

*Because I could not stop for Death – He kindly stopped for me;
The carriage held but just our two – And beautifully we slowly drove.
He knew no loneliness, that I had not answered. After labor and pain, he said to me, “Do not grieve,” We passed the school where children played, Their lessons scarcely done; We passed the setting sun, The pasture – tints of gold; That sunset of mortality, at the mound. The roof was scarcely visible, The corner but a mound. Since then, for centuries, but each thick cluster than the day I first perceived the rounder heads than toward eternity.*
