crucial to discourse she challenges us to always consider the various purposes that writing serves
