Decentering Discussions on Religion and State Sargon George Donabed, Autumn Quezada-Grant, 2015-04-09 This volume explores dynamic conversations through history between individuals and communities over questions about religion and state Divided into two sections our authors begin with considerations on the separation of religion and state as well as Roger Williams concept of religious freedom Authors in the first half consider nuanced debates centered on emerging narratives with particular emphasis on Native

America Early Americans and experiences in American immigration after Independence The first half of the volume examines voices in American History as they publicly engage with notions of secular ideology Discussions then shift as the volume broadens to world perspectives on religion state relations Authors consider critical questions of nation religious identity and transnational narratives The intent of this volume is to privilege new narratives about religion state relations Decentering discussions away from national narratives allows for emerging voices at the individual and community levels This volume offers readers new openings through which to understand critical but overlooked interactions between individuals and groups of people with the state over questions about religion The Social Sciences Chicago Public Library,1914
